The picking of corn is becoming general and with the results that some are disappointed as to the yield, it not making as much as is desired, and others because it is making more than they had expected.

Mrs. Z. W. Shradler has been in very poor health for the past few days. Her many friends are pleased to know of her improvement.

Just recently Parr Young received from the Omaha stock yards some two hundred feeders which he is putting into his feeding yards, and will fatten the same for returning to the market. Mr. Young has made a business of the matter of feeding cattle, giving very close study to the line and has proven by his successes that he has a very broad knowledge of the business.

On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wunderlich, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rough, in the auto of the latter, made a trip to Shenandoah, Iowa, where they enjoyed the day and saw a host of people. They were, however, somewhat amazed at the apparent quietness of the generally bustling city. Though "the day was fine and the way was pleasant and their journey a trip to Shenandoah arrived home, Mr. and Mrs. Wunderlich found some one had pre-empted their home and had prepared a very appetizing supper for them. They had to thank their daughter, Mrs. C. A. Rosenkrans and husband for the kindness.

Makes Auxiliary Nice Gift.
Mrs. M. M. Tucker, who is also a member of the American Legion Auxiliary, recently presented the society with dishes sufficient to serve one hundred people, which were very gratefully received.

Suffers Loss of Two Sheep.
In some manner some seventy head of sheep, not ninety and nine, of Henry Knabe, succeeded in getting out of their pasture and strayed on the right of way of the Missouri Pacific and were quietly browsing in the forbidden field, when along comes a train of the company and before the train men could stop the train, two of the flock were killed. However, the trainmen, who were looking after the welfare of the company of the farmers as well, were able to stop the train and carefully drove the flock into their own field, thus preventing greater loss, notwithstanding they were expected to make their schedule on time and were paid by the trip. No use to crab about people having no interest in the welfare of others, for it is often demonstrated by your fellowman.

Visits and Hunts.
Herbert Kuntz and the family, the village blacksmith of Nehawka, departed last Saturday for York, their former home, where the family enjoyed a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Basing, who are relatives of Mr. Kuntz, and while the women folks visited, the men put in the time hunting pheasants, and were able to get back home late Sunday night.

Cannot Save the Noise.
It has been claimed that at the meat industries where there are so many by products, that all of the hog is saved when the packers are through with the hog, but the squeal and in like manner it is with the mill of Mr. Forest R. Cunningham. He is just now perfecting a conveyor for the saw dust which will be saved and binned and kept for sale, as it is a very important article of commerce. And with the selling of the lumber and the selling of the slabs for wood, this will use all there is in the trees which are sawed, with the exception of the noise which the mill makes.

Returns to Home in West.
Robert Alford who has been visiting in Nehawka for the past few months with relatives and friends, departed early this week for his home at Long Beach, California. Mr. Alford came back because he was in poor health and was advised that the change would in all probability be beneficial to his health. More Troops Called in Cattle Test Conflict

Cavalry to Mobilize and Avert Delay of Bad Weather—Testing in Des Moines County

Burlington, Ia., Oct. 20.—Following issuance of orders today at Des Moines for mobilization to three more cavalry units and a communications platoon of guardsmen, as re-enforcements in the cattle testing war, four companies of infantry began preparation of camp grounds here.

The scene of the testing is to be in Des Moines county, centering here, for the next several days.

Included in the mobilization order are companies from Des Moines, Iowa City, Washington. They are to serve as precaution against delay from inclement weather such as hampered testers last week in Henry county, it was explained. They are to leave their home cities at 8 a. m. Wednesday.

Ten Herds Tested.
At the camp here the guardsmen will be quartered in permanent buildings at the county fair grounds, whereas in two other encampments tents have been used.

General Park A. Finley, commandant, declaring that his "mission will be carried out," declined to discuss the use of the mounted soldiers.

Ten herds have been tested in the last two days in two townships here, belonging to farmers who do not object to the law.

Grinstead Accused.
Jake Everstman, county president of the Farmers' Protective association, allegedly formed to oppose the testing statute, declared today "I don't intend to have my cattle tested if I can prevent it. I have taken my loss three times."

Joe Grinstead, Mount Pleasant, accused of defying veterinarians and guardsmen, faces hearing Friday. He was arrested on an injunction sworn out by Sergeant Hugh B. Law of Corning. Law was in command of a squad of guardsmen present at the Grinstead farm at the time Grinstead's alleged resistance occurred.—World-Herald.

Bodies of Two Women Found in Trunks

Believed Slain and Shipped to Los Angeles From Phoenix, Arizona—Sees Consignees

Los Angeles—Mystery developed here Monday night with the discovery by police of the bodies of two young women, one dismembered, in two trunks shipped from Phoenix, Ariz. It was believed they had been slain, one probably Sunday, the other perhaps two weeks ago. Squads of detectives sought the consignees of the trunks, a man and a woman, who excited suspicion of Southern Pacific railway station employees when they inquired for the baggage and then hurried away.

Meanwhile, at Phoenix, officers sought two women, one of whose names was found on letters and a photograph in one of the trunks. She is Miss Hedvig Samuelson. Missing with her is Mrs. Agnes Anne Lerol, X-ray technician on the Grunow Memorial clinic of Phoenix. Neighbors said they had not been seen since Saturday. Both had been shot. The torso of one was found in the smaller of the trunks. The entire body of the other, together with head and limbs of the first, were in the larger trunk.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Officials of the Grunow clinic of Phoenix said Mrs. Agnes Anne Lerol, clinic X-ray technician, has been missing from her home since Saturday night. Miss Hedvig Samuelson, who maintained her home with Mrs. Lerol, could not be located. H. U. Grimm, an apartment house owner, said he transported the trunks to the Southern Pacific station in his automobile at the request of a Mrs. Judd, who lived in his building for about a month. Mrs. Judd, he said, accompanied him to the depot and checked the luggage.—State Journal.

State's Investments are Discussed

See Probability of Sale to School Fund if Treasury Should Be in Need of Cash Supply.

State Treasurer Bass went to Grand Island Tuesday evening to attend the meeting of the Nebraska grand lodge of Odd Fellows. A statement by him regarding the payment of a service charge to banks for caring for more than $4,000,000 of state funds on deposit will be made public Wednesday, he said. He made no advance statement regarding the report that he had amended his offer and now proposes to pay banks a service charge of 1 percent, which is the maximum authorized by act of the legislature.

The recent investment of $1,200,000 of state funds in government bonds, made as a result of the refusal of banks to pay 2 percent interest on state deposits, and at the same time furnish bonds for security of deposits and receive only one-half of 1 percent from the treasurer as a service charge, it is now pointed out could be transferred to the state board of educational lands and funds as an investment of the payments of funds. The government bonds bearing 3 percent went down 9 points, it is alleged, and if the state should need the money instead of the bonds it might have to sell them at a discount upon the open market. It is now alleged that the state would be to sell the bonds to the state board of educational lands and funds and let the state school funds carry the investment which nets 3 percent to the holder.

MAN OF MILLIONS IS DEAD
Cleveland—Samuel Mather, whose name is linked with the greatest of the empire builders of the last century, died suddenly at his home here early Sunday. His death removes one of the strongest figures of the nation's iron and steel industry, and since 1882 a powerful influence in the vast empire of mining, shipping and manufacturing centered in the Great Lakes region. Little known in a public way, Mr. Mather contributed a fortune to philanthropies and was one of the country's wealthiest men.

Small, with keen bright eyes, he moved quietly in financial and philanthropic works. He avoided interviews and publicity and for that reason the bulk of his benefactions probably never will be known. His gifts in educational and medical medicine in Cleveland are known to have exceeded $7,000,000.

He fought with proponents of the recently collapsed billion dollar merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Bethlehem Steel corporation. Holder of 60,000 shares of Sheet and Tube stock, he took sides against his fellow townsman, Cyrus S. Eaton, and his brother, W. G. Mather.

Roosevelt highway is known as U. S. No. 6.

Liverpool, England, Oct. 18.—J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions and colonies in the national government, was howled down at a political meeting here today. He left the hall after he had been interrupted for a half hour by cries of "Traitor" and "We are not going to starve in silence."

Find 612 Families Need Assistance

Partial Survey Report is Made to Governor Bryan on the Drouth Area.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 19.—Governor Bryan announced today that a survey among the needy of seven northern Nebraska drouth counties will be completed within a few days, and that thus far 612 families, including 2,988 persons, had been found needing assistance.

The house-to-house survey revealing the number in distress is not complete. The governor said the survey groups are not yet able to make an estimate of what the final total might be.

The families visited are in Boyd, Brown, Cedar, Holt, Keya Paha, Knox and Rock counties, where two years of drouth and a grasshopper invasion occurred.

Appeal to Follow.
Just as soon as the survey is terminated, Bryan said, an appeal for contributions will be made to Nebraskans in other sections of the state. Bryan said the organization would determine as nearly as possible the actual needs and the length of time the individual families will require assistance.

The survey in the seven counties showed:

Boyd county, 162 needy families, 832 persons; Brown county, 30 families, 142 persons; Cedar county, 12 families, 65 persons; Holt county, 34 families, 453 persons; Keya Paha county, 62 families, 280 persons; Knox county, 223 families, 1,051 persons; Rock county, 39 families, 165 persons.

He said he has advised a representative of the Red Cross from St. Louis that Nebraska would be able to take care of its own.

Tax Official in Charge.
The state organization in charge is headed by State Tax Commissioner W. H. Smith, under whose direction all reports will be tabulated and disbursements ordered.

"We must exercise extreme care," Bryan said, "to avoid waste at a time when so many are in need."

The governor said it is his desire to determine down to a sack of flour the amount of provisions necessary to carry on the relief program.

"It would be a shame," he added, "to ask Nebraskans for a bit more than is actually needed."

Money used by the Red Cross in one of the stricken counties, he said, was the balance of an old relief fund available for that purpose.—World-Herald.

A discouraging line for poets: Hall Caine, British novelist, left a fortune of more than a million dollars. Hall Caine wrote only prose. He didn't even know the first principles of poetry.
