Democrat Chiefs in Congress Plan Strong Program

Hope to Put Through Legislation to Better Business Conditions—Call Parleys

Washington, D. C., Dec. 4.—The collective wisdom of senate and house democratic leaders will be marshalled in a series of conferences called to devise a strong legislative program for the coming congress.

By a co-ordinated party policy they hope to be able to force through both closely divided branches constructive legislation that will improve business conditions. In this way they hope also to indicate to the people what legislation they may expect if democrats take over the government in next year's elections.

A senate committee headed by Robinson (Ark.), democratic leader, and including Senators Walsh (Mont.) and Harrison (Miss.), will meet with a house democratic group to formulate the program. A number of other senators will be selected by Robinson.

Garner to Join.

Representative Garner, who probably will be speaker; Representative Rainey of Illinois, unopposed candidate in his party for floor leader; McDuffie (Ala.); Collier (Miss.); Rayburn (Tex.); Byrns (Tenn.), and Cullen (N. Y.), are probable members of the house committee.

Already a number of conferences have been held between senate and house democratic leaders on revenue raising legislation, tariff, Muscle Shoals, prohibition, unemployment relief, and the naval situation. Harrison, ranking democrat on the senate finance committee, predicts tariff revision will be included in the program.

These plans were disclosed on the eve of the house democratic caucus. Tomorrow Garner will be nominated speaker, and Rainey, floor leader almost unanimously.

Rules Changes Likely.

With many democrats favoring a liberalization of the rules to permit a vote on prohibition at the coming session, it appeared certain rule changes would be adopted.

The 23 members of the New York delegation went on record today favoring an early vote on prohibition and a revision of the rules to permit it. Representative Cullen, chairman, said the Tammanyites favor the Snell rule adopted by the republican conference to extract a bill from a committee for a direct vote on petition of 145 members.

A proposal to create a steering committee is to be made by Representative Byrns and supported by Crisp (Ga.) and Ayres (Kans.).

However, the New York delegation announced it was opposed to a change in the present organization and this forecast defeat for such a move.—World-Herald.

RAIL RATES ARE ARGUED

Washington.—The distress of agriculture and the distress of the railroads were pitted against each other in the supreme court. The Santa Fe and other lines attacked orders reducing grain rates. The rates were made by the interstate commerce commission, effective Aug. 1, and the basis was a congressional resolution which directed the lowest lawful rates to relieve the plight of agriculture.

Frederick H. Wood, counsel for the roads, said his clients were not doing so well themselves and that the orders cutting rates on grain and grain products would cut already reduced revenue by about $29,000,000. Interstate commerce commission counsel will be heard Friday.
