Cuts Lead Wire to County House.
Last Friday, Wm. Highfield, the electrician and one of the very best when it comes to that, was down from Plattsmouth and cut a wire into the new shop which the county has had installed for the working on the road making machinery, which is in the hands of Charles Attebery and assistant, Pete Mann, where they will place in the very best condition the tractors and other road making machinery and have them in the very best condition when the spring comes again.

Bright Lights a Menace.
There was a law passed some time since in regard to the lights on an auto, one which required a lens on the lights of such refractory power that the glare would be taken out of the lights and the traveling at night on the highways be rendered the more safe. However, the bright lights continue to be used and in many cases cause accidents and much damage as well as injury and death to those traveling. A new device has been invented which takes the glare out of the bright lights, yet still leaving the power of the light for the roadway but keeps it from the eyes of the driver coming against them. Ray Galloway of Union was installing them when we were in Union a few days since.

Theobald Rihn Very Sick.
Phillip F. Rihn received word last week of the very serious illness of his father, Theobald Rihn, near 90 years of age, of Highland, Illinois, and Mr. Rihn immediately departed on last Friday for the bedside of the father, to render what assistance in comfort to the parents in his illness. Mr. Rihn was to visit the father a few months since and enjoyed a very fine time with him, and it is with sorrow that he has at this time to go finding the parent so ill. It is hoped by the many friends of Mr. Rihn here that he may find the father better and that he may soon be able to be out again.

Finds Rare Coin.
In the ordinary run of business at the restaurant of Mrs. H. W. Griffin, she received in payment for cats at the cafe, a half dollar bearing the date of 1838, or ninety-three years old. She took it to the Bank of Union who had a catalog of old and rare coins and found that there were a number of designs of this coin of that date and one bearing an "A" was listed as being worth some seven hundred dollars, but the coin which Mrs. Griffin has failed to show the letter on it and was listed as being worth fifty cents and was worth its face value.

Attending Convention at Omaha.
County Commissioner E. B. Chapman and Vance Harris, who is a salesman dealing with firms which furnish goods which are used by the counties in many of their lines were in attendance at the State County Commissioners convention which gathered in Omaha during this week and where they were looking after the interests of the county and also of the firms selling such articles as are used by the counties.

Completes Nutrition Work.
Mrs. Bonne M. Stepp, Red Cross nutritionist, is closing this week, the three months work in southeast portion of Cass county. The next three months will be spent in other communities of the county where this service is now wanted and when finished will cover 14 towns and 15 or 18 rural schools. She tries to take in all that wish the service during the five school days in week.

The following letter from Supt. J. H. Ade of the Consolidated School at Eagle, tells of the reaction to this service.

Eagle, Nebraska,
Nov. 23, 1931.

Mrs. Henry A. Toll
Murdock, Nebraska
Dear Mrs. Toll:
At your request, I am stating our reaction in the schools toward Nutrition work offered by the Red Cross. The course has been offered now for a period of eight weeks in each grade of our elementary school by the Nutrition worker of the Red Cross, Mrs. Stepp, each Tuesday and to an adult class from 2:30 to 4:30. The work has been scheduled in a large measure during the Hygiene period of the pupils and correlates well with the aims of the health course. We realize that improved diet means better health and increased efficiency. Pupils and parents need to be informed that quality of food is as important as quantity. It is more economical to properly balance a diet than to eat an improper one.

Our experience seem to confirm the adage that a prophet is without honor in his own country as the children listen to the Nutrition worker better than to parents or teachers and are more responsive in trying to form the habit of eating the proper foods. Even those pupils and parents who are diet conscious often need to be reminded. To fix a habit, it is necessary that attention be centered upon it from time to time. This the Nutrition worker does in regard to proper food habits.

As a parent, it is to be noted that our children are eating foods cheerfully which were taboo formerly with them. The consumption is that health is improved, a gain in weight is noted and a more cheerful attitude is noticeable.

Personally, I can give the work my hearty approval as it carries out one of the aims of education which is health.

I trust the rest of the county may be as fortunate as we have been in having the opportunity to have this work in our schools.

Sincerely yours,
J. H. ADE,
Mr. J. H. Ade is superintendent of the Eagle Consolidated Schools.

LOCAL NEWS

From Monday's Daily
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Manacek, accompanied by Miss "Pat" Smith, Paul Grassman and Miss Laura Grassman, motored down from Omaha Sunday for a visit here with the relatives and friends.

Paul James, state news editor of the Omaha Bee, spent a short time in Plattsmouth this morning en route to Nebraska City and Auburn. The Bee is increasing its state news service and Mr. James' mission in the latter two towns is to secure correspondents for his paper.

From Tuesday's Daily
Miss Helen Wescott of Lincoln was here last evening for a short visit here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wescott.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuire have returned to this city after a visit of some two weeks at the home of their daughter, Mrs. William Becker and family, having a most pleasant outing.

MOURN C. M. HOWARD DEATH
Grand Island—News of the death in Boston of Clarence M. Howard came as a shock to old residents of Grand Island, many of whom were friends of his family. He spent his boyhood here and began his business career here.

Blake Clinton Howard, Clarence's father, was a master mechanic in the Union Pacific car shops here for many years, and became closely identified with the community. He was interested in civic affairs, and because of his service as a member of the school board of education, Howard school and Howard street were named after him.

Clarence's paternal ancestors settled in this country in 1634 and were Presbyterian in religious faith. His mother belonged to an old American family and among her distant relatives was President Grover Cleveland.

Family Quarrel of Republicans Not Yet Settled

Washington—Republican forces divided before a united democratic front as congress went to work after receiving President Hoover's program for steadying government finances and speeding prosperity. First roll calls in both house and senate showed the republican independents from the northwest kicking up their heels in the faces of regular administration forces. Standing together the house democratic majority scored a victory. The senate democratic minority held ranks and got a stalemate.

The house vote made it possible for 145 members to bring a bill up for decision. A vote on prohibition probably will result. The new rules, sponsored by the democrats, won by 227 to 194 with 11 republican independents joining the democratic majority.

It was a more personal affair in the senate, where the three roll calls were on the selection of a president pro tempore. Twelve republicans from the northwest bolted the party's candidate, Moses of New Hampshire. Senate democrats lined up solidly behind their candidate, Pittman of Nevada, and sat back to await a settlement of the republican family quarrel. More votes will be taken Wednesday, but no decision is in prospect. Meanwhile Moses is still president pro tem "very still," and one of his close friends put it. He is saying nothing.

Putting Hands to Wheel.
But even as these routine necessities of organization were permitting the new congress to get off some of its recess steam, the legislators were putting their hands to the wheels for grinding out Presidential recommendations.

The administration group hopes for early action on the president's proposal for authorization of a gigantic credit corporation to bolster up the emergency 500 million voluntary pool formed last fall. Bills to bring this about were introduced promptly.

Democrats in the house hastened to organize the important appropriations committee charged with fixing the funds for carrying on the government next year. Representative Byrns of Tennessee, the democratic chairman, announced first consideration would be given to the request by Mr. Hoover for an additional 200 millions to meet demands for loans on the soldiers' bonus insurance certificates.

The outcome of the senate vote on president pro tem is clouded in considerable doubt. Despite the personal touch of the contest no bitterness was displayed by the membership. Senator Robinson, democratic leader, smiled as he called for the election of a president. Senator Watson, republican, smiled too, as he nominated Moses, against whom the fight was directed. Senator Norris smiled and the senate smiled with him as he asked if a vote could be cast for any candidate without nominating him. Moses smiled as he heard one after another of the "sons of the wild jackass" vote against him.—State Journal.
