Hunt for Gold is Started in Madison County

Kansas Men Sponsor Effort to Find Ore Strata Near Madison—Lease Seven Acres.

Madison, Neb., Aug. 20.—Search for gold in Madison county is under way on the J. E. Maurer farm in Green Garden precinct near Madison.

Under direction of Dr. T. A. Leach, dentist; John Dyck, attorney; M. A. Aelmore and Hugh Conner, all of Hutchinson, Kans., a well is being sunk with the expectation of finding a formation that will warrant gold mining operations.

T. H. Chevalier is in charge of the digging.

Reports are the Kansans have leased seven acres of land on the Maurer farm near the well.

Dr. Leach in 1898 taught a country school near the Maurer farm. At that time, the late John Maurer, father of the present owner, started to dig a well. After boring down about three hundred feet he struck a rock formation. Some of which was sent to an assayer who reported that it would yield gold at the rate of $21 a ton.

Since that time Dr. Leach has had it in mind some day to return to Madison county to hunt for gold. His purpose in drilling a well now is to determine the magnitude of the formation, and if it is found to be large enough to assure profitable mining operations he will open up.—World-Herald.

DANGER SEEN TO SHIPPING

San Diego—Fear arose Thursday that the ghost of the old Bohemia, one of the last of the Yankee clipper ships, shelled and sunk Tuesday by submarines during the filming of a motion picture had returned to haunt the steamer lanes. The wreckage was reported sighted off the Coronado islands by Captain Reed of the freighter Sagehen. The navy hydrographic office at San Pedro immediately posted warnings of the menace to navigation. Added danger was seen by mariners in the possibility that the wreckage might contain part of a ton of dynamite and T. N. T., which was distributed about the Bohemia before she was sunk.

LONG FLIGHT IS PLANNED

Los Angeles—A nonstop solo flight from Tokyo to Seattle will be attempted by Miss Juanita Burns within a month, the diminutive flyer said Sunday. Miss Burns previously had planned a westward crossing of the north Pacific but because of tail winds, which she thinks will be "worth 1,000 miles of gasoline," she changed her plans.

Miss Burns, who never has done much long distance flying, is regarded as a good navigator and teaches a school in navigation. She has intended to take an aviator with her but abandoned this plan so that she might utilize the weight for gasoline. The crossing will be attempted in a low winged monoplane, not equipped with pontoons. She expects to lift 850 gallons of gasoline.

Bryan Takes Side of the Truck Owners

Governor Brands Truck Bill as Measure to Prevent Cut in Freight Rates

Governor Bryan announced Friday that he will take part in the campaign being waged by the Nebraska Transport association of truck and bus owners against the truck and bus bill, S. P. 33, which has been referred by a proper petition to a vote of the electors of the state at the November election in 1932.

The governor vetoed the bill and it was passed over his veto and is now referred. An action is pending in the district court of Lancaster county for a declaratory judgment to establish whether the bill is suspended pending the election.

This suit was filed by Attorney General Sorensen who stated that the bill contained safety provisions and that safety measures are not suspended pending a referendum.

Governor Bryan said he discussed the bill in his address the day before at Nemaha City and will discuss it Friday night in an address at a community picnic at Lindsay, and on thru the referendum campaign.

"I consider the truck bill one of the most detrimental to the interests of the people ever passed in years," said Governor Bryan. "In filing the veto the legislature humiliated the people to an extent never before, in that the railroad lobby served refreshments, consisting of ice cream, to members before they voted on overriding the veto. In my opinion the bill is one to destroy the competition of trucks, and the bill increases truck rate materially because of the raise of license fee 600 percent in some instances, and by reducing the size, dimensions and carrying capacity it seriously handicaps trucks. The bill will increase license rates to farmers at least $200,000 a year and increase the amount farmers will have to pay for trucks for transporting livestock and other products of the farm hundreds of thousands of dollars a year."

"I recommended a referendum petition at the time I vetoed the bill. I have co-operated to prevent the law from taking effect until after it has been voted upon by the electors of the state. The constitution establishing the referendum is clear and explicit against the legislature forcing upon people something they do not want. It provides for suspension of all such bills. The bill cannot be considered as a safety measure nor an appropriation or revenue bill, nor was it intended by the legislature to be lobbied behind it. It was denied in the house of representatives that it was a revenue bill. That was not taken into consideration. It was a bill intended to prevent a reduction in freight rates."

NORFOLK AREA DRENCHED BY GENEROUS RAINS

Scattered rains over northeastern Nebraska brought additional benefit to crops there Thursday afternoon. A downpour was recorded at Norfolk.

Reports from the territory surrounding Norfolk indicated that the rain was being received over a wide section. Hadar and Warnerville reported generous rains.

Scattered showers were also reported at York and vicinity. A destructive hailstorm visited Geneva, Neb., late Thursday afternoon, according to word from Herbert Ruhl there. The hail lasted about 20 minutes, smashed plate glass windows and cut tops in the corn. Mr. Ruhl said. The corn crop in a radius of about 15 miles from the city was damaged. Heavy rain followed.

POLICY CHANGE PLANNED

Moscow—Addressing the conference of the Moscow machine building industry, M. Milutin, assistant chairman of the state planning commission, declared that soviet Russia intended to devote more of the national income to the improvement of living standards of the masses during the second five year plan than it has during the first.

"During the first five year plan," he said, "we spent every penny on industrialization, in which we have been so successful that we shall have more than fulfilled the plan's major parts by 1931."

"Notwithstanding the fact that the salaries of workers have been doubled since 1929, we cannot go further without bringing about a complete cultural revolution—in increasing the technical knowledge of the masses, improving housing conditions and creating better living conditions as a whole."

"We shall spend proportionately in the new five year plan for improving the living standards of workers and peasants as we spend on industry. Under the capitalist system, men are meant for machines; here, machines are meant for men."

Metcalf Advises Governor on Failed Bank

Suggests No Politics and Says Depositors Should Approve the Receivers

Lieut. Gov. T. W. Metcalf, whose home is in Omaha where four state banks recently closed, has written Governor Bryan a letter suggesting that the state should liquidate failed banks in an orderly, economical and honest way for the best interests of the depositors, that the appointment of receivers and agents should be entirely divorced from politics and the depositors themselves should be consulted, so that confidence of the people in the future may be gained.

He believes the depositors should have a right to approve or disapprove the receiver to be appointed. He says: "Local receivers familiar with local conditions accomplish more at less cost than politicians and others who are merely seeking a job and a source of income."

The letter closes: "Equally important as honest, efficient and economical liquidation of the failed institutions is a strict examination of those banks which are now in operation. Banking institutions should not be allowed to continue to operate one minute after they are found insolvent. The declaration of the state banking department that the bank was in good condition should mean just that and should be enough to establish confidence on the part of the depositors and other citizens of the community. "Regardless of what the immediate consequences would be, the citizens of the state would benefit in years to come if the state officials would take hold of this situation in a firm way and with a definite determination to do whatever is necessary to protect our citizens from unnecessary loss."

NEW FORM OF INSURANCE

New York—A new form of insurance, created to meet "modern criminal enterprise," becomes effective Monday. The policies will protect storekeepers from "violent a clause strong arm" and contain a clause covering "kidnaping where the victim is taken back to the store to open the door of a safe." The National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters described the policies as an "answer to the universal need of the small shopkeeper to obtain blanket coverage."

In Chicago and Cook and Lake counties, in Illinois, and Detroit and Wayne county, in Michigan, premium rates will be highest. New York, the Bronx and Queens are second.
