

Nehawka

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Troop and their son, Earl Troop were called to Lincoln to look after some business and also were visiting there with relatives.

Wm. Crouch, son of Jasper Crouch is attending school at Plattsmouth but was visiting on Monday of this week, Mr. Campbell over the week end.

Edward and Charles Howard and Tommy Troop were visiting with their friends in Omaha for the day on last Monday, they driving over to the big town.

Edwina Murray and the wife were over to Plattsmouth on last Saturday where they were called to look after some business matters and were visiting with their friends as well as looking after some shopping.

John Campbell and C. M. Christweiser shined their corn on Monday of this week, Mr. Campbell selling his while Mr. Christweiser having some need of his share has binned it and will have it to feed cattle with.

Mrs. Kingley Shephardson of Epokane, Washington arrived in the vicinity of Nehawka last week and has been visiting with friends and relatives, being a sister-in-law of Glen Valley of Plattsmouth at which place she also was visiting. She formerly resided here but has been away for a number of years and her visit here is very pleasing.

John W. Lloyd has been quite busy during the past week cutting and hauling wood to his home in Nehawka, seeing in a roadway a lot of trees which cluttered up the road, asked permission of the owner of the premises who gave permission and Mr. Lloyd has been busy clearing and cleaning up the roadway and also making wood for the winter.

Robert A. Troop of west of Myriad was a visitor at the northern portion of the state, near Harting, where he went to purchase some feeding pigs or shoats which he expects to fatten for the market. He departed on last Monday morning, driving in his car, and expected to be away for a few days or until he should find what he is seeking. Thomas Moore, better known by some other name, who has been making his home in the eastern portion of Cass county, and who has often visited at Nehawka and nearby vicinity, was offered a home at the county home last week, but refusing, departed for his home which he will expect to spend the winter. We are hoping he will find pleasant quarters.

George Troop who with the wife have been staying near Denver for the benefit of the wife's health, where she is receiving treatment for her lungs which are slightly affected, was a visitor in this vicinity, visiting at the home of his father, W. O. Troop, bringing a few cars of cattle to market for shippers at Denver, returned to the west on last Saturday to look after the wife.

W. A. Lewis of near Colodge, accompanied by his son, Willard, arrived at Nehawka and vicinity on last Saturday where they visited for a short time after which they went on down to Falls City, where they were expecting to purchase a trailer load of apples and candy which they could in their auto besides which they are to take to Colodge as the apples are rather scarce in that vicinity.

Messrs. A. A. McReynolds, Robert Reynolds, Robert Black, Harry Knabe and Fred Miller, who were in Plattsmouth on last Thursday when the hearing of the parties who visited the school houses were heard and the sentence pronounced. This incident has created much interest and many expressions have been made in Iowa, and what the punishment should be. It was the imprisonment, with parole to the officers and with a number of conditions which will be better understood as the time goes on.

Mrs. M. R. Bell of near Colodge, where they had a saw mill for many years and a cousin of Mrs. W. A. Lewis, Will and Charles Troop of this vicinity and whom they had never met until recently. Mr. W. O. Troop seeing news in the paper relative to the ones engaged in the cow testing war in Iowa, wrote to the man and found out that they were cousins of the Troops here and was informed that a sister, Mrs. Bell, resided at Laurel, Nebraska, and Mrs. Lewis, who is a sister of Mr. W. O. Troop went and met their cousin, whom they had never seen. They all were much pleased to have found each other.

Establishing Saw Mill.
Forest R. Cunningham who is a hustler when it comes to work in any line and who has been engaged in the operation of a saw mill for the manufacture of native lumber, has established his mill near the cold storage building near where Oscar Shrader resides and will there receive logs and saw them into lumber for all who care for his services.

Locking for Pheasant.
Harry McVey with his car and accompanied by Fred Miller on last Monday morning departed for the northern portion of the state where they went to be at the time the pheasant season should open so they could get a good opportunity to get some of the festive birds. There are so many of them this year it looks like there would be plenty for all who might desire to get them and also a few for their friends as well.

County Bankers Meet Here.
The Cass County Banking Association met in Nehawka on last Monday as the banks were closed for Columbus day. During the day they enjoyed the work looking after the business of the association and in the evening were served with a banquet for themselves and their wives by the American Legion Auxiliary. A very pleasant time was enjoyed notwithstanding the rain fell most of the afternoon and evening. V. P.

Sheldon, mayor of Nehawka made the address of welcome, asking that all make themselves at home and enjoy the hospitality of the bustling city of Nehawka.

Neighbor Asks for Help.
A phone call came from Avoca to the American Legion members of Nehawka on last Monday about the noon hour asking that all of the members of the American Legion that could come over to Avoca and assist in capture of a demented man which was lurking in that vicinity. As we left for Murray, there was preparations being made for a number of the boys to go over and assist their neighboring city.

American Legion Elects Officers.
At the last meeting of the American Legion last week, among other things they elected officers for the coming term, the election resulting in the following officers: Clifford Trotter, commander; W. H. Kruger, adjutant and Thomas Mason finance officer. They will appoint their subordinates.

BREWSTER COUPLE PARTED
Hollywood—The ten year old romance of Eugene V. Brewster, formerly wealthy magazine editor, and beautiful Corlis Palmer of Georgia, which ran a course from a New York mansion to a Hollywood cottage and bankruptcy, was declared hopelessly ended by Brewster. Brewster, whose wealth one time was referred to as "Brewster's millions," elaborated on the cause he holds responsible for his separation from the girl he met ten years ago after she had won a beauty contest conducted by one of his motion picture magazines. He summed the reasons as difference in age and desire for dissimilar career. The situation contains no third person, he said.
Miss Palmer, who for the last four months has been living in a Hollywood apartment with her mother, was cautious in her comment on Brewster's statements. She disclaimed knowledge of a permanent separation.
"I know nothing of any plans for a divorce," she said. "My mother was ill and I came here to take care of her." Then she added cryptically, "If Mr. Brewster says we are separated, he will have to sell me a bill of goods."
Brewster is now dependent on his income as an author's agent. He said the separation was agreed on when it became necessary for him to enter bankruptcy last summer, but he denied that lack of money was a factor in changing their relations.

PROTEST MARCH ON LONDON
London—An estimated 100,000 civil servants, with their wives, children and sympathizers, staged one of the greatest and most moving demonstrations of London's long history Sunday along the banks of the Thames, protesting cuts in their wages under the new economy regime. They marched to the music of twenty bands and to the waving of hundreds of banners. The long parade formed near the temple, and taking an hour to pass a nearby corner, proceeded to Hyde park, where a dozen orators made speeches. Hundreds of mounted police and "bobbies" on foot kept the lines moving, but there was no disorder. A small group of several thousand communists marched with the civil servants, however, taxed the best efforts of some three hundred policemen who had sought to prevent disturbances. Members of this group several times broke out of the parade line, dashed up to the windows of homes and hotels from which people were watching and shouted threats until they were pulled back into line by the police.
The communists carried red flags with the sickle and hammer emblem and large banners on which were pictures of Lenin.

State Husking Meet Arranged; Many Entrants

Corn Pickers of State to Vie at Schuyler November 9th for the Championship.

The Nebraska state cornhusking contest will be held on the Robert Shonka farm, four miles west of Schuyler in Colfax county, on November 9, according to an announcement by the Nebraska Farmer which sponsors the event. The Schuyler chamber of commerce, co-operating with Lewis F. Boyden, county extension agent of Colfax county, will direct the local organization which will have charge of the contest. The Shonka farm is located on the paved Lincoln highway. The contest field is 70 acres in size of listed, yellow corn with north and south rows, and yielding from 45 to 50 bushels per acre.

The huskers in the state contest will compete for $200 in cash prizes. These prizes will be divided five ways $100 going to the state champion; $50 to second place man; $25 to third, and $15 and $10 to fourth and fifth places, respectively. The state champion will have his expenses paid to the national contest, where another $200 in prizes is offered. Second high man is permitted to enter the national at his own expense.

This year's national contest will be held in central Iowa on November 13. The following eight states will participate: Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio.

Already 21 counties have announced their intentions to hold a county contest this fall. The dates are as follows:

LINDBERGH HOME FINISHED
Trenton, N. J.—When the Lindberghs, Charles and Anne, return to New Jersey from their abandoned world fight, they will find their new home on Sourland mountain ready for occupancy. With the exterior completed, workmen are now making their final touches to the interior and expect to have the ten room Tudor stone house in order within three weeks.
Whatever are the contents of the large, white building, which from some directions can be seen for miles, only the workmen and a few inmates can tell—and they won't. Outside the door stands a sign informing those who have driven over the steep, narrow and rocky road that leads to the Lindberghs' new estate, that no visitors are allowed inside.
All day and night, the new home is guarded by watchmen who are polite to visitors, but rarely give direct answers to questions.
In the "front yard" of the 550 acre tract is located the flying colonel's private landing field.
Colonel Lindbergh and his wife chose this home site from the sky soon after their marriage. It is situated too high for fogs and faces the busiest air lane in the world, between Newark and Camden. In the distance, beacons of two airports flash at night.

FULL PAYMENT IS ASKED
Washington—Several groups of veterans plan to lay up a stock of pressure to apply on the new congress for full payment of adjusted compensation certificates. Representative Patman of Texas announced the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans and some minor former service men's groups will conduct a sixty day nationwide campaign to get 10,000,000 names on petitions asking the certificates be paid.
Patman has advocated cash payment since he entered congress in 1928. He said he already had received many petitions for submission to congress in December. Tuesday the Texan will confer with Darold Decece of Sacramento, national commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and James E. Van Zandt of Washington, vice commander, on plans to press legislation calling for full payment.

TO CHRISTEN FLYING BOAT
Washington—A giant airliner, America's largest flying boat and the world's largest amphibian, will be christened the American Clipper Monday by Mrs. Hoover. For the second time within two months, the first lady of the land will sponsor a gigantic product of the nation's aeronautics. First it was the U. S. S. Akron, lighter-than-air queen of the skies, and now it will be a Sikorsky S-40. Mrs. Hoover will christen the S-40 with a bottle of set water from the Caribbean over which the big plane will fly in regular service for Pan-American Airways.
The ceremonies will begin at 2:30 p. m. with Juan T. Tripple, president of Pan-American Airways presiding. Other speakers will include Orveto Ferrara, Cuban ambassador and Postmaster General Brown.

Harold F. McCormick is Granted Divorce

Chicago Court Severs Matrimonial Bonds of Millionaire and Ganna Walska

Chicago—Harold F. McCormick and Ganna Walska parted ways amicably Saturday. The ten year opera born romance of the millionaire head of the International Harvester company and the Polish prima donna was severed after a ten minute divorce hearing before Judge Daniel Trade. The charge was desertion. Mr. McCormick was the only principal in court. Mme. Walska, who always preferred the continent to Chicago is at her chateau Calluis, near Versailles.
Mme. Walska was thrice married before. Mr. McCormick's first wife was Edith Rockefeller daughter of John D. Rockefeller. They were divorced in 1921. The divorce was the climax of a decade of incompatibility. Mme. Walska shook off the rigors of a Chicago winter in March, 1929, and returned to Paris. Mr. McCormick has not been abroad since.
Last January a separation was agreed upon and Saturday saw its consummation. Mme. Walska received no property settlement or alimony. Several thousand dollars in mutually owned personal property was divided last January.
At his Rush street mansion Mr. McCormick made this statement: "I am very sorry this all had to happen. Our lives were along essentially separate paths. Mme. Walska has my sincere admiration and respect. I wish her every happiness."
The divorce was the third marital event of the year for the McCormick family. Fowler McCormick, son of the harvester millionaire, and Mrs. Rockefeller, McCormick, married Mrs. Anna U. "Fifi" Stillman former wife of James A. Stillman, New York banker, soon after the famed beauty of New Orleans obtained a secret divorce in White Plains, N. Y. Muriel McCormick, after futilely pursuing a dramatic career, was married a month ago to Major Elisha D. Hubbard of Middleton, Conn., many years her senior. Another daughter, Mathilde, was married several years ago to Max Osler, a Swiss riding master.—State Journal.

TAYLOR COUNTY PROJECTS SET
Bedford, Ia., Oct. 12.—The Taylor county farm bureau will concentrate upon five major projects during 1931—organization, boys and girls clubs, home project work, soil management and weed eradication—it was announced Monday by County Agent T. H. Isaac.
Under organization, the bureau has set a goal of 85 local leaders, plans an achievement day when prizes will be given, and pledged co-operation with the Community club and Taylor County Agriculture association.
The bureau hopes to organize eight boys and girls clubs with a total membership of 125. On achievement day the club exhibiting the best achievements will be selected to represent the county at the state fair.
Home project work consists of plans for the beautifying of the home during the year. There will be demonstrations of house cleaning methods, a step saving kitchen, finishes and furnishings for the kitchen laundry methods, house sanitation and door and yard improvements.
The county agent will conduct the soil management projects and demonstrate terracing and tree planting to prevent erosion, how to fertilize and what kind of fertilizers to use, and circulate petitions to have a soil survey made in Taylor county.
The bureau will hold county-wide meetings and demonstrations to discuss weed eradication.
In addition to the five major projects, the bureau hopes to work out a plan of co-operative marketing. A committee has been appointed to investigate the plan.

ASK BIDS ON ADDITION TO NORFOLK HOSPITAL
Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 10.—Harry Thorpe, chairman of the state board of control, today said the board November 3 will receive bids for the construction of three additional units to the Norfolk state hospital.
Two units were constructed in 1929-1930 and 25 thousand dollars remained in the treasury after this work was completed.
The 1931 legislature appropriated 70 thousand dollars to add to the 25 thousand dollars.

CANCELLATION IS OPPOSED
New York—The theory that cancellation of war debts to the United States would be a good business policy was assailed by Bainbridge Colby, former secretary of state.
"The remission of the European debts," Colby said, "will not cure the world situation nor will it benefit us. The money we forego would be quickly swallowed up in the race for armaments and other forms of national waste."
Colby charged that bankers and "tariff protected" manufacturers were responsible for agitation to cancel the debts. Such a step, he asserted, would force American taxpayers to pay "a great part of Europe's war costs in addition to our own."

CAPONE TO REOPEN HIS SOUP KITCHEN
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 12.—Although he is facing the possibility of a long term in prison, Scarface Al Capone announced today that he would reopen and operate his free soup kitchen this winter, beginning November 15.
Last winter his kitchen fed thousands, at an estimated cost of 50 thousand dollars.
The soup, coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches are dispensed by hard-faced men. No questions are asked, answered and the free food must be eaten on the premises except in some rare cases where a man is permitted to take portions home to a famished family.

KILLED IN AUTO MISHAP
Winnipeg—F. J. Anderson of Winnipeg, president of the British Empire Grain company was killed, and Ernest S. Parke of Winnipeg, president of the Parker Grain company, seriously injured in an automobile crash late Saturday night near Warren, Minn.

Prosecution Rests in Capone Tax Hearing

Asks for Delay So That It May Summon Witnesses—Directed Verdict Also Sought.

Chicago—The United States government finished presentation Tuesday of its mass of evidence intended to show that Al Capone was guilty of income tax evasion. When the sketn of evidence is knit together in the final four hours of argument the court will allot each side, the government hopes to convince the jury that Capone must go to prison.
The defense, professing surprise at the conclusion of the prosecution case, asked an adjournment for two days to prepare itself. But Judge Wilkerson declined to allow the long delay and ordered Defense Attorney Ahern and Albert Fink to be ready at 10 a. m. Wednesday.
The court's last act before adjournment was to overrule a defense motion for a directed verdict of acquittal. At the evidence in the record has met objections from the defense on the grounds that it does not show income of the defendant. If found guilty, Capone may possibly receive a sentence which would keep him behind the walls of Leavenworth penitentiary twenty years.

The defense attorneys pleaded long and vigorously for more time. Judge Wilkerson replied: "Consider the jury and the crowded conditions of the courts."
"I may decide to bring several witnesses here from New York and other places of considerable distance," said Attorney Fink. "One of the witnesses might be summoned from Washington, another from Philadelphia."
Long Time is Wanted.
Attorney Fink then proposed that each side be allotted ten hours for closing arguments. The government objected and Judge Wilkerson said he saw no reason for "taking up four court days with the arguments." He decided that four hours would be "ample time" for each side.
"We plan to ask for a directed verdict," Fink then said, "but I suppose your honor would wish to hear no such arguments."
"I would consider such a motion," the judge said. But he replied "motion overruled" when the motion was actually made.
Objection of the defense to practically every line of evidence entered by the government could be used by the attorney in demanding a new trial, legal authorities said. A final sweeping objection was made by Attorney Ahern to practically everything in the record.
Additional evidence was given Tuesday afternoon concerning what was known as "Capone's gambling joints" in Cicero. But in previous testimony concerning the gambling establishments, no direct evidence was given that the profits from the enterprises reached Capone's pockets.—State Journal.

WEALTH KEEPS PILING UP
New York—Everything about her seems to turn to gold—a million's worth now. The latest item in the life of Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood, ninety-three year old reclus, once a Victorian Belle, is a will leaving her $3,000. That adds to the $400,000 found hoarded in her room a week ago; $50,000 found on her belt concealed beneath a voluminous dress, and $71,000 left to her by a sister, Mary E. Mayfield.
The $3,000 was bequeathed by the aged woman's daughter, Emma Wood, who died in 1928. It, too, was among the hoarded trinkets and was found while Mrs. Wood slept. Otis F. Wood, nephew, who was appointed guardian by a court, asked the surrogate court to name him executor of Emma Wood's estate.

Mrs. Morrow Competent To Hold Senate Seat

She Has Wonderful Background of Association with State, National and International Politics. Would Be Second Woman Senator.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morrow

Trenton, N. J., Oct. 13.—Should Gov. Morgan A. Larson of New Jersey accede to the demand, hourly growing in popularity, that Mrs. Elizabeth Morrow be appointed to the seat in the United States Senate, recently vacated by the death of her husband, and send the Senator's widow to represent her State at Washington, Mrs. Morrow will be the second woman in the country's history to hold such a position.
Apart from the sentimental aspect of such an appointment, the constituents of New Jersey could hardly find a candidate more worthy to fill the place of its popular representative than his widow. For Mrs. Morrow is not unacquainted with politics and her long association with the late Senator has done much to give her a comprehensive grasp of international and national affairs totally lacking in many of the so-called logical successors to Dwight Morrow.

During her husband's Senatorial campaign last year, Mrs. Morrow made many masterful speeches to women's clubs via the radio, and in the primary campaign spoke in 19 of the State's 21 counties. In all her addresses, Mrs. Morrow showed an intimate knowledge of State, National and International issues, as well as a keen understanding of human problems closely approaching that for which her popular husband had been renowned.
To those who are closely connected with the Morrow family Mrs. Morrow's intimacy with the higher plane of politics is not surprising. While at Smith College she edited the college paper and later taught English, French and history. On her marriage to Dwight Morrow, she embarked upon a career that took her behind the scenes in mighty international financial deals, diplomacy and politics.

Even in the busy years when her husband was a J. P. Morgan & Co. partner, Ambassador to Mexico and representative of this country in many international conferences, Mrs. Morrow found time to take an active part in these intricate affairs, despite the pressure of social obligations.
As an organizer, too, Mrs. Morrow has had experience. During the World War she organized the Smith College Relief Unit, the first woman's unit to go overseas.
So New Jersey will not be getting a political squeaker in Gov. Larson appoints Mrs. Morrow to take up the reins death snatched from the hands of her husband. It will get a representative who can better carry on the late Senator's work than many a dyed-in-the-wool politician.
The only other woman to sit in the United States Senate was Mrs. Rebecca Latimer Felton, who, upon appointment, held a Senatorship for Georgia for 22 hours. During that brief time she made a speech that attracted national interest.
Mrs. Morrow's appointment is being urged not only by the masses of New Jersey, but by many of the political leaders of the State, among them David Baird, Jr., Republican candidate for Governor.

FIVE M'COOK HUNTERS JUMP GUN; FINED $165
McCook—Fines and costs approximately $165 were assessed in court here Monday on five McCook men on charges of killing pheasants out of season. The season opens Tuesday at 7 a. m. Deputy State Game Warden Sinner and Snyder made the arrests and confiscated the hunters' guns. The officers said the hunters had four birds.
