

UNION ITEMS.

Prof. Smith has a very fine orchestra at Mynard which meets each Friday evening.

Philip Rihn and C. D. Smith attended the band practice at Lewiston Monday evening.

Miss Clark is a member of the Lewiston band and was in attendance at band practice Monday evening.

Roy Becker was looking after some business matters in Plattsmouth for the afternoon on last Saturday.

The Lewiston band will play at the supper and bazaar at the Presbyterian church at Murray Saturday evening, Dec. 5.

Dr. R. W. Tyson of Murray, was called to Union on Monday of this week to look after some professional business in his line as general practitioner.

Paul Swan and Clifton Garrison, living north of Union on the highway, shelled and delivered corn to the Stites elevator at Union on Friday and Saturday of last week.

Hallas Banning was a business visitor in Nehawka on Monday of this week and secured more business than he was expecting as he got one of his tires down and had to evoke the assistance of one of the garagemen of Nehawka to get the car operating properly.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Fahrlander were over to near Mynard where they were spending the day on last Sunday at the home of the parents of Mrs. Fahrlander, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ulrich. There they and the kiddies all enjoyed the visit with the parents and grandparents.

Wm. James, who has been so severely ill for a number of weeks and who has maintained high blood pressure, was so far improved that he was able to be in Union and meeting his many friends on Saturday of last week. His friends, and they are many, are hoping that he may soon be entirely well again.

Ben Anderson, who has been taking a layoff on account of the slackness of business with the approaching of the holiday season, has been recalled to the store to assist during the brisker period of the holidays. Ben is a fine salesman and in no way afraid to work, which he always demonstrates by his keeping at the work whenever it comes his way.

Miss Nola Banning, who is in school at Peru, was a visitor for the Thanksgiving day at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Banning, and spent the time from last Wednesday visiting with the home folks and also with her many friends in Union of which she has a host. She returned to her studies down the river on Monday morning of this week.

A crew of surveyors from Lincoln have been working on highway No. 24 during the early portion of this week, and the understanding is had that they are doing the work preliminary to the establishing of a grade or lines for the paving of the highway with the coming of the next spring. However, it is hoped that the highway may be paved the coming year.

C. H. Whitworth is having some storm doors placed on his home and thus will make the home the more pleasant as well as proving that it costs less to have a good comfortable home than to have one which is not as comfortable. Ray Crawford is installing the doors and the same were secured through the D. Ray Frans lumber company, who are always here to give the very best service to all of their patrons.

Charles Atteberry and Pete Mann, who operate the heavy outfit in the working of the roads of this district, were engaged in building a workshop within the county patrol house at Union, and will thus be able to properly overhaul the machinery which is used in the work which this and other crews use during the year. Besides this, Mr. Atteberry is a finished mechanic and qualified to do any work which is required in keeping the county's machinery in the very best condition.

Makes Whole Wheat Flour.

R. D. STINE

John Ervin, with the feed grinding burrs which they use every day in the grinding of feeds for stock, were able to make an excellent brand of whole wheat flour which is being used by Mrs. Stepp of the American Red Cross in making of very palatable foods for use in the demonstration of her work with the nutrition clubs which have recently been organized and whose object is to provide better understanding of the relative value of foods and the best manner of their preparation. Messrs. Stites and Ervin have demonstrated that with their mill, which grinds the grain for animals, that they can prepare an excellent kind of flour for mankind as well, and this goes to show the theory of grinding feeds for animals is one of the very best in the line of live stock feeding.

Serving On Jury.
Joseph Banning, the merchant, who was selected as one of the panel for the present jury in the District Court, has been in Plattsmouth every day, driving over and back each day, except when he was held on a case, when he was compelled to remain in the county seat over the night if so held.

Replete With Christmas Goods.
The store room of Wade E. Moore, the apothecary, is filled to the capacity with the very finest of toys and seasonable goods for the Christmas time. Drop in and see the wonderful display.

Thanksgiving at County Seat.
Frank L. Anderson, the good wife and the kiddies, were enjoying the Thanksgiving time last week at the home of V. T. Arn and family of Plattsmouth, where they all feasted and enjoyed the day most pleasantly. On their return home, Miss Beatrice Arn accompanied them and visited with the relatives here and her many Union friends the remainder of the week, as well as a few days during this week.

Makes Purchase of Property.
I. Dye, living east of Union and needing more land, recently purchased an additional eighty acres of land which has been a portion of the Anna Hafe estate, which will make Mr. Dye a very fine addition to what he already owns. Cass county lands are excellent property to possess.

Showing Some Improvement.
Miss Gretchen Mullis, the Union high school girl who was so severely ill following an operation for appendicitis, following the first rally and upon examination it was found there had a pus sac formed which had to be removed as it was contaminating her blood and after this was removed and a good draining of the wound established, she has been showing better improvement.

Benefit Program.
There will be a concert and one act play given at the hall in Union on Dec. 9, for the benefit of the Lewiston band. Admission 15c.

Genealogical Library Goal of National D. A. R.

Seek Completion of the Most Complete Library of This Nature in America.

The most complete genealogical library in America is a goal set by the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, and they are not going to be satisfied until each Revolutionary family line is complete. This will require the assistance of every Daughter.

Each year records are lost or destroyed through carelessness or indifference, or a non-realization of the fact that that record is the only copy in existence. In Nebraska, there must be many families who have some record—possibly an old will, possibly a written record of birth, marriage, or death in some old family Bible—that has never been recorded in printed form.

Mrs. R. E. Knight, of Alliance, state chairman of the national committee on Genealogical Research, D. A. R., asks that copies of any such records be sent to her before February 1, 1932. Records should be typed (in duplicate) on good white bond paper, 8 1/2 by 11 inches, leaving a margin of 1 1/2 inches on the left side for binding. Mrs. Knight promises to reply in case anyone desires to ask any questions concerning this matter.

Some of the things that are needed are as follows: Town and county records of marriages, marriage bonds, wills, deeds, land warrants, land patents, church records, baptisms, deaths and membership rolls, cemetery and burying ground tombstone inscriptions down to 1875; family

Bibles—(These are not limited to those belonging to the D. A. R., provided the owners have lived in this country for several generations.) State date of publication, name and residence of present owner, and name and residence of first owner.

It is urged that anyone having any such record send a copy to Mrs. Knight as soon as possible, as the necessary cataloguing takes time. These records are valuable, and if they are by this means preserved in the D. A. R. genealogical library at Washington, they will be available to future generations.
