Donald Decker of Clarinda, Iowa, is here spending the summer with his aunt, Mrs. Lloyd Grady and husband. Carl Palmquist left for South Dakota, he came last Thursday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Palmquist. Winnie Bell was threshing on last Thursday at the home of Evans Armstrong. We did not learn the yield or test. Mr. and Mrs. Earl J. Grady of Lincoln visited at the W. G. Denzwan home last Sunday and attended the picnic in the afternoon. Miss Martan Hartsook returned home the middle of last week after having spent an enjoyable vacation to points of interest in California. Mrs. Harry Leesley returned home from Manly Sunday where she had been to raise her daughter, Mrs. Sheehan, who had been quite sick. Clarence Hurlbut and family of Fremont were dinner guests of his mother on last Sunday and also attended the picnic in the afternoon. Lloyd Mick was a visitor in Ashland on the morning of last Wednesday where he was looking after some business matters for a short time. W. E. Palling has been busy of late picking, delivering and selling apples to the people of Lincoln, finding a good market there for his fruit. Sunday Fred Palmquist and family drove up near Bennett to visit Mr. and Mrs. Martin Marhenka. Mrs. Marhenka and Mrs. Palmquist are sisters. Geo. Griffith of Council Bluffs spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Bright, in the evening Mrs. Bright returned home with him, they being brother and sister. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mathers were called at the J. H. Grady home one day recently. Mr. Mathers was a former superintendent of Lancaster county farm. Business called E. L. McDonald to Lincoln on Wednesday morning of last week where he also purchased a load of groceries which he brought home with him. Mrs. Wm. Nightengale of Grant, was visiting at the Marion Dimmitt and Carl Maner homes, Mrs. Dimmitt and Mrs. Maner being daughters of Mrs. Nightengale. Uncle Henry Elwood near Eagle, has and still remains very poorly. Mrs. Ella Johnson is assisting in his care. Mr. George Buckwalter taking her over on Monday of last week. Fred W. Etheridge and Gust McNeelin were down to Plattsmouth on Tuesday where they were looking after some business matters, they driving over to the county seat in the car of Mr. Etheridge. W. P. Bailey and family and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Calfee, both families from Ashland, were visiting on last Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Landon, all enjoying the very pleasant visit. Ollie Soyler was making hay on last Wednesday afternoon on the small piece of land owned by Paul Renwanz, for Everett Cope, therefore this small parcel of land supplies three parties with some interest. Mrs. Evans Armstrong, who has been having so much trouble with one of his legs, and who had an operation of the knee joint, is getting along nicely now and the improvement is very gratifying to this gentleman. G. M. Palling has accepted a position with the Automobile interests at Bryan, Nebraska, and departed on last Wednesday morning for that place to take charge of the business. Walter is working there at the Automobile business also. Miss Anna Palling is home during the canning season, from the making of jam, and is doing the summer canning after which she will return to the university for the remaining semester of her school course when she will graduate. Business called George Bucknell to Grand Island last Monday and in making the results as far as the matter of the crops and kiddles. They were pleased with the excellent appearance of the crops and also enjoyed the visit there very much. On Wednesday of last week John C. Lomeyer got the threshing outfit which he himself operated and had it run on the farm at Grand Island and went to the home of Joseph Kyles, where he threshed for that gentleman. The other outfit will be operated by Wm. Kelley. Edward Jacobson and wife of Newark, N. J., and their son, Buddy, were in Greenwood on last Wednesday at the home of J. L. Demmitt and other relatives and friends, as well as Alvo and Waverly, they expecting to spend about two weeks here. Mr. Jacobson and family left here in 1910. L. L. Demmitt and wife, Leo Peters and family, Marion Demmitt and family and James Demmitt and family, all enjoyed a very pleasant gathering on last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Mullen of Alvo. The occasion being the celebration of the passing of the birthday of Mrs. Mullen and their daughter, Miss Nina Mullen in Alvo department for an account. S. Petersen, Travis Cameron and John Gustafson, whose memory larked back to the time when they caught fish on the coast of Norway Peninsula, and desiring a short respite from the busy grind, set out on last week end night to the Robinson Branch where they remained all night and were rewarded by the catching of some 45 fish, six of which were big enough to eat. "Pete" Schrader was among some of the first to get the threshing done and the result as far as the matter of the returns in bushels and quantity is concerned, he is satisfied and let us hope the price will get more in proportion to the prices of other things which will make farming a joy instead of being absolutely otherwise. The wheat tested 58 to the struck bushel and yielded some 25 bushels to the acre. Make Good Fellowship Trip. The two rural carriers of Greenwood, Verne Shepler and L. C. Marvin, after they had made their trips on last Wednesday, went to the different towns in the county, seeing all the rural carriers and interviewing them relative to things pertaining to the rural service and extending congratulations and felicitations, creating good fellowship and maintaining that co-operation in the work which insures success in all its departments. Messrs. Marvin and Shepler are hustlers for the very best service. To the Lakes of North. P. A. Sanborn and wife, accompanied by their granddaughter, Miss Margaret Moon, who is spending the summer here, departed on Wednesday morning of last week for the north where they will spend some two weeks in the lake regions of Minnesota, and will during the time they are gone, enjoy the vacation very much. Mr. Sanborn expects to take a "post graduate" course in fishing, hoping it will be beneficial in the years to come. Who Pays the Freight? The Consolidated Grain Corporation of Nebraska, having elevators at five of the leading places where wheat is produced in abundance, and with their central office at Grand Island, sold to the Stabilition Corporation of Wheat, and other products during the year of 1930, wheat at the average of 73 cents per bushel. During the time this was stored in the granaries of the grain companies' warehouses, they received one cent per bushel for each thirty days as storage, then during the interval between the time of storage and the present the grain was again resold to the grain company at an average of 48 cents per bushel. Who paid the loss? Alabama or Nebraska. This is a good thing to think about instead of studying the current cross word puzzles in the daily press. JOLLY STITCHERS The Jolly Stitchers club met at the home of Theresa Bierl Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was called to order by the vice president, Norma McRabb. The next problem a hitchen apron was discussed and each decided which pattern she would use. A demonstration team of Theresa and Sophie Bierl were chosen for this problem. The laundry bags were judged and Lucille Meisinger's placed first and Theresa Bierl's second. At the close of the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess. California is tearing down 100,000 billboards from along its highways, and the younger generation of native sons may as well prepare for a lot of scenery they've been hearing about for many years and supposing was legendary.

Mrs. Edgar Edwards has been in poor health for some time and still remains not so well, it was required that they have a physician for her during last week. Charles Edwards threshed last week and delivered his wheat to the Rehmeier elevator which tested 53 pounds and made a good yield of bushels to the acre. Mrs. Charles Edwards has been enjoying a visit from her sister, Mrs. Barr and her daughter, Mrs. Finnigan and husband, of Dragon, Utah, during the past week. The threshing machine reports the yield of the wheat fields of Chas. Edwards as 40 to the acre. Mr. Edwards is being assisted during the harvest by Frank L. Edwards. George Currye of Lincoln was a visitor in Alvo for a short time on Wednesday of last week and was looking after some business as well as visiting with his friends here. The Harry Weichel family, Mrs. Chris Dreamer and Nora of Elmwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Dreamer of Lincoln, enjoyed a picnic dinner at the river on last Sunday. Frank Plymale, who operated a portable grinding machine for the grinding of feeds for the farmers, going to their several homes to do the work, reports business as being very good. W. H. Warner, operating the machine of Roy Bowman, furnishing the motive power, began their campaign with the threshing of the wheat for T. M. McKinnon on last Thursday. Miss Hazel Nelson, who has been troubled with a foot which she injured some time since, is getting along nicely now and is so she can use it, though there still remains some pain. The threshing machines of Grover Hill and Joe Vickers started Tuesday afternoon and Herman Bornemeier has purchased a new separator and left on Tuesday to bring it home from Walton, Neb. John Banning and wife were enjoying a visit with friends and relatives at Union one evening last week and while there visited at the home of Joe Banning and as well looked after some business. After a delightful afternoon in renewing acquaintances, all departed, reporting a most happy occasion. Report Stresses Farm Advance in Electricity Past Decade Shown to Have Witnessed Revolution in Agriculture, Committee Reports Chicago—A decidedly constructive side to the agricultural picture of the past decade is stressed in a report just published by the Committee on the Relation of Electricity to Agriculture, in which tremendous gains in the power used per farm during the past 10 years in applying electricity to farming are told. Even in 1920, when conditions on the farms were doubtlessly at their worst, 90,000 farms were electrified, making the greatest annual increase on record, according to the report. "On Jan. 1, 1924, only 166,159, or 2.61 per cent of the farms of the United States had high line service," it states. "On Jan. 1, 1931, there were in excess of 640,000 farms, or over 10 per cent with high line service. The power used per farm has also increased decidedly. Much of this increase is attributable to the development of new uses for electricity on the farm. "The period of agricultural depression," the report finds, "has brought about a decided trend toward large scale use of power for farm purposes. Returns have stimulated efforts to lower costs. New standards, new applications of power, new machinery, lower prices, the pooling of management, electricity—all indicate changes and readjustments within the industry." This, the report states, is all helping to lay the foundation for "a new science of agriculture." Agencies of many kinds, it is said, have set to work earnestly to work out new applications of electricity to farming. These include 493 active projects in colleges, universities and the United States Department of Agriculture, 118 undertakings of an investigational nature by utilities and commercial concerns, 39 in private laboratories. As a means of correlating the various studies of application of electricity to the farm, the committee urges establishment of a farm electrification research council. Such a council, it is proposed, "should be made up of one research representative from each of the following groups: United States Department of Agriculture, agricultural economists, agricultural engineers, electrical manufacturers, committee on the relation of electricity to agriculture, and National Electric Light Association. The report was compiled by George W. Kabie, director of research for the committee on relation of electricity to agriculture, whose operations are financed by the National Electric Light Association, and endorsed by the American Farm Bureau Federation, National Grange, and other farm organizations. BOWEN IN BAD SHAPE From Saturday's Daily— Advice from Pat Reed, who is en route to this city from Ellensburg, Washington, with William Bowen, wanted here on forgery charge, indicates that Bowen is still suffering from the effects of injuries received when his auto plunged 150 feet down the side of a mountain in Washington and which led to his capture. Mr. Reed has asked that an ambulance meet the train on which he and his prisoner are to arrive at Lincoln on Sunday evening in order that the prisoner may be taken to a hospital to be given treatment for his injuries. The prisoner will probably be taken to the University hospital for care until such time as his injuries permit. He is being placed in the county jail at this city.

Pheasants Devour Many Grasshoppers TO TAG BASS AND CATFISH Bass and catfish that frequent Nebraska lakes and streams will be tagged, starting this fall, Frank O'Connell, head of the state game, parks and forestation commission, announced Wednesday. "Tiny metal tags, bearing the name "Nebraska" and a serial number will be placed on 10,000 catfish and bass to be planted in Nebraska streams and lakes in the fall. Only nursery stock will be so marked. The tag is clipped to the gill of the fish. Tagging of fish will be tried in order accurately to determine the rate of growth of fish, suitability of habitat, age of fish and various fish habits. When a fisherman makes a catch of a tagged fish it is planned to have him report the catch to the office of the state commission, giving the serial number of the tag. A record of the date of planting that fish, and the place where it was planted, will be available. Michigan, O'Connell says, is the only other state that has tried the tagging system extensively. SHOT BY MISSION WORKER Shanghai—Carl D. Menhardt, American consul at Tsinanfu, has proceeded to Tehchow, northwest Shantung province, to investigate the fatal shooting July 11 of a Chinese by Dr. Francis T. Tucker, head of the American board of missions hospital at Tehchow. Early reports indicated Tucker, a missionary in China for twenty-nine years, shot the man believing him to be a robber. The victim died a few hours later. Altho the Chinese press asserted Tucker would be tried in the Chinese courts, this was not considered likely, inasmuch as the Chinese government does not claim the right to prosecute foreigners in the Chinese courts prior to January, 1932. The case, therefore, probably will fall under American consular jurisdiction as heretofore. Headquarters of Tucker's mission is in Boston. STEAMER LINE IS IN NEED OF ASSISTANCE Portland, Ore. — Jefferson Myers, United States shipping board commissioner, announced that three Pacific coast steamship lines have been approached to determine whether they are interested in operation of the United States line, America's largest steamship service. The line has asked shipping board assistance because of the business depression. Phone your Job Printing order to No. 6. Prompt service.
