APPREHEND YOUNG MAN

From Wednesday's Daily—
 Last evening employees of the Bauer repair and plumbing shop on North Seventh street had their attention attracted by the sound of the cash register in the office of the shop being opened and closed and noticed that a young man was walking out of the building. An investigation disclosed that the money that had been in the register after the regular closing hours, some $5.45, was missing.

The employees of the shop had recognized the young man and at once notified the members of the police force and Officer Pickrel drove to the home of a relative of the young man and he was found there and at once taken down to the city hall where Officers Libershal and Pickrel questioned him in regard to the matter. After some time the young man, who stated he was sixteen years of age and giving the name of Shoemaker, and his home as Oklahoma, acknowledged that he had taken the money. To the police the young man stated that he had taken the money to the place he was staying and had concealed it there, his relatives being unaware of his act. Following the statement of the young man, a search of the place designated disclosed the entire amount that had been taken.

With the restoration of the money and the fact that his prosecution not pushed by Mr. Bauer, the officers on the promise of the young man to return to Oklahoma, released him from custody.

While at Imperial they were guests at the William Spitt home and with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sizman and family, former Plattsmouth residents.

Judge Begley Rules for Luikart in Bank Cases

Judge Spear at Fremont Also Orders Transfers Made of the Bank Receiverships

Orders transferring state bank receiverships from Clarence G. Bliss, to E. H. Luikart, newly appointed secretary of the trade and commerce department, were entered Monday by District Judge J. T. Begley at Papillion and Judge F. L. Spear at Fremont.

Twenty-one banks were included in Judge Spear's order and six in Judge Begley's.

In ruling on the objections Judge Spear pointed out that Bliss, not being a depositor or creditor in the failed banks, cannot raise the question of the constitutionality of the law making the secretary of the trade and commerce department receiver of all failed banks.

Neither can L. H. Luikart, the legal status as secretary of the department, be challenged in the present action, Judge Spear held. That must be done by means of a single quo warranto action, he said, explaining that to present such a question in every judicial district would only lead to confusion.

Dismisses Objection to Mullen. He also tossed aside the objection to Arthur Mullen, acting as attorney for the governor in place of the attorney general as being of no importance in this particular action.

Only a proper accounting of failed bank assets in Bliss' hands at the time he was removed, and the filing of necessary bonds by Luikart, remains to complete the transfer, Judge Spear said, if Bliss wished, he would enter an order giving him access to the books and records.

Judge Begley filed no opinion. He merely informed the attorneys for Bliss and Bryan of his action.

It is possible that Bliss will appeal from Judge Begley's ruling.

Following the hearing on the application last Wednesday, Judge Begley indicated that he would grant the transfer, but allowed attorneys for Bliss three days in which to file additional briefs in protest.

At that time Judge Begley remarked that in the interests of depositors it was necessary to have harmony between the administering officials.

"Need More Harmony." "There can't be harmony with the governor picking one and the receiver pulling another," he said. He added at that time that in his opinion the receivership of failed state banks is almost entirely within the control of the trade and commerce department and that the courts have "very little" to say about it.

Attorneys for Bliss have contended that the appointment of receivers is entirely within the power of the district courts, and that a change in the head of the trade and commerce department in no way requires a change in the receiver.

It was also contended that Luikart, not having been confirmed by the state senate, is not legally holding the office of secretary of the trade and commerce department.

Legal Action Elsewhere. A similar order, also granting the transfer, was entered Saturday at O'Neill by District Judge R. R. Dickson, effecting receiverships in the Fifteenth district.

District Judge F. L. Spear heard a similar application at Fremont a week ago and was to announce a decision Monday. Judge W. G. Hastings heard evidence on another application for transfer of banks in this district last Thursday. Attorneys for Bliss filed additional briefs Monday.

The rulings of Judge Begley is the first one in the state to have been made following the presentation of testimony and arguments by the parties.

GRANTS PRISONER REPRIEVE. George Conlay, of Weeping Water, who has been held here in the county jail on a ninety day sentence, has just a reprieve for the remaining of the sentence by the state board and Governor Bryan. The health of Mr. Conlay has been very poor and examinations by physicians disclosed that further confinement would perhaps permanently injure his health and the matter was accordingly taken up with the state officials who are the only ones to act in a case of this kind. The man was sentenced here for a violation of the prohibition law and which removed the power to stay the sentence from the trial court. As his health was becoming worse all of the time and the request of many residents of the community where Mr. Conlay resided, the matter was taken up and with the result that the reprieve has been given for the remaining twelve days and while the case is more fully investigated.

HAS HAND INJURED. Mrs. Dora Peacock, who is here at the home of her sister, Mrs. Frank A. Cloidt, suffered a rather severe injury to her left hand Tuesday afternoon while she was engaged in canning some apricots at the Cloidt home while the family is absent in Minnesota on an outing. Mrs. Peacock was carrying one of the jars of fruit when she caught her foot and fell, the glass jar breaking as Mrs. Peacock having the fingers of the hand cut to some extent. The injured hand was dressed and the patient made as comfortable as possible.

Murray Sox Win Game from Bluffs Firemen Team

Hopkins Strikes Out Twelve and Garners Three Safe Smashes—Score 12 to 4

The Murray Red Sox were scheduled Sunday afternoon to battle the Council Bluffs Eagles but when the fans gathered at the park it was found that the Council Bluffs Firemen's team, leaders in the twilight league of that city, had been sent here instead, they having a few nights ago trimmed the Eagles by the score of 12 to 2. The league leaders, however, failed to click with the Sox and returned home defeated by the score of 14 to 4.

The game was featured by the skillful pitching of Hopkins, who retired twelve of the firemen through the strikeout route and also gathered in three safe singles of Cronk, star hurler of the firemen. Harry Newman and Louie Swoboda each connected for a triple and Gansemer and Pierce of the Sox for two base blows.

The Red Sox took a lead in the opening inning and were never in danger of defeat as Hopkins held the eight hits of the visitors well scattered and had good support back of him.
