PREPARE FINE ESSAYS

At the St. John's parochial school in this city a number of the students were requested to prepare essays on Christopher Columbus and Columbus day, the result being that a large number of excellent papers were turned in to the sisters and after the examination of all of the essays, those of John Clويد, Jr., and Joseph Kvapil, Jr., were adjudged the best. These two essays were read at the Knights of Columbus meeting on Sunday evening and surprised the members of the order at the fine manner in which the topic had been handled by these two young lads.

Guy F. Heil Asks This Amount of A. A. Jackman of Louisville for Wreck West of This City

From Wednesday's Daily—
This morning a suit was filed in the county court by Guy F. Heil of west of this city against A. A. Jackman of Louisville. The action is one for damages for an auto accident which occurred seven miles west of this city on the Plattsmouth-Louisville road, September 29th.

The petition of Mr. Heil states that on September 29th at about 8:15 p. m. the plaintiff with his wife, Mable F. Heil, were driving east on the highway, going at a very reasonable rate of speed, that the defendant, Mr. Jackman, was driving a car west on the road at the same time, the plaintiff drove his car as far to the right hand side of the road as possible to avoid being hit, but that the car of Mr. Jackman crashed into that of the plaintiff.

The plaintiff asks the sum of $250 for repairs to the auto, a Durant coupe, and also asks $750 damages which is alleged was suffered by Mrs. Heil in personal injuries received in the accident.

It is desired to have judgment given for $1,000 damages to the plaintiff and such other and equitable relief.

The plaintiff is represented in the action by the firm of Dwyer and Dwyer of this city.

Learn to Make Soap.

The women of Cass county will have the opportunity of learning new ways of making their own soap economically. Miss Martha A. Rath will be in the county October 26 and 27 for public demonstrations on soap making. Arrangements are being made for four demonstrations.

Watch the papers next week for place, date and time of these demonstrations.

Miss Rath says that the object of her demonstration is to take guess work out of soap making and place it on a scientific basis. She also says that when homemakers understand the principles of soap making, they can be sure of securing high grade quality of neutral soap for toilet and other household purposes.

Those who wish to come to the demonstration are asked to bring any stain problems and Miss Rath will show how to remove stains without harmful effect to the fabric. Bring the table cloth which has the mildew stains, or perhaps that new school apron with the ink stain.

This demonstration is one to the public and every homemaker of Cass county is urged to attend the demonstration most convenient for her.

Lamb Cutting Demonstration.

Max O. Cullen will give two lamb cutting demonstrations at Plattsmouth on Wednesday, October 28th. Cullen represents the National Livestock and Meat Board. He is giving a series of demonstrations in Nebraska at the request of the Colorado-Nebraska Lamb Producers Association. One representative of the University of Nebraska animal husbandry department will be with Mr. Cullen to assist with the demonstration.

Mr. Cullen will start with a lamb carcass on a special exhibit rack. He will show how the meat market men cut up the carcass to sell it at the best advantage and also how the housewife can prepare the cuts of meat for the table. When he has finished with his demonstration the lamb carcass will be converted into such cuts as boned-in neck, duck, shoulder chops, Saratoga chops, crown roast, rib chops, English chops, loin chops, center steaks from the leg of mutton, and American leg of mutton.

Most of the Nebraska meat market men say they are better off selling the leg of mutton, loins and chops, and that they must set the price on these cuts high enough to pay for the entire carcass because most customers do not care for other cuts of lamb. When the local market men are able to furnish all the various cuts which Mr. Cullen will demonstrate, the lamb producers believe there will be a better demand for their product. The series of demonstrations are to start with an exhibit at the Food Show at Lincoln and close with another exhibit at the Ak-Sar-Bee livestock show in Omaha. Seventeen of the 21 men on the livestock and meat board are producers. Dan Hildebrand of Seward, W. B. Tagg of Omaha are the two Nebraska men on the board. H. W. Farr, of Greeley, Colo., S. K. Warrick, Scottsbluff, and J. C. Mager of Centuria, City are among the leading lamb feeders interested in the Colorado-Nebraska organization.

Farmers See Results of Hybrid Corn Plots

One hundred and four Cass County farmers attended the result demonstration of corn varieties at the Carl Day farm, south of Weeping Water, Friday, October 9.

Twenty-six varieties of corn, fifteen of which were hybrids, were in the plots. Four rows of each variety were planted in a plot and a yield test taken for comparison.

The average of all the plots was 25 1/2 bushels per acre.

The highest yielding plot was Funk Bros. Seed Company's Hybrid No. 334 which yielded 33 bushels per acre. The highest yielding common variety was Pfister Krug's yellow which yielded 30 bushels per acre. This variety came from Mr. Krug in Illinois, and has been a high yielding variety in the plots for several years. A field test was taken in the Edwin Steckley field that adjoins Mr. Day and the Krug corn he had planted there run 55 bushels per acre.

This field was protected some from the wind and was not nearly so thick as the corn in the plots.

Only six of the hybrid plots were large enough to get a test on, but the average of these six was 26 1/2 bushels per acre, or 1 1/2 bushel above the average of the entire lot. The lowest hybrid plot only yielded 21 bushels.

These results clearly bear out the statement Paul Stewart, agronomist from the College of Agriculture, made at the meeting, "If you were sure of getting one of the high yielding hybrids every time, you could afford to buy it, but there are too many chances of getting the low yielding ones yet."

The outstanding comparison of the plots was in the common varieties. One plot yielded 19 1/2 bushels. This was a very rough type of corn with a chaffy kernel and large cob. Beside it was the Krug yellow with a smooth, starchy, glossy, very deep kernel that yielded 33 bushels.

The big idea gained from the entire demonstration was, why gamble several dollars per bushel on an unproven hybrid seed when our local varieties yield about as much as the best hybrids.

At the close of the meeting a ballot vote was taken on the price of corn husking. The results were 2 1/2 cents, where it is to be elevated and 3 cents when unloaded with a scoop. Figures taken at three other meetings in different parts of the county last week were 2 1/2 and 3 cents.

Damage Suit for $50,000 is Filed Today

Clay Snodgrass Asks Large Sum from Missouri Pacific and the Frankman Bros. Co.

From Tuesday's Daily—
A damage suit for $50,000 was filed today in the office of the clerk of the district court, Clay Snodgrass, a resident of Missouri, asking this sum for injuries that he alleged were caused by the neglect and fault of the Missouri Pacific railroad and the Frankman Brothers Bridge & Construction Co.

In the petition filed by the law firm of Trusty & Pugh and Thomas C. Swanson of Kansas City and W. A. Robertson of this city, it is stated that the plaintiff, Mr. Snodgrass, was riding on an eastbound motor driven section car on the right of way of the Missouri Pacific railroad between Cole Junction and Sandy Hook, Missouri, on July 7, 1930. It is also alleged that the defendant railroad had allowed another motor car to be on the line, traveling west at the same time as that of the plaintiff, and that the two cars collided five miles east of Sandy Hook and with the result that the plaintiff received permanent injuries of a very severe nature and which has incapacitated him from duty. It is claimed that the railroad was at fault in that regard and the motor cars on the track at the same time without warning them of the presence of each other. The car striking that on which Mr. Snodgrass was riding was the property of the Frankman Brothers Co., and driven by James Fors, and the construction company is now engaged in some construction work for the Missouri Pacific railroad in this county and for this reason the action was filed in Cass county.

There has been an association of a number of capitalists in the formation of what is to be known as the Terman Farm Inc., and which is being sponsored by Frank S. Clarke, of Omaha, Charles I. Long and Walter S. Briggs and Mrs. Terrence Pitman and Fred P. DeVore. They will use the farm of Mrs. Pitman, who is secretary and treasurer of the company, the farm being located three miles west and one mile north of Murray. The other officers being Frank S. Clarke, president; Charles I. Long, vice president; Walter S. Briggs, manager; Fred P. DeVore, member of the advisory board, and Mrs. Pitman, secretary-treasurer. They have now under construction the first unit of their battery of units which will make a colony of the houses which they will build in the coming spring or late winter. The first unit is 26 by 42 feet. The object of the company is to breed a fine strain of Duroc Jersey swine, and they will have to supply the needs of such farmers as desire to engage in the breeding and growing of this celebrated line of porkers. Mr. J. I. Warlick has been farming the place heretofore and will remain until in the winter as occupant of the place. New buildings will be erected in the coming spring.

RAIN HOLDS UP WORKOUTS

The Plattsmouth high school football team have been kept from their usual daily workouts at the Athletic park the past few days owing to the rain that made impossible the practice scrimmage. The team, however, have had some indoor workouts that have kept the players up to the training standard in anticipation of the game Friday afternoon at Ashland.

The team came through the hard game with Falls City without any serious injury, despite the grueling attacks of the visitors, being in the best shape physically for the battle with the Ashland warriors.

The clearing weather gives promise of a dry and fast field at Ashland that should make the going good for the Platter backfield men in the forthcoming battle.

The second team are to journey to Omaha Thursday afternoon to play the North High seconds, a game that will give the Junior Platters a fine chance to show their wares, being the first full time game that the younger players have had this season.

RECOVERING FROM FLU

Sheriff Bert Reed, who has for the past several days been a sufferer from intestinal flu, is somewhat improved and is able to be at the office for a part of the time. Sheriff Reed has not been in the best of health for the last few months, which with the large amount of work that has been handled in the office in recent weeks has been followed by the attack of the flu, making it necessary for his taking treatment.

HUCKINSES FACING TRIAL

Cedar Rapids, Ia.—Another chapter in the legal history of George and Elmer Huckins, father and son accused of operating an investment scheme paying reputed dividends of from 25 to 52 percent, started with the attempted retrial of George and finished with the calling of the elder Huckins to trial. The case of George Huckins, who obtained a retrial, was moved to Anamosa on a change of venue after defense attorneys argued they could not obtain a fair trial in Cedar Rapids from Judge Moffitt. Judge Moffitt then called up the case of the elder Huckins after ordering the change of venue.

Defense attorneys were unable to present the defendant, who they said, was in Chicago, and Judge Moffitt ordered Elmer Huckins' appearance bond of $2,500 forfeited after overruling motions for continuance. Further complicating the swift movement of events was the service of a federal warrant on George Huckins charging him with using the mails to defraud. The charge was returned by a federal grand jury in Milwaukee, where the operations of the Huckinses have been under scrutiny by authorities for two years. The charge against the elder Huckins is the second of three counts of false pretenses.

Some people are born great, others achieve greatness, and still others understand what this economic crisis is all about.
