A REAL COLLECTOR

From Thursday's Daily—
George A. Stites, mayor, oil station operator and general magnate of Union, proved today that he was a real collector when anyone tried to beat him out of a just obligation. This morning a stranger drove up to the oil station of Mr. Stites, requesting that the tank of his car be filled with gas and also that oil be supplied the gas wagon. When the servicing was done the man drove away with some $3 in gasoline and oil in the car and not a word as to pay. George grabbed a gun and leaping in his car raced after the auto driver who was apparently going to beat his bill. Mr. Stites finally caught up with the stranger and tried to force him to stop but without success until George opened fire and shot two of the tires of the car. The man then stopped and shelled out the necessary $3 and was sent on his way rejoicing.

Sarpy County Farmers Win $25,000 Suit

Judge Begley Finds for Flood Damage Claims of Residents Near Fort Crook and Gilmore.
In a decision handed down Thursday at Papillion by Judge James T. Begley, the farmers residing in the vicinity of the Pappio creek at Fort Crook and Gilmore, were awarded a judgment against the state of Nebraska in the sum of $25,000, for damages due to the flooding of their farm lands in March, 1929.
The group of farmers whose places lie along the Pappio, had brought the action to cover losses in crops and expenses in repairing levees in the flooding of the Pappio bottoms, contending that the overflow was caused by the erection of a temporary bridge over the Pappio on highway No. 75, just southwest of Fort Crook, by the state department of public works.
The law firm of Patrick and Smith of Omaha, representing the farmers, contended that the state violated the constitution, which sets forth that "no property of any person shall be taken or damaged without compensation." It was charged, that in erecting the temporary bridge, the highway department drove so many piles and timbers that an effective blockade was formed by the debris, flooding the farmlands for miles around.

From Friday's Daily—
Last evening the Murray Red Sox took a fast 3 to 2 game from the Papillion team on Sunday evening at Watter grounds, the contest being another one in which Hons Newman of this city carved a place for himself by his pitching and hitting, his blow in the fifth inning scoring the two runs that brought victory to the Sox. Hons, who on Sunday games plays the shortstop position, entertains the fans on the Thursday games in the pitcher's box and has made a fine record of victories this season.
The first inning opened with both teams scoring one run, Adams, left hander of Papillion, first man up hit and advanced to third while he scored on an overthrow from the catcher, while Newman of the Sox was given a tally through the same process, hitting and scoring on the overthrow of Kennedy, Pappio catcher.

From Saturday's Daily—
The fifth inning for the Sox Ehlers hit safe and Hopkins was safe on the error of Becker at first base and then Moore, left fielder hit safely and the bases were loaded. Here is where Hons unloaded the Winterster hill artillery, placing a two bagger in the far right field and on Little, Ehlers and Hopkins tallied and Moore was caught at the plate, making two good ones. Hons was caught when he tried to reach third base and Little ended the inning with a grounder to third.

The Pappio crew made their last bid for victory in the ninth inning when Beadle and Kennedy were both walked by Newman and Becker scored Beadle with a safe poke to the left garden, but Kennedy was caught at third base, a strikeout by Boyer and a grounder by Ross closed the inning and the game.
The tabulated score was as follows:

Weather in August Covers Wide Range

Temperatures From 53 to 92 Registered, With Plentiful Rain to Many Clear Days.
August was far from being record breaking as to weather in any particular, the monthly statistical report shows, but its temperatures ranged from 53 to 92 degrees and there was an inch and a third more rain than normal. The widest range of temperature was 33 degrees on the 29th, and the narrowest 11 degrees on the 9th. The rainfall didn't overcome the deficiency for the year, which now totals 2.8 1/2 inches. The average daily excess above normal temperature since January has been 4.3 degrees.

The highest August temperature on record in Nebraska was 111 degrees on Aug. 3 last year, while the lowest was 44 degrees on Aug. 31, 1886. On Aug. 26 and 27, 1903, there was 7 inches of rain, whereas the total for the month just past was 4.43 inches. The heaviest rainfall this year was 2.12 inches on the last day of the month. There were eight thunderstorms, four of them during the last week. The wind averaged 5.3 miles an hour and was generally from the south. The average for the years on record is 6.8 miles and the prevailing wind has always been from the northwest. On Aug. 15, 1896, there was a forty-four mile wind from the northeast. In 1875 and again six years later the wind averaged 8.5 miles an hour.
August had seventeen clear days, five cloudy, and the other eight partly cloudy. Rain fell on nine days, and there was a quarter of an inch or more on four days. The average is thirteen clear and six cloudy days. With the weather consistently warmer than the average, amateur forecasters won't be looking for frost on Sept. 18, the earliest on record, which was in 1901.

FAMILY REUNION

Sunday, August 30, at the home of Mr. Frank Reese of Wabash, the children and their families gathered for a reunion. It has been several years since they were able to all be at home at the same time.
The children are: Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reese and children, Richard and Velda Ruth, of Omaha; Mr. and Mrs. Diller Utt and Mr. and Mrs. William Pruessing, both of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Underwood, of Eagle; Mr. and Mrs. John Cardwell and sons Lloyd Vernon and Donald Dean, of Willis, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Reese, of Seward; Miss Dorothy, at home, and her friend, Earl Miller, of Wabash.

Miss Mildred McMullen of Utica, and Mr. David Middleton of Seward, brother of Mrs. Lewis Reese, accompanied them. There were twenty-one present.
This reunion was planned by Mr. Reese and Dorothy and was a surprise to them, as it happened to be Mr. Cardwell's birthday and was unknown to them until Mr. Cardwell and family arrived Saturday evening.
Games were played in the afternoon and a general good time was enjoyed by all.
The children departed for their homes in the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Cardwell remained until Monday afternoon and then returned to their home in Kansas.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

DEATH OF FRANK BALLANCE

The announcement has been received here of the death of Frank Ballance, veteran railroad man, well known here, which occurred at the home in Benton Harbor, Michigan. The deceased was a brother of the late William Ballance of this city and has been a frequent visitor in the city in the years that the Ballance family made their home here. Of the six brothers and one sister that formed the Ballance family, there are now but two of the brothers living, Sam and George Ballance of Lincoln, both of whom have been at Benton Harbor for the funeral services. The many old time friends here will regret very much to learn of the passing of Mr. Ballance.
While a resident of Nebraska Mr. Ballance made his home for the greater part of the time at McCook and where he was engaged in the train service of the Burlington until the engineers and firemen strike of 1888 and since which time he moved to the east to make his home.

Hunting Scrip on Sale; Books Bring $2.50

Coupons for 1931 Pheasant Season

Repay Landowners at Rate of Fifty Cents per Bird
Hunters' scrip, to be issued to sportsmen for the 1931 pheasant season, was placed on sale at the office of the game commission Wednesday afternoon. The first book of five coupons was sold within five minutes after they arrived from the printers. The book containing coupons Nos. 1 to 5 has been reserved for Chet Ager, one of the sponsors of the scrip plan of reimbursing farmers for pheasants shot on their land.
Each book of five coupons costs $2.50 and one hunter may buy as many as he wishes, so long as the number of birds he kills in one day remains within the legal limit. The front of the book contains his name, address, hunting and auto license numbers for identification at farms on which he wants to hunt. Before entering the field the sportsman leaves the book with the farmer. Returning from the hunt he signs and tears out one coupon for each bird he has killed. The farmer then fills out the tag on the back of the book which shows the birds have been taken legally in an "open" county. The tag may be used to transport the birds into closed territory and does away with the need to travel some distance, often several miles, to secure a shipping tag from one of the authorized tagging stations.
Of course, use of scrip is not compulsory. If hunters can find farmers who won't charge for the privilege of hunting they may keep the coupons but it will be necessary for the shooter to secure other shipping tags.
The scrip plan was devised by sportsmen who desired to compensate landowners for the privilege of hunting. Recognizing that game doesn't belong to owners of land on which it may be found, there is, nevertheless, an opinion that game birds cause a slight loss to crops. This is regarded as one way to repay the farmer.
When the coupons have been signed by the hunter they are then redeemable at 50 cents each, either by the game commission or with merchants or banks. If a hunter doesn't use all his coupons he may turn them in to the commission for redemption.
The books will be on sale only at the game commission for a few days, fittingly, however, come from the printer they will be distributed to county clerks to sell. The clerks will not receive a commission.

HOOPER TO MAKE ADDRESS

Washington — President Hoover will go to Yorktown, Va., on Oct. 19 to deliver an address as part of the celebration of the one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis. It will be the first speaking engagement, except for one or two short radio talks, the president has had since he dedicated the Lincoln tomb at Springfield, Ill., June 17. In announcing that he would deliver the Yorktown address the president made public a proclamation recommending that the day fittingly observed in universities, schools and other suitable places, to the end "that patriotic lessons may be drawn from the spirit of courage and self sacrifice which animated our forefathers."
Mr. Hoover also called upon the country to hold appropriate religious ceremonies in the churches of the country on Sunday, Oct. 18.

May Ask Double Fund for Work on Upper River

War Department Is Said to Consider $4,000,000—To Aid Jobless—Hoover Interested.

Washington, Sept. 3.—A request for an increased appropriation to extend federal development of the upper Missouri river and bring nearer the realization of the great inland waterways system, will be made by the war department in its regular budget, it was indicated today.
Final approval of an increased fund, however, will depend to a great extent on the Hoover administration program for assisting the unemployed. Final approval of an increased fund, however, will depend to a great extent on the Hoover administration program for assisting the unemployed. Final approval of an increased fund, however, will depend to a great extent on the Hoover administration program for assisting the unemployed.

Up to Congress.
At any rate, reliable sources in the war department said the increase would be included in the budget which is for the next fiscal year, and which will be acted on by the December congress.
In past years, the department has spent an average of about two million dollars a year on the upper Missouri development. It is not known how much more will be asked.
From indications of the department that work could be greatly intensified with the larger appropriation, it is safe to assume that it would be double the two million dollars and perhaps more.

The attitude of army engineers in the past has been that one lower Missouri, from the Mississippi to Kansas City, should be completely developed for navigation before a major undertaking on the upper Missouri toward Omaha and Sioux City, but they are said to be ready now if the funds are provided.

Hoover Is Interested.
Work on the lower Missouri, speeded by yearly expenditures of about 15 million dollars, has progressed rapidly but engineers said that rain was sorely needed to help in the channel operations.
It is viewed by the Hoover administration's anxiety to reduce unemployment in the next year, the enlarged effort on the upper Missouri is believed here to be more likely than it has been for the past several years.

With the agricultural problem, the administration is anxious to enter as much public works relief as possible where farmers might be enlisted in government work. The upper Missouri project, however, must rest with congress.

C. OF C. TACKLES JOB PROBLEM

Washington, Sept. 3.—The unemployment problem was tackled Thursday by representatives of American industry through a committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce. The committee, headed by Henry I. Harriman of Boston, met at the chamber headquarters here to draft a report on the basis of many months of investigation.
Meanwhile, the chamber's first president, Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago banker, was organizing a committee under President Hoover's unemployment relief organization, to find means of increasing employment.

The relief organization announced a nation-wide back-to-school movement to be carried on by the churches. Director Fred C. Croxson said Protestant, Catholic and Jewish churches had pledged their co-operation.
A survey undertaken by the committee of 1,000 cities has indicated that most of them are prepared to handle their own relief problems during the coming winter.

COMMANDER OF VETERANS

Kansas City—Darold de Coe, Sacramento attorney, was nominated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the national convention to succeed Paul Wolman, Baltimore, as commander in chief. Although further nominations for all offices will be in order Friday prior to the elections, choice of De Coe is regarded as a foregone conclusion. De Coe has been active in politics since 1923. He also has been interested in veterans' affairs since his discharge from World war service.
Other nominations were: Admiral Robert E. Coontz, U. S. N., retired, senior vice commander; James Edward Van Zandt, Altoona, Pa., junior vice commander; Robert B. Handy, Kansas City, quartermaster general; George A. Henderson, Newark, and Ray McAdams, Fort Wayne, Ind., judge advocate general; Dr. Julian D. Lucas, Boston, and Dr. Harvey W. Snyder, Denver, surgeon general; Rev. Claude E. Ireland, Minneapolis, national chaplain.

DULL FARM PRICE OUTLOOK

Washington—Price pessimism was strongly reflected in the agriculture department's monthly review of the farm situation. The review said that with regard to the principal cash crops, wheat, cotton, tobacco and potatoes, the chief concern seemed to be over the probable size of the surplus for sale.
None of these crops is of record proportion, the department said, with potatoes a little below the average yield. "But the present state of the market gives farmers very little assurance." The report said prices of cattle and hogs, although low, were still high enough to allow some margin for feeding. The effects of the July heat wave were said to be evident in a reduced output of oats, barley and hay, although there was said to be ample feed in the country as a whole despite some scarcity in portions of the west and northwest.
