Saw University Only Once; Wills It His Estate
Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 14.—The story of a man who gave his entire estate to the University of Nebraska after having seen it only once was revealed here today when it was announced that part of George W. Slade's $6,400 bequest will be available next semester for student loans.

Mr. Slade, who farmed near Albion for a few years, only saw the university once, as far as is known. He moved to Unadilla, N. Y., many years ago and died without any close heirs last spring. His will left the entire estate to the University of Nebraska.

None of his children attended the university nor was Mr. Slade a college man. The estate was left to the university outright with no trust fund strings attached so that the regens have absolute authority over spending it.

When it became known that a number of university seniors might have to drop out of school at the end of the present semester February 1 because of insufficient funds to complete their schooling, the university loans committee induced the regents to put the Slade estate into the loan fund.

Just how much of the estate will be used for loans at once will be determined by the number of applicants, their needs, and their ability demonstrated by previous work. Most of the 31 loans made to seniors for this semester's schooling come from trust funds and from loans made by Nebraska business and professional men.—World-Herald.

BOWELS need watching

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset; or has caught cold.

His simple prescription will make that bilious, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from all that sickening mucus waste.

You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's record of having attended over 3500 births without the loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It sweetens the bowels; increases appetite—makes digestion more complete.

Stage All Set for Campaigns of Both Parties

Chicago, as the Arena of the G. O. P. and Democratic Conventions, Gets Ready

Washington—With the political stage set for gatherings of both national conventions in Chicago next summer, the relative position of the Republicans and Democrats is being examined in the light of the two national committee meetings just concluded in this city.

The Republicans already have their candidate, to all effects and purposes, He is President Hoover. With him goes the party platform. This consists, briefly, in supporting the policies of Mr. Hoover as laid down under his Administration. It covers not only economic matters but the question of prohibition.

Mr. Hoover is accepted to be dry, and so long as Mr. Hoover is the Republican candidate, the national Administration is expected to be dry, too, even though the Republican convention adopts some form of a compromise plank. Political observers of all shades of opinion in the capital recognize this. Perhaps the largest organized and cohesive group of supporters which Mr. Hoover has is the dry bloc, and it would be political suicide to alienate this group, even if Mr. Hoover desired to do so.

Accordingly, with Mr. Hoover at the head, the Republican Party in its national leadership in all probability will continue to take the dry side, although in local matters the several state leaders will very largely follow their own course, as they are doing at present.

On the Democratic side, the meeting just concluded shows almost certainly the policy which the party will take at its Chicago convention, a week or two after the Republican convention has been concluded. It most likely will adopt the Raskob proposal for a so-called prohibition "referendum."

From the political point of view, this proposal has one overwhelming advantage; it does not, on the face of things, commit the party either to the wet or dry side. It is a proposal which, accordingly, the dry South is expected by party leaders to support, as well as the wet East.

Party leaders may be mistaken in this viewpoint, particularly in view of dissatisfaction expressed over the terms of the proposed referendum by groups of organized dries that have already become vocal on the subject, but so far the proposal has been highly successful.

The Democratic committee meeting just held also brought to a focus the debate over the presidential candidacy of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York. Champions of Governor Roosevelt believe that they will carry the field easily. Some declare their candidate will be named by the party convention on the first ballot. At any rate they assert that he is the leading man in the field and at present has far and away the most delegates pledged in his behalf.

Governor Roosevelt's status has led to criticism by partisans of other Democratic candidates. They charge that he has won Progressive support, though he is actually a Conservative; they assert that his strength in the South is largely because he is represented as hostile to Gov. Alfred E. Smith, rather than for any inherent ability for independent leadership.

These allegations developed an undercurrent of considerable bitterness at the Democratic Committee meeting just concluded, which was evident to all observers. Party lines will undoubtedly close up after a nomination of a candidate is once made.

Democratic leaders feel that in selecting Chicago a bridge has been found between wets and dries that will last for at least the length of the presidential campaign; and that the financial basis has been laid for prosecuting one of the most vigorous fights ever waged by the party.

OFFERS TO BUY GRAIN FOR STARVING PHEASANTS, QUAIL

Norfolk, Neb., Jan. 14.—State Game Warden C. A. Gray of Norfolk announced Thursday there is danger that quail and prairie chickens in north Nebraska will starve because of the heavy snow. Many farmers report the pheasants coming to their farm yards to feed with chickens but the quail are not venturing near.

"If farmers will get in touch with me, I will buy grain enough to feed these birds," said Mr. Gray. "They are needed to fight the grasshoppers next spring and summer."

Name of Hoover Put in the Field to Succeed Self

Postmaster General Brown Says He Will Stand for Renomination—A Challenge to the Antis

Washington—The name of Herbert Hoover was informally put into the republican presidential field Thursday by his postmaster general, Walter F. Brown of Ohio, in the face of threatened challenges from the party independents in the United States. In a terse statement Mr. Brown said the president "will stand for renomination," and whatever is necessary to get convention delegates for him will be undertaken. Brown said no decision has been reached on the North Dakota primary of March 15, which Senator Nye and Francis of that state are urging Hiram Johnson of California to enter. But Senator Johnson has given no answer and whether serious opposition to the president's renomination will be made was still uncertain.

Brown's announcement brought him forward as the campaign manager of the president with whom he conferred later in the day. He is expected to take over the chairmanship of the national committee if Mr. Hoover is renominated in June. He is regarded as the spokesman of a board of political strategy among the president's intimates. Mr. Hoover himself is expected to make his own announcement, when it becomes necessary for him to declare his intentions under the Ohio primary law.

One worry of the anti-Hoover group is the fact that the delegates to be chosen by primaries are far short of a majority of the convention. It is estimated that only between 200 and 300 of the 1,100 delegates are chosen in the primaries. Thus, if a candidate in opposition to the president should carry every primary he would still have to have support from the convention controlled states to hope for a majority.

Senator Borah, who has been mentioned frequently in the speculation of the anti-Hoover group as a possible opponent of the president, said smilingly when informed of the primary plans of the Hoover group: "I have suspected all along he would be a candidate."

Borah declined to say whether he thought the president would be renominated.

The first primary to be held is the New Hampshire vote on March 5. Senator Moses of New Hampshire says the president has that primary assured.—State Journal.

INGWERSEN TO JOIN L. S. U. GRID STAFF

Iowa City.—The Daily Iowan, student publication, Friday night secured from Barton A. Ingwersen, former University of Iowa football coach, at Mt. Pleasant, Ia., a confirmation of the report from Baton Rouge that he is to join the Louisiana State coaching staff as assistant to Lawrence M. "Bill" Jones, formerly grid mentor of the Army.

In confirming the report, the Daily Iowan quoted Ingwersen as saying that satisfactory terms had been reached, and that but a few minor details were yet to be settled before signing of a contract.

The one such detail disclosed in the confirmation was the employment of E. W. Nelson for several seasons as assistant to Ingwersen at Iowa, on the Louisiana State staff. Ingwersen expressed the wish, the Daily Iowan said, "to take him along."

VIRGINIANS BACKING BYRD

Richmond, Va.—The Virginia general assembly endorsed Harry Flood Byrd, vice chairman of the democratic national committee, for democratic nomination for president of the United States.

A joint resolution endorsing the former governor of Virginia was adopted without a dissenting vote after he inglorified by Senator Cather of Winchester, the home town of Byrd. The house of delegates, after adopting the resolution, stood and cheered, while the senate adopted the measure by a rising vote.

State Liquor Control Goal of the House Bloc

Propose an Eighteenth Amendment Change, Ratified by Convention; Introduced by Beck

Washington, Jan. 15.—The two-party house anti-prohibition bloc decided today to support a suggested change in the Eighteenth amendment returning liquor control to the states.

The action of the wet bloc assures at least one vote on prohibition this session, since it has sufficient members to force the question to the floor. The proposal was introduced by Representatives Beck (rep., Pa.) and Linthicum (dem., Md.). They ask a vote at this session.

The resolution agreed to would be ratified by constitutional conventions instead of state legislatures, and make the Eighteenth amendment read:

"The congress shall have the power to regulate or to prohibit the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, and the exportation thereof from the United States, all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof, for beverage purposes, provided, however, that such power of regulation shall not be construed or applied to abridge or deny the right of any state to authorize the manufacture, sale, or transportation, or use of such intoxicating liquors, wholly within the border of such state, and such power of regulation or any power of congress to regulate interstate and foreign commerce shall not be construed to empower the congress to authorize the shipment, transportation or importation into any state of intoxicating liquors for beverage or other purposes, whenever the manufacture, sale, transportation or use of such liquors has been prohibited by the laws of such state; and any such shipment or importation of intoxieverybody, let us capture the democratic party," he said. "That would mean success and that would mean a restoration of the interest of the farmer and the little business man."

"The American people had just as well understand that forces are working with a view of capturing both political parties; they have already captured the republican, but what the democrats as well." Governor Murray asserted. "So that if a democrat be nominated of the Owen D. Young type, head of the greatest monopoly in the world, the campaign will be a tame one and his election would mean a continuation of the policies of Hoover and Mellon and the continued price of 25 and 30 cent wheat and 4 and 5 cent cotton, with bankruptcy and economic slavery staring in the face the middle class and all the poorer class."—State Journal.
