

BILL MAY HURT AMERICA

London—The government's anti-dumping measure passed thru its first stages in the house of commons by a vote of 396 to 61 and is expected to be adopted by Friday. If the government takes advantage of its full scope the bill may be used to curtail American imports to Great Britain.

ing in some quarters that the assumption of authority to halt dumping by tariffs is designed primarily to hold off the large conservative element which is howling for protection on everything. The measure contains the proviso that excessive imports must be shown before the emergency tariffs can be applied and there is considerable question as to whether there were many types of imports in the affected class on which actual dumping can be proved.

RITCHIE RAPS U. S. COAL INDUSTRY AID

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16.—Proposals for government control of the bituminous coal industry drew criticism here Monday from Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corp. and Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, speaker at the third international conference on bituminous coal. Governor Ritchie warned against the tendency of looking to the government in time of stress. Taylor expressed his impatience with suggestions for "nationalization of industry and artificial fixing of commodity prices through government control."

Grange Backs Tax Equality to Help Farmers

Taber Outlines Policies to Be Placed Before Coming Congress—85th Annual Convention

Madison, Wis.—Declarations for extensive revision of the nation's taxation system in the interest of equality for the farmer and for a rural credit financing program were keynotes in the address of Mr. Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, opening its sixty-fifth annual convention here.

Speaking to delegates from more than 30 states, he voiced the demands of a large cross-section of American agriculture, with immediate political significance in the fact that they come on the eve of a Congressional session at which farm legislation promises to be one of the most important problems. The Grange is meeting in the Mississippi Valley region for the first time in 12 years.

Mr. Taber reiterated the stand of the Grange for the export debenture or downward revision of the tariff with removal of restrictive legislation as an alternative demand upon the congress. He recommended that Congress adopt President Hoover's plan for unemployment relief and for financial and industrial stabilization.

Dry Stand Reaffirmed He restated the Grange position in behalf of respect for law, war upon crime and enforcement of the prohibition amendment and in behalf of world peace, the reduction of armaments and adherence to the World Court.

Describing taxation as "the greatest single burden" resting upon the farmer, Mr. Taber outlined a program embodying (1) a broader base of taxation, compelling privilege, income and luxury taxes; (2) periodic adjustment of public salaries on the basis of service rendered and the purchasing power of the dollar; (3) a sound budget law and an adequate debt control law; (4) an equitable, graduated state income tax, with low exemptions and low rates, and no reduction in federal income taxes except in a lower rate of exemptions; (5) vigorous opposition to a general sales tax; (6) increased inheritance taxes, allowing states to retain a greater portion of amounts collected; (7) distribution of a portion of the federal income tax to the states for school purposes.

Restriction of Acreage Mr. Taber urged a long time land utilization policy, with repeal or amendment of the homestead law and withdrawal of remaining lands in the public domain from entry, in the interest of assuring that no more land be brought under cultivation while farm prices are low. He commended the federal farm loan system which "has withstood the greatest financial storm that can come to an industry" and urged further trial for the federal marketing act which, he said, will not be repealed, but when amended will be changed by its friends and not its enemies.

The Grange master served notice that the Grange will oppose any coercive methods of surplus control, which, he insisted, must be handled voluntarily by farmers on the basis of organization and correct information. He opposed the suggested moratorium on farm debts.

Mr. Taber offered definite suggestions for rural credit financing, including formation of a pool or revolving fund to handle distressed real estate and a federal appropriation to increase the capital structure of banks in the farm loan system.

COAL INDUSTRY DEPRESSED Pittsburgh—The third international conference on bituminous coal took its initial step Monday night toward evolving a plan for rescuing the giant industry from the depressed economic state into which it has fallen. A resolution was introduced and passed in the closing minutes of the session instructing Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of Carnegie Institute of Technology and chairman of the conference, to name a committee "which will receive recommendations as to means of securing an agency for bringing about the economic coordination of the coal industry."

From the trend of today's conference discussions, during which a dozen speakers described the effects of the 45 percent decrease in bituminous coal production during the past twelve years, there appeared to be little doubt that the recommendations to be presented to the committee will be both numerous and widely divergent in their scope.

Change of Venue in Powers Case is Asked

Attorney for Alleged "Bluebeard" Fears Client Unable to Get a Fair Trial.

Clarksburg, W. Va.—Contending that his client could not possibly get a fair trial here because the minds of Harrison county people are "poisoned" against him, counsel for Harry E. Powers, accused of being the killer of Quiet Dell, asked for a change of venue. A few hours later, the Harrison county court designated the Moore opera house as the site of the trial, which is to begin Dec. 7.

J. Ed Law, the portly "small order" Romeo's attorney in asking for a change of venue, protested against holding the trial in a theater because the present court house "is not large enough to accommodate the large crowd of spectators, and excitement seekers." Such a place, he said, will "rob the trial of dignity of a court proceeding and all the sanctity that should prevail in a court of justice."

Law cited numerous reasons to bear out his contention that an impartial trial would be impossible for Powers here. Circulation of a pamphlet, entitled "Love Secrets of Bluebeard," containing the "most printable letter," articles in magazines of the detective class and a song, titled "The Crime of Quiet Dell," tended to prejudice the law community against Powers, Law said.

He referred to the "vicious mob" which threatened Powers when he was confined to the county jail here and said prejudicial matter circulated throughout the county had made the residents hate Powers and view him in the light of a fiend. Law charged that after Powers' arrest for the slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Pressler Lemke, Northboro, Mass., and Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, Park Ridge, Ill., widow and her three children, he was beaten and mauled by police until he signed a confession "the contents of which he did not fully comprehend." Powers has since repudiated the confession.—State Journal.

EDUCATION PLAN DEBATED

Washington—The recommendation to President Hoover by his advisory committee on education for creation of a department of education revived agitation over that long discussed project. Announcement by Chairman Reed, of the last house education committee, that he would reintroduce his bill to create such a department was followed by a statement from Senator Bingham, former member of the senate education committee, opposing it.

Bingham at the same time praised that part of the report recommending that the federal government maintain a hands-off policy in state educational affairs. He contended a department would "constantly reach out for more and more power and interfere more and more with the sacred rights of communities to say what kind of education they wanted their children to have." A bound copy of the report was transmitted formally to the president by Charles R. Mann, chairman of the committee thru Dr. Mann and commended the work.

TILSON STILL SEES HOPE

Washington—The house republican speakership nomination was claimed by Representative Tilson of Connecticut. The republican floor leader in the last three congresses also served notice that if his party failed to organize the house he expects to be the minority chief. He expressed confidence in the party's unity. In a formal statement, Tilson said that though the republicans are in the minority, "control of the house is not yet in the hands of the opposition" and that "we shall fight to the last ditch. The political balance of power in the house has changed once since last March and may change again before congress meets in December," he said.

Interest Growing in Proposed Mortgage Bank

Many Groups Favor Plan to Bolster Realty Credit—Will Improve Home Financing. Resolutions urging the need of improvement in home financing methods and commending the National Association of Real Estate Boards in bringing forward for consideration a plan for a central mortgage bank which would reduce mortgages on homes, were passed by state associations of realtors in Wisconsin, Ohio and California.

Passage of these resolutions is taken to indicate growing interest in the association's suggestion designed to make real estate credit more liquid. Similar action had previously been taken by state meetings of realtors in Massachusetts, New York, Michigan, Virginia, North Carolina and Indiana. The Pacific northwest convention, which met last summer and which was attended by realtors from Washington, Oregon and Idaho, also took affirmative action.

To Help Home Owners.

State associations representing approximately three-fourths of the 16 thousand members of the National Association of Real Estate Boards throughout the country have expressed their interest in this proposal. A detailed study of this and other proposals to lighten the burdens of the home buyer and the home owner with respect to cost of financing is being carried on in the committee on finance of the president's conference on home building and ownership, which is expected to make its report early in December.

Eleven new bills that will ease the tax burden on realty home owners in Florida were passed at the last session of the legislature. The Florida Association of Real Estate Boards has been active in supporting measures designed to spread the tax burden.

Cuts Realty Mileage.

Bills passed in that state made it possible to reduce state real estate mileage from a probably 25 to 4% and mileage in counties to an average of 10. Other bills passed permit the payment of past due delinquent taxes in five annual installments at 8 percent, provided current taxes are paid; no foreclosures or tax certificates on homesteads until four years after date of certificate; and a new blue sky bill regulating the sale of securities in Florida, with heavy penalties for selling worthless stock.

MONEY CHANNEL IS CLOSED

New York—What bankers have called a "bootleg" channel for funds for stock market speculation was virtually closed as New York clearing house banks ceased placing funds in the call loan market for corporations and individuals, in accordance with the clearing house's recent ruling. These loans, appearing in the federal reserve's weekly tabulation as "other" loans amounted to $162,000,000 as of last Wednesday. As they had been placed by clearing house banks because effective, only about $35,000,000 in loans was called, as apparently most of the "other" loans had been previously withdrawn. The call money rate on the stock exchange remained unchanged at 2 1/2 percent. The rate for loans placed outside the stock exchange advanced from 2 1/2 to 2 3/4.
