Miss Daisy Meade has accepted the position of operator at the Telephone exchange made vacant by the resignation of Miss Clark, who is called to the cafe to assist in the work there. While Miss Clark has made a very good operator and is very popular, Miss Daisy Meade will, we hope and expect, will also make an excellent operator.

Miss Nola Banning was a visitor in Lincoln for a number of days last week and was guest of her friend, Miss Jane Robb, while there, also remained to attend a supper and shower given by Miss Dorothy Kropp in honor of her friend, Miss Verna Sloopens, who is to marry the coming week. A most pleasant time was had by all the young folks.

Have Excellent Program.

The children's day program given by the members of the Bible school of the Baptist church and the ladies of the church and the teachers of the Bible school, was greatly appreciated by all who were fortunate in being able to attend. Notwithstanding the very warm evening, all enjoyed the program very much.

Go To Church Somewhere.

That is a fact, try and do this. You owe it to the church of your choice. You owe it to the city in which you live and by going you are encouraging the pastor, the officers of the church, and in return you are getting a lot of good from the going yourself. Remember at the Baptist church, there is a good

EISSLER FLAYS CONVICT LABOR

Lincoln, June 20.—Use of convict labor on state work was denounced here Saturday by Fred Eissler, president of the Nebraska State Federation of Labor. He said convict labor was now being used to dismantle and break up large boilers on the state house grounds.

"I understand that a promise has been made by the state board of control that convicts will be sent to Omaha soon to do certain work at the Nebraska School for the Deaf," Eissler said.

"Certainly at a time like this, when men and women are unable to find work of any kind, the state of Nebraska should set an example by employing only free labor, paying a living wage and observing a short working day."

Eissler said that on a number of state road contracts men were being worked from 10 to 18 hours a day by contractors and that the state had made no effort to correct the practice.

"These men are paid less than a living wage in many instances," he said. "Then they are worked cruelly long hours. The contractors are taking advantage of the men's necessity to overwork and underpay them."

Eissler said the State Federation of Labor had protested against the use of convict labor without avail and also against the long hours demanded of men on highway work.

LAGUARDIA A HOOVER CRITIC

New York—Representative Laguardia, independent republican of New York, in a statement declared President Hoover's proposal to postpone payment of foreign debts for one year was "executive double crossing." The statement said congress was "hit below the belt" by the offer, and the president had "usurped into himself the legislative functions of congress," since, "in our day national expression is authoritative only when the representatives of the people have taken proper action."

NEBRASKA GIRL RETURNS

Seattle—Miss Ruth Barron, aviatrix of Chester, Neb., who was reported to have planned to cross the Pacific from Tokyo with Thomas Ash, jr., who made an unsuccessful attempt to fly from Japan to Seattle recently, arrived here enroute home. Miss Barron explained the rumor started when she went to the flying field to wish Ash bon voyage.

Gerard Joins Woll Against Soviet Regime

Call 10-Year Plan Massing Collective Leadership to Combat 'Slavery'

New York—The lines for the "10-year plan for American industry based on democratic idealism," first brought forward on June 15 by the National Civic Federation under the auspices of its commission on industrial inquiry, were indicated by Matthew Woll, acting president of the federation, and James W. Gerard, chairman of the commission, as "a massing of American collective leadership against Russian collective slavery" in address radio-cast here.

The federation's proposal, which originated with Mr. Woll, to call an industrial congress to co-ordinate the various phases of American industry, was submitted by Mr. Gerard this week to national economic organizations in the fields of business, banking, distribution, transportation, management, labor and agriculture. A flood of comment, commendation and inquiry has resulted already, Mr. Woll said, and the radio program was arranged in response. It was radio-cast over Station WOR.

Mr. Woll emphasized that the scope of "a national scheme of economic operation" must include "industry, trade, transport, agriculture, labor, extraction of raw materials, credit and finance channels and service equipment."

"Such a plan of economic balancing should embrace the determination of the annual national human requirements in commodities and service, say for an ensuing 10 years, he continued; "required commodities, the apportioning of required labor hours for the required production and handling to point of consumption of such commodities, the character and extent of industrial equipment required to intelligently guide the task of design, construction and installation; the immediate and continuing distribution of the necessities of life among the entire population, manufacture and credit distribution requisite to that end, and the outline of legal enactment necessary and convenient to remove obstacles and to facilitate the operations of the suggested program."

Mr. Woll said he agreed with Sir Arthur Salter, director of the economic and finance section of the League of Nations, speaking here, in his description of the American economic system as being "in an intermediate stage" and facing the three alternatives of "chaos, collective control and collective leadership." The latter, Mr. Woll declared, was "the only desirable and advisable choice left."

Mr. Gerard assailed the Soviet system as an oppressive despotism which had made possible already the taking over of world markets for wheat and oil, and now threatened the cotton market, meanwhile underselling the United States in lumber, matches, coal, pulp, asbestos, manganese and chemicals.

He indicated that the antitrust laws made it impossible for American industrialists to meet this situation "by even the smallest of combinations," since these, he said, meant being "haled to court, threatened with jail, and until the Supreme Court has passed on their acts, they cannot know whether they are criminal or not."

Ralph M. Easley, chairman of the federation's executive council, said the organization was in accord with the policy toward Soviet Russia enunciated by Woodrow Wilson and maintained by succeeding administrations, in standing "unequivocally against recognition of the Russian Soviet regime by the United States until that regime shall have ceased its subversive activities in this country, compensated American nationals for confiscated property and proved itself fit to associate with civilized nations."

Philadelphia, Pa., June 22.—Mrs. Mary Ann Williams, said to be the only widow in Philadelphia of a veteran of the war of 1812, died last night. She was 98.

Mrs. William was 18 when she became a bride the first time, her second husband, Dr. John Williams, of Baltimore where she was born, fought as a private in Moore's company of the Maryland militia and was with Andrew Jackson at New Orleans. She was 41 years younger than her second husband and was 32 when he died at the age of 73.

U. S. MEN GET 12,000 GALLONS OF ICED BEER

Chicago, June 21.—Just as summer had moved into the Chicago area, making what used to be known as "good beer weather," a crew of dry agents raided another Cuyler-Cusick-Turo brewery Saturday and seized 12,000 gallons of the fluid ready for delivery. The beer had a retail value of $20,000.

Like tobacco ... the best Gasoline is Blended

YOU may prefer Burley tobacco with a touch of Turkish or a mixture which includes Perique. Whatever the preference, every good smoke is blended, expertly.

Of the various types of gasoline no one is a perfect motor fuel. So CONOCO refiners have developed their balanced blend, using: Natural Gasoline, for quick starting; Straight-run Gasoline, for power and mileage; Cracked Gasoline, for its anti-knock properties.

As expertly as the tobacco leaves are mellowed and combined these three elements are produced and blended to make CONOCO Balanced Blend Gasoline. You will find this better gasoline wherever you see the CONOCO Red Triangle. Try it today.

67 QUARTS BEER HELD "REASONABLE" AMOUNT

Freemont—A district court jury here Monday decided that possession of sixty-seven quarts of beer does not exceed "a reasonable amount" and acquitted W. L. Bishop on a charge of liquor laws violation. The jury was out only six minutes. The defendant admitted possession of the sixty-seven quarts of beer, and his counsel argued that laws of the state of Nebraska permit "a reasonable amount" of liquor on one's home.
