Junior-Senior Banquet Held Saturday Nite

Annual School Gatherings Held in Legion Building With Unique Settings

The Junior-Senior banquet of the Plattsmouth high school, one of the most pleasant social events that marks the close of the school year, the honoring of the graduating class by their associates, was held on Saturday evening at the American Legion building.

The banquet was arranged in a very clever and unique style and the circus atmosphere and thought was carried out through the entire decorative plan of the banquet hall, table decorations and the program of the evening. A large circular room had been arranged in the tones of tan and yellow, forming a tent like effect and here was placed the large tables arranged to form a ring for "the big top." The table decorations were miniature tents and animal crackers while at each place were tiny favors to remind the guests later of the happy time that they had enjoyed. The programs were arranged in a clever way on cut out elephants.

The rest rooms of the banquet hall were arranged in decorations of violet and green and arranged very handsomely with the seats and shaded lights for the members of the banquet party.

The banquet was served by the Plattsmouth Woman's club and who provided a very fine repast for the members of the school classes and which was also arranged in the circus style.

The banquet was presided over by Miss Madge Garnett, president of the junior class, as ringmaster, carrying out her part of the evening program in a most delightful manner as she introduced the various speakers of the banquet party.

For the freshmen of the school Mary Ann Hadraba brought the class greetings in "Clowns" discussing the many pleasant associations that the underclass men had found in their first year in the high school.

The sophomores were represented by Marvin Tritsch who spoke on "Clowns," giving the most pleasant and clever response for his part of the evening program.

The juniors of the school and the hosts of the evening were represented by Edward Egenberger, who took as his subject "Rough Riders" and which he paid honor to the other classes of the school and particularly the Seniors who are soon to complete their school work and pass into the history of P. H. S.

For the faculty of the school Miss Mary Jane Tidball responded very happily and graciously to the class teachers for this annual affair which is always a pleasant one and yet touched with regrets at the parting of so many school associations.

Dr. Frank L. Cummins of the board of education briefly and congratulated the Seniors of the school on their approaching completion of their school work and also to the Juniors for the most delightful banquet party that they had arranged.

The final toast was that of Paul Iverson, president of the Senior class, who expressed for his class the appreciation for the evening and the class of 1932 for their fine contribution to the close of the school career of the seniors.

Miss Cora Wilson of the music department of the school, closed the program with a very charming vocal number that was enjoyed to the utmost by the members of the banquet party.

Mother's Day Features Sunday in City

Special Recognition Given in the Churches of the City With Fine Programs

The churches of the city held special services and programs in almost every one of the local houses of worship and at which Mother was honored in sermon and song.

The unpleasant weather condition that prevailed for the greater part of the day served to keep a great many inside and made necessary the pilgrimages to the mothers who might be at distant points but messages and floral remembrances were many in the city on this most appropriate day of tribute to Mother.

The St. Paul's Evangelical church held special programs at the Sunday school hour and at the morning service the message of Rev. O. W. Wichman was on "What We Owe Our Mothers." The picnic which had been planned for the afternoon for the mothers at Garfield park, was held at the church owing to the wet weather of the day.

The Presbyterian church held a very fine program for the day with a message by Rev. H. G. McClusky at the morning service of unusual force and impressiveness. "A Mother's Influence," while several special musical offerings along the tributes to Mother, a solo being given by Miss Jacqueline Jones of Shenandoah, Iowa, "Mother Machree," and by Frank Cloldt, "Little Mother O Mine." In the evening the Christian Endeavor meeting was also devoted to the subject of Mother, Rev. H. G. McClusky being the leader of the meeting.

The services at the Methodist church were very beautifully arranged and the church made most attractive by the floral decorations. The Sunday school hour was devoted to Mother's day recognitions in the various classes and the Y. M. B. C. held a special Mother's day service which is their custom in the past few years. The sermon of the day was "The Uncrowned Queen" and was a very beautiful tribute to the memory of Mother given by the pastor, Rev. C. O. Troy. Robert Hall, newly elected president, was unable to accept the office and Miss Hayes was prevailed upon to continue in the office until some other disposition of the office might be reached.

The other officers installed were: Second Vice-President—Doris Peterson.
Third Vice-President—Virginia James.
Fourth Vice-President—Vernon Arn.
Secretary-Treasurer—Amy Elliott.

CAR HAS RUNAWAY

From Monday's Daily—
This morning more or less excitement was occasioned in the vicinity of the First Methodist church when a sedan belonging to C. L. Stull, decided to start out on a trip on its own initiative and ending by crashing into the terrace at the corner of the L. O. Minor place. The car had been parked by the daughter of Mr. Stull near the high school, she having driven in with the car to attend school and evidently the brakes failed to hold and the car slipping on the wet pavement started on east down the steep incline and finally swung over and across the sidewalk and to end its trip by plowing into the small bank. The car had two of the tires blown out and tore down a post and part of the hedge of Mr. Minor. The car was finally removed from the scene of the wreck and taken to the garage to be given a checking over.

Miss Gladys Bushnell of this city, who has been teaching for the present term in the school at La Platte, has been confined to her home for the past few days and is unable to carry on her school work. The family has had a great deal of sickness in the past week as the father, A. H. Bushnell, was kept to his bed for several days, but is now able to be out some.

Filling Station South of City Burglarized

Small Amount Secured From Slot Machine at the Shell Station Near City

Sometime Tuesday night the Shell Gas and Service station just south of the city on highway No. 75 was visited by burglars and a small amount of money secured from a slot machine that is placed in the station, but the amount is not great.

The parties that broke into the station tried open a window on the south side of the station and which permitted their entrance to the office of the station and where they proceeded to loot the slot vending machine of its coins.

The manager of the station, Francis Toman, had very wisely concealed the funds of the oil company that had been taken in during the day and early evening and this escaped the search of the robbers.

It is thought that the job was the work of someone passing along the highway in the early hours of the morning when traffic was light and which proved to be very much of a failure financially for the party pulling off the robbery.

The meeting of the Nebraska grand lodge of the Masonic order which is to convene in Omaha on June 8th, will pay an official visit to Plattsmouth on Tuesday, June 9th, spending several hours at the Nebraska Masonic Home, one of the finest establishments of its kind in the west and on the occasion all sections of the state will be represented.

The grand lodge will bring some 500 representatives of the order here and this year the grand lodge will have in prospect the action on the need for additional buildings at the Home.

The rapid filling of the Home proper and the infirmary of the Home has been such that the quarters are becoming crowded and the applications such that they are not able to care for all who may wish the care and comfort of the Home in the declining years of life.

It has been recommended that a new building costing not less than $200,000 be erected this year which will be located at some spot to be designated by the official board on the spacious grounds of the Home in this city.

The matter and the method of the securing of the building has been under the thought of Grand Master Orville Andrews of Lincoln and who will submit the matter to the grand lodge at their session. Whether to raise the funds by the voluntary contributions or the assessment plan will be acted on by the grand lodge. Plattsmouth lodge No. 6 has already made a survey of the proposition and pledges that would more than double the quota of the local lodge under the voluntary contribution plan have been secured.

While the grand lodge will be here but a short time, the local Chamber of Commerce and civic bodies are planning on offering what recognition may be possible in the limited time to the large group of distinguished Nebraskans who comprise the membership of the grand lodge.
