State Fair Income Falls Off $74,860

Main Gate, Concessions and Grandstand Return Less Cash—Not the First Misfortune

Although the exact figure that must be written across 1931 state fair records in red ink has not been determined, Secretary Jackson of the fair board has isolated the three main reasons why there will be deficit.

The three big losses: Drop in grandstand receipts from $48,658.30 last year to $19,573.40, net loss $29,083.90; drop in main gate receipts from $75,812.20 last year to $42,773.75 net loss $33,038.45; drop in concession receipts from $38,824.39 in 1930 to $26,086.03, a net loss of $12,738.36.

Compared with last year's receipts, the total loss on these three items alone was $74,860.71. While receipts were being reduced approximately 50 percent, the board put out $1,296.65 more in premiums. Another item of loss was the rebuilding of a horse barn which burned down before the fair, costing the board $1,000.

Both the depression and the heat were blamed by Secretary Jackson for the loss in income. This had been anticipated to a certain extent, but not in the degree that final results revealed.

However, this isn't the first year that the Nebraska fair has met misfortune. Jackson recalled that in the spring of 1920 the cattle barn was destroyed by fire. Lacking funds, the board was given aid by Lincoln citizens whom thru the Central National bank, arranged for financing $166,000 for rebuilding. The 1931 legislature appropriated money to pay off the debt.

In the summers of 1925 and 1926 the fair was left in debt to the same bank in the amount of $40,000. In 1927 this was paid in full. The years 1928 and 1929 were fairly rosy ones, with no debts and no interest to be met. Again in 1930 the board borrowed $25,000 from the First National bank for the purchase of land but before this year's fair started that amount was paid off, the legislature again having acted.

Amount of the actual deficit that will result from the 1931 fair has not been revealed. The board was still sending our premium checks last week.

LAND OF MILK AND HONEY. Omaha—Returning Sunday from a four month European tour, former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, Omaha publisher described the United States as "land of milk and honey."

"I believe we complain more here, however than they do in Europe about their plight," he commented. "I noted in talks with officials who are in a position to know that international affairs point to some sort of adjustment of armaments, for taxation everywhere has reached tremendous proportions in Great Britain, France, Germany and Italy."

Concerning Germany's financial situation he said, "I do not see how it is possible for the country to pay the reparations that have been fixed under the Young plan short of enslavement of the entire population for two generations." Former Senator and Mrs. Hitchcock visited Germany, Czechoslovakia, and Austria on their tour.

Senator in 1930. Lindy and the ambassador's daughter are now in Shanghai, after a flight across Canada, and down the Siberian coast and a friendly visit in Japan.

Mr. Morrow, returning from Mexico, was elected senator from New Jersey in 1930, in a campaign in which he aligned himself with the forces asking for repeal of the prohibition amendment.

The senator was born January 11, 1873. He was 53 years old at the time of death.—World-Herald.

STORE OWNER BOUND OVER. Papillion—Anders Kausgaard, Bellevue, general store owner, was bound over for trial in district court on a charge of receiving stolen property after preliminary hearing in county court here.

Kausgaard was charged with receiving property stolen by Mr. and Mrs. Virgin Wheeler and Leroy Garrow, all of Omaha, from a store at Ceresco. County officers said there was also evidence to connect him with the purchase of property stolen by the trio elsewhere.

Garrow testified he had received $133 from Kausgaard for the lot of several robberies. At Pleasant Dale groceries were taken; at Milford a cigar store was robbed, and at Ceresco a clothing store was looted. Testimony indicated the price Garrow said he was paid was about 40 percent of the wholesale value.

Garrow is still held by the sheriff of Seward county. Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler pleaded guilty and are serving one to three year terms.

Kausgaard, who admitted he had bought some goods from Garrow, was arraigned two weeks ago in justice court on the Milford charge and released. State Sheriff Endres at that time said the release was entirely unjustified and filed the new charge. The burglaries all occurred in August.

LINDBERGH ARE ADVISED

Shanghai—The British naval wireless carried news of the death of Senator Morrow to his daughter and son-in-law, Anne and Charles Lindbergh, aboard the British aircraft carrier Hermes early Tuesday.

The Hermes was steaming slowly down the Yangtze estuary from Nanking and was scheduled to arrive at Wooming at the mouth of the Whangpoo river, near Shanghai at 5 a. m. Previously it was planned for the Hermes to remain overnight at Wooming, with the Lindberghs staying aboard, and to proceed to Shanghai Tuesday, but plans were uncertain in view of Senator Morrow's death.

Dwight Morrow is Found Dead in Bed at Home

Cerebral Hemorrhage Fatal to New Jersey Senator—His Daughter, Anne, in China

New York, Oct. 5.—Senator Dwight W. Morrow died at 1:52 o'clock this afternoon of a cerebral hemorrhage in his home at Englewood, N. J.

A brief announcement of Senator Morrow's death was issued from his office here merely giving the fact and place of his death and saying his passing was peaceful.

Meadville, Pa., Oct. 5.—Senator Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey was found dead today in bed at his home in Englewood, N. J., his sister, Mrs. E. L. McVaine, said she was informed in a long distance telephone call from her niece.

Mrs. McVaine said she received a telephone call from Mrs. Rebecca Greathouse, her niece and a Washington, D. C., attorney, telling her that Senator Morrow could not be aroused from sleep this morning.

Senator Morrow spoke at a meeting of the Jewish Philanthropic society in the Commodore hotel in New York last night, Mrs. McVaine said. Mrs. McVaine is the wife of a Presbyterian minister here.

Friend of Coolidge. Calvin Coolidge, as a senator in Amherst in 1895, named Dwight Morrow as the "man most likely to succeed." His estimate was vindicated by Mr. Morrow's successful career, first in law, then as a member of the banking firm of J. P. Morgan & Co. and as adviser to the Allied War-time Transport Council in the world war days of 1918.

Coolidge appointed Mr. Morrow ambassador to Mexico in 1927. In Mexico he is credited with restoring confidence between the two countries, and after the Catholic division in Mexico, bringing about the peace pact between the government and the Papal hierarchy.

During his time in Mexico Charles A. Lindbergh flew there on his Pan-American good will tour and it was there that the romance sprang up between Anne Morrow and Lindy that resulted in the marriage May 27, 1929.

Senator in 1930. Lindy and the ambassador's daughter are now in Shanghai, after a flight across Canada, and down the Siberian coast and a friendly visit in Japan.

Northwestern Machine Defeats Cornhuskers

Contenders for Big Ten Title Assert Power Against the Nebraskans Saturday

Evanston, Ill.—Either spellbound by the 40,000 customers of the line crushing attack of the Northwestern Wildcats, Nebraska's Cornhuskers bowed before the Purple 18 to 7, the Big Ten champions running up their three touchdowns in the first ten minutes of the first quarter here Saturday.

The bull like charges of Pug Renner and a sophomore husk named Ken Means who appears bigger than Dave Noble, gave the Wildcats a touchdown before the customers were hardly seated, the first coming after five plays. All of the scoring was confined to the first half. That first touchdown was as the result of a short forward pass, Pitter and Fencil, who then passed laterally to Renner. It gained thirty-eight yards. It appeared from the stands that Durkee, Husker right end, had both arms around Fencil when he passed but the officials did not call it.

To make it more disheartening, soon after the next kickoff, Renner, who confined his offensive tactics last year to passing, swung around left end, and came back to completely cross up the Husker secondary. He ran sixty-six yards to a touchdown without a hand being laid on him. At that time, it appeared like a terrifically long afternoon for the Huskers.

Russell Under Wraps. The Scarlet had come out prepared to stop Red Russell and thus far he hadn't put a finger on the ball on a running play. And Northwestern had two touchdowns. It certainly appeared like a rout from any way that you could look at it. Imagine the chagrin when, on the first play, after the next kickoff, that pest Meenan, the big sophomore, intercepted Sauer's pass and ran twenty-eight yards to a touchdown. Quite a few Nebraskans were getting a touch of nausea.

Then, with less than ten minutes of the first quarter gone, the Huskers found their sea legs and while they were outplayed most of the remainder of the game they managed to keep the Purple from scoring again and took away some of the sting by putting over a touchdown of their own.

The rushing attack of the Huskers folded up pretty badly before these big satin pantied Purple line-men. As the second quarter started Coach Bible sent in nine fresh Huskers and this crew injected some life into the situation. Corwyn Hulbert recovered a fumble by Meenan on the Purple 26-yard line. A pass, Sauer to Nesmith was good for twenty-one yards which placed the ball on the Purple 4-yard line. Three shots at the line netted two yards. Sauer then planted a pass in Boswell's tummy for the line Husker marker. Masterson immediately converted with a place kick and there was the ball game insofar as the scoring was concerned.
