Alvin Meisinger was shelling and delivering corn to the P. A. Hill Grain company on Monday of this week.

Bert Lloyd has been feeling quite poorly for some time past but is reported as getting along very nicely at this time.

The Nickles Lumber yard received and unloaded a car load of lumber on last Saturday, his supplying the large sales which this institution has been making of late.

Mrs. W. A. Royal who has been making her home at Plattsmouth for some time past has been visiting in Murray with a number of her friends for the past two weeks.

Frank, Earl and Curley, with the big trucks were delivering corn from the farm of Alvin Meisinger to the P. A. Hill elevator on Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning, some 4,000 bushels.

Mrs. W. M. Reeves was pleased to have her brother Charles Rasmussen of New Raymer, Colorado, visit her for a number of days this week. They had not seen each other for some atives and friends for a few days. Wilber Hewitt, the painter and decorator has been doing some interior decorating, varnishing and papering at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seybolt.

A. W. Propst of Nebraska City was looking after some business matters in Murray on Monday afternoon, driving over to the hustling city in his auto.

The Nickles Lumber yard received and unloaded a car load of lumber on last Saturday, his supplying the large sales which this institution has been making of late.

Mrs. W. A. Royal who has been making her home at Plattsmouth for some time past has been visiting in Murray with a number of her friends for the past two weeks.

Mrs. W. M. Reeves was pleased to have her brother Charles Rasmussen of New Raymer, Colorado, visit her for a number of days this week. They had not seen each other for some time and were much pleased to get to visit with each other.

Mr. and Mrs. Gussie Brubacher and their little daughter were over to Plattsmouth where they were joined by the parents of Mr. Brubacher, they all going to Omaha where they visited for the day at the home of an uncle of Gussie, Alex Bisanz and family.

Margaret Anne Campbell, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell arrived at their home on last Tuesday, March 31st where she was most welcome. The young lady and her mother are getting along nicely, and Fred is expected to pull through with careful treatment.

Alfred Gansemer was appointed as assessor for Rock Bluffs precinct to do the work which falls to this office, the assessor who was elected not being able on account of other work. The appointment of Mr. Gansemer was good one. He had experience in this work and is capable, painstaking and will make a good official.

Thomas Nelson was a visitor in Nehawka on last Sunday where he went to attend the Easter services, which were held at the Methodist church of that place and which were conducted jointly by Rev. George I. Morey, pastor of the church and of the Methodist church of Weeping Water and Rev. W. A. Taylor, pastor of the Baptist church of Union and Otto Engbertsen, pastor of the United Brethren church at Nehawka.

All Enjoyed Fine Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Brendel entertained at their beautiful home in Murray on Easter and had their guests Dr. and Mrs. W. Brendel of Avoca, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seybolt and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brendel of Murray. A most pleasant gathering was had and all enjoyed the day and dinner.

Goes to Hospital.

Wm. Bates of Weeping Water and his son, Robert Bates were in Murray on last Monday afternoon to see their family doctor, about the matter of Robert going to the hospital at Omaha, for treatment, as the leg which Robert had broken when a tree which he was felling struck him. He is being taken to the hospital where all facilities are at hand for the very best care and treatment.

Interesting Easter Services.

At the Christian church of Murray was held a number of very interesting services. The Bible school opened with an attendance of 77 which was very pleasing and with the other services of which there were three the attendance was very pleasing. The mark set for the Pentecost Sunday is one hundred at the Bible school. It is up to you to fulfill this mark set by the Bible school. Do not wait to attend until the last day, but go now, and keep on going. Remember that beginning with the 19th of April the time of the evening service will be changed from 7:30 to 8 o'clock.

Have Excellent Meeting Sunday.

At the Presbyterian church on last Sunday there was a goodly crowd out for the services and to enjoy the cantata, "The First Easter," which was rendered by the large chorus. Mrs. J. V. Pittman and Tommy Troop sang "I Shall Meet Him Face to Face," which was pronounced as being one of the finest duets which has been given in Murray for many years. All enjoyed this. The number which was to captivate the large assemblage was the solo rendered by Tommy Troop when he sang "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross." The applause was long and most enthusiastic, for all were pleased with the rendition.

Cannot Do Both Jobs.

I have been elected as the assessor for Rock Bluffs precinct and at the time I was elected I was very much pleased to receive the support of all who voted for me, and especially those who were instrumental in putting me on the ticket. Since then I have become interested in the grain business and this has made it inconvenient to do the work of assessing, and in fact almost impossible. So I have had to give up the assessor work in order to look after the business at the elevator. Again I thank all who were so kind to give me their support at the time they did.

Home from Hospital.

Mrs. John Redden who has been poorly and who has a very serious infection in one of her ears was taken to the St. Catherine's hospital at Omaha early last week, where she was receiving treatment since. The treatment was very efficient and the people at the hospital allowed Mrs. Redden to return home on last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Font T. Wilson and the husband, John Redden, were over to Omaha and brought her home. She is doing very nicely.

Called to Iowa by Death.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nickles and Mrs. Henry G. Long received the sad news of the death of a cousin of Mrs. Nickles and niece of Mrs. Long had died at Shenandoah, Iowa. They departed on last Sunday for the home of the deceased where they were attending the funeral of the cousin on last Monday.

Had Excellent Meeting.

The Four-H club which met in Murray on last Saturday also were workers as well as theorists and talkers, for nineteen of the members of the club constructed nineteen individual feeders and by the way they were all fine pieces of workmanship.

Norris is a Critic of Raskob Proposal

Calls It Only Question of Issue Between White House and Democratic Chairman

Washington — Diverse opinions were expressed by members of the national committee and others in response to Chairman Raskob's request for their prohibition recommendations for 1932. Some voiced indignation over Raskob's proposal that the committee submit definite recommendations on prohibition to the 1932 conventions, while others approved his stand. The remainder expressed varying views.

Senator Norris, a leader of the recent progressive conference, said Raskob was attempting to nominate a democrat who agreed with President Hoover on economic problems, but disagreed with him on prohibition. "If they can get the people to fighting over prohibition then the organized millionaires will make big contributions to both parties and they will go to play golf or fish while the people fight the sham battle," Norris said. "They want the people to forget that they are hungry and cold while they discuss the proposition of repeal of the eighteenth amendment."

Norman E. Mack in Sympathy.

Norman E. Mack of Buffalo, democratic national committeeman for New York, said here that after reading the Raskob letter he hoped the democratic platform would contain a plank asking repeal of the eighteenth amendment. "To my mind," he added, "the bottom is out of prohibition."

The opinion that prohibition is "one of the only issues that we must settle in 1932" was expressed by Nellie Taylor Ross, vice chairman of the committee in charge of women's activities. The former governor of Wyoming said she had not answered Raskob's letter and did not comment specifically on his "home rule" plan.

Senator Harris, Georgia, said: "I am not in sympathy with Mr. Raskob's views." Other southerners have taken the position that economic questions should not be subordinated by an arbitrary controversy over the details and the quicker this view is adopted the greater the party's chances in 1932.—State Journal.

LIBEL SUIT IS DISMISSED

Madisonville, Tenn.—A $100,000 libel suit brought by Col. Luke Lea, Nashville newspaper publisher, and politician, against the Chattanooga Times and Judge W. B. Swaney of Chattanooga, because of an interview with Judge Swaney published in the Times, was dismissed in circuit court. The dismissal came about as Judge Pat Quinn sustained the defendants' plea in abatement.

Kept Commanding Lead.

Outstripping Mayor Thompson from the start, the democratic challenger maintained a commanding lead from the hour the polls closed, although his margin was trimmed to a ratio of 6 to 4 as the Thompson ballistics turned in their burden of ballots.

CLAMORING FOR REPUBLIC

Madrid—The monarchy was attacked by republicans and socialists and defended by monarchists in several thousand political rallies throughout Spain. The meetings were the last big political gatherings before next Sunday, when the first municipal elections in eight years will be held in the country. Shouts of "Death to the king" and "long live the republic" punctuated various republican meetings. Police did not interfere, presumably having been instructed not to molest the demonstrators. It was generally peaceful in Madrid.

RUSSIAN OBSERVANCE OF ORTHODOX EASTER

Moscow—Despite an anti-religious campaign by the Atheist society, thousands of Russians began celebrating the Greek orthodox Easter, which continues this week and ends with church services next Sunday. To orthodox Russians this is passion week, during which all of the faithful fast and pray.

Cermak Elected Chicago Mayor by Wide Margin

Defeats Thompson by 191,916 Majority to End Reign—Given Largest Lead on Record

Chicago, Ill., April 7.—Anton J. Cermak was elected mayor of Chicago today, bringing to an end the rule of William Hale Thompson. The son of a Bohemian immigrant miner had topped Big Bill from the executive chair he had occupied through three spectacular terms, achieving his defeat by the largest majority ever accorded a candidate for the office.

The final unofficial tabulation of votes gave Cermak, the democrat, 667,529; Thompson, 475,613; a majority of 191,916.

Mayor Thompson conceded his defeat four hours and a half after the polls had closed. He sent Cermak the following telegram:

"The people of Chicago have spoken. I cheerfully abide by their decision. I congratulate you on your victory."

Only five wards stood by the mayor in his downfall—among them the Negro wards and the notorious "Bloody Twentieth," ballwick of his staunch ally, Morris Eller. Even the First ward, embracing the downtown "loop," deserted him.

A Stirring Chapter.

On choosing Cermak, his leader for the world's fair term, Chicago closed a stirring chapter of American political lore.

From his seat at the head of the government of America's second largest municipality, Big Bill attracted to himself and his city international attention. Big Bill, the Builder became a by-word the world over, thrust into the news from day to day by his slight to Marshal Joffre and his wartime mission to America, his offer to "bust King George on the spot" and his American First foundation and his crusades for food relief in the Mississippi valley.

He had said a few days ago that this was his last campaign. But tonight, acknowledging defeat, Mayor Thompson served notice that his task was not yet finished.

"I will redouble my efforts for the completion of the waterways," he said, "to bring to Chicago a greater prosperity and work for the unemployed and to this end I have chartered the Mississippi river steamship Cape Girardeau and will leave for the Illinois, Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee rivers Thursday, April 9."

"I love Chicago, I believe in the destiny of our city, and I shall continue to take an interest in the welfare of our people."

No Disorders Reported.

Chicago voted in a serious manner today. There were no disorders County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who had charge of the election machinery, described it as "the quietest mayoral election we have ever had."

But tonight a frenzy of celebration surged through the loop. Through the weeks of the Riato threaded a booming parade in honor of Cermak. Autos backfired a sharp staccato and heavier cannonading formed a thunderous, obligate for the victory shouts of Cermak supporters.

Clinging to autos and brandishing banners, the symbol of their champion's slogans, "Sweep the city hall clean of crime," the noisy paraders streamed past the city hall under the windows of the chamber where the vanquished mayor was framing a message of felicitation to the victor.

Kept Commanding Lead. Outstripping Mayor Thompson from the start, the democratic challenger maintained a commanding lead from the hour the polls closed, although his margin was trimmed to a ratio of 6 to 4 as the Thompson ballistics turned in their burden of ballots.

The mayor-elect laid plans to assume command of the city as soon as an election certificate is issued by the canvassing board, and his friends anticipated he might take office within the week.—World-Herald.

Legge has Faith in Results from the Farm Board

Former Chairman Resents a Charge That He Quit Sinking Ship—Says It Is Going Strong.

Chicago—Alexander Legge, having read his "obituary" in the paper ever since he resigned as chairman of the federal farm board, is "mad as a hatter." Hunching his angular frame forward and drumming on the glass top of his desk at the International Harvester company, Mr. Legge inveighed against editorial implications that he "got out while the getting was good." Usually reporter shy, for once he was glad to see a newspaperman and get this "off his chest."

"Congress was right in passing the agricultural marketing act, and the federal farm board is going strong. Since leaving the farm board I've seen my obituary in many newspapers," Legge said in the first interview since his resignation.

"Most of them have been friendly to me personally, but some of them suggest that I am in the position of a rat deserting a sinking ship. In fact, I'd rather be in the position that I would desert the ship if it were sinking and in the second place this boat is not sinking—it is not even in distress."

Back at His Old Job.

Legge has been back at his old post as president of the International about a month. "They say 'the old man was smart—he got out while the getting was good.' They write about me as if I were dead," Legge said with a smile. "You got here at a good time. I'm good and mad. I joined the board on the distinct understanding that I would only serve through the organization period, the appointment being for one year. General business conditions last summer made it seem advisable to carry on until the board was more firmly established. It is now a going concern and going strong."

The farm board's basic job, said its ex-chairman, is the organization of farmers. "The critics and others have lost sight of this fact when they consider the stabilization and financing operations. They're hollering about the side show and forgetting about the circus."

Prevented Market Collapse.

Altho he considered it incidental to the farm board's principal work, Legge said he was certain the board's stabilizing operations in wheat and cotton in the "extreme emergency" of last October prevented a market collapse that would have meant ruin to many holders of grain and their creditors.

Legge agreed to the assumption that the board would probably lose considerable money because of the stabilization operations, but he did not anticipate any serious difficulty in disposing of the holdings. "But whatever the ultimate cost of the farm board's stabilization may be," he added "it will be small compared with the resultant benefits to the farmers and to the country as a whole."—State Journal.

DENY PRINCE MARKED MAN

Koenigsberg, Germany—The whole police force was questioned about the circumstances under which Prince August Wilhelm, fourth son of the former kaiser, was beaten during a political clash March 21. As one man they denied an officer had ordered men to single out the prince for punishment. There were 500 or more persons on the railway platform waiting for the prince to come in, the police testified, and because they had no business there, police ordered them to get out. The prince came in while they were enforcing the orders and got in the way of a policeman's club.
