

GREENWOOD

William Gill is reported as being down with the flu and in a very bad condition. He was very low a few days ago, but later reports are to the effect that a slight improvement has taken place in his condition.

P. A. Sanborn was a business visitor in Omaha on last Monday, driving over in his car, where he had some repairs and supplies for the garage and implement house to get, as well as some other business to look after.

Eliza Winget who has been out of work for some time recently made the purchase of a new truck and is now in position to care for all the trucking in the shape of hauling grains, stock and merchandise. Mr. Winget is a very careful man with any business entrusted in his care.

William Kelley, who is a very able auctioneer, was over to Waverly, at which place he had charge of a community sale, one of a series of such auctions that are held there occasionally. The sale last week was held on Wednesday. Mr. Kelley was accompanied by John C. Lomeyer, who is well acquainted in the neighboring town.

Arthur Kirk, a World War veteran who makes his home at Bridgeport, and who has been in poor health, was sent to the Veterans' hospital at Lincoln and while coming to the hospital also came on to Greenwood, where he visited for a short time with his brother, Henry Kirk. The brother from here accompanied him to the hospital.

John Gakemeier and the good wife, of Murdock, were guests in Greenwood on last Tuesday evening, they being guests at the home of a sister of Mr. Gakemeier, Mrs. Rex Peters and husband, they all attending the business men's dance, which was held on Tuesday evening and returning home via Lincoln and Elmwood. Pretty tough roads.

Enjoyed a Fine Evening
Last Tuesday occurred the dance which was given for the business men of Greenwood and at which they all enjoyed the occasion, there were many present, including some friends of the business men who are not engaged in business and a number of people from outside points.

Heavy Team Blind Brdles
Extra heavy first quality oak tanned leather blind brdles, $2.00—a lower price (besides the carriage) than catalog houses charge. Absolutely guaranteed in every way. Made in Murdock.—A. J. Tool.

Visits Father in Oklahoma
Robert E. Mathews, the popular and very genial garage man of Greenwood, departed early last week for a point in Oklahoma, where his father resides, and has been spending several days with the parent.

Difficult Traveling
N. O. Coleman and the good wife planned a visit with friends at Murdock last Sunday and started out in their car, going via the old D. L. D. route which was graveled and is still in fair condition, as far as the Leman school, then south a mile, bringing them to the Gust Wotzel corner, and thence east which would bring them to the gravel north of Murdock, a distance of six miles on the townline road. They battled bravely, but had much trouble negotiating some of the hills, of thick clay and it was only after seven hours of effort that they were able to get to Murdock.

This left but a short time for them to visit, and starting early in the evening, they went south to the O street road, followed it into Lincoln and came on home over Highway 38. Pretty tough roads, as we can testify ourselves, for we also tried out some of the roads on Wednesday.

Police Dog Bites Woman
When Mrs. Wayne Landon was going to the home of a near neighbor, as she approached the house a large police dog grabbed her by the arm, lacerating the arm badly. Mrs. Landon was fortunate in that she was near the house and the neighbors came out, driving the brute away, but not until he had mangled the arm quite badly.

The injury was dressed by Dr. N. D. Talcott and at last reports the wound gave promise of healing and that there will be no infection. This will be good news to the friends of Mrs. Landon, as the bite of a dog is a serious matter and may cause complications.

Down Town Wednesday
Uncle W. C. Boucher, who was so seriously ill for a number of weeks, with an aggravated attack of flu, and who was kept to his bed for a time, has been showing good improvement for some time, and while he was up and about the home during the past week, he was not able to be down town until last Wednesday, when he was down and enjoyed visiting with his many friends.

Snappy Basketball Team
The town team of Greenwood in the basketball field, is carving out a very fine record and were invited to participate in the tournament held at Douglass the latter part of last week. We do not know what the result was, but believe the boys were well able to hold their own.

Before going to Douglass they had played six games, winning five of them and losing the sixth by a very close score, as they were pitted against one of the best teams in Lincoln.

Harry Ballinger Dies at Omaha

He was for a long time engaged in railroad work for the Burlington, becoming an engineer and was a member of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The funeral was held on Sunday—the day following his death, the casket being sealed.
Mr. Ballinger, who was 51 years of age, had been in Omaha and in the employ of the Burlington for the past 25 years.
Of his immediate family, he leaves a wife and a married daughter, also the parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Ballinger, of Greenwood; a brother, Clifford Ballinger, of Gretna, and one sister, Mrs. Wm. Kelley, of Greenwood.

High Income Tax on Bootleggers is McAdoo's Plan

Former Secretary of the Treasury Suggests It as Way of Meeting Treasury Deficit.

Washington—A 100 percent income tax on bootleggers and dope peddlers was proposed by William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, as one of several ways of meeting the treasury deficit. McAdoo made the suggestion in reply to an inquiry by Senator Walsh, Montana, on methods of finding new taxes. He called attention to arguments that the government is losing a profitable taxing field because of prohibition.

"I think," he wrote, "that if the bootleggers are profiting each year to the extent of 15 billion dollars, or any other sum, thru violation of the laws of the United States, it is the obvious duty of the government to take the entire amount of such profits thru taxation. The government has unquestioned power to destroy the illegal business by taxing all the profit out of it."

McAdoo also proposed a tax on imported crude and fuel oil and on imported gasoline. He opposed a domestic gasoline levy.

He suggested that 60 percent of the prospective 2 billion deficit be funded into long term bonds and that attempts be made to meet only the remaining 40 percent by new taxation.

"It may not be possible," McAdoo said, "to collect 100 percent of the illegal income, but certainly the wholesalers, the crux of the problem, can be reached, and if they should be driven out of business the small operator or retailer will find it difficult to ply his nefarious trade. Those who argue the government should not tax unlawful business fail to realize that if incomes from illicit operations are exempted from or permitted to escape taxation, while incomes from lawful operations are not, the criminal is rewarded and the honest man is punished."

He suggested increasing surtaxes on the larger incomes, especially those above $100,000, but warned that the heavier this tax the "greater the inducement to the owners of large incomes to escape it by investing in tax-exempt securities." State Journal.

FARM EXPERTS AT O'NEILL

O'Neill—Farmers packed the high school auditorium Thursday and for three hours heard O. S. Bare, expert, and P. H. Stewart of the agricultural college discuss means of getting good seed for this territory and controlling grasshoppers.

Bare pointed out that only three of Nebraska's 150 grasshopper varieties do damage. Bare related that he received letters from New York last summer asking if it were safe to pass thru Nebraska in spite of possible locust attacks by "rubber grasshoppers."

To kill grasshopper eggs by freezing, Bare said, temperatures of 30 or 40 degrees below zero without snow on the ground would be necessary. He said the best method was to disc the land in the fall and scatter a mixture of bran, arsenic, amy-lacetate and water.

A representative of the Red Cross said Holt county horses must have 1,200 tons of hay a month for two months. James W. Rooney, Holt county farm agent, told about a seed survey for Holt county which he is making.

Thursday night Stewart spoke at Atkinson on Friday they will appear at Long Pine and Springview.

SYNDICALISM IS CHARGED

Pineville, Ky.—Harold Hickerson, New York playwright, and Doris Parks, secretary of the Tennessee-Kentucky striking miners relief committee were held Thursday for hearing Monday on criminal syndicalism charges. The pair who came here with a group of New York writers and others bringing three trucks of food, were arrested Wednesday. County officers said they were addressing a meeting of miners in defiance of warnings against such meetings in Bell county. The other writers were escorted to the Tennessee border by a group of citizens and warned not to return.

Hickerson and Miss Parks waived arraignment before County Judge Vanbeber and were held in $5,000 bond each on the criminal syndicalism charges and $1,000 each on peace warrants. Hickerson had previously refused an offer to have the charges dropped if he would leave the county. He said he wanted to test certain parts of the Kentucky constitution which he did not like.

Mrs. Brann Answers Call

On Monday evening one of the oldest citizens of Manley, Mrs. Laura M. (Shay) Brann, wife of David Brann, passed away after a number of months of delicate health at the age of a little over 73 years. The funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon from the church which has stood beside the residence of this pioneer couple for well nigh a half a century.

Miss Laura M. Shay was born at Eddenberg, New York State, January 7, 1859. She resided in New York state for many years, her father dying when she was thirteen years old and she went to reside with a married sister at West Charleston, N. Y. At the age of 23, she was united in marriage to Mr. David Brann, and they continued to reside in New York state for another five years before they came west to locate in Cass county.

Mrs. Brann had an uncle residing in the vicinity of Manley and they came here to locate in 1891, residing here for a year before they purchased the home in which they have lived continuously for the past 45 years.

The wedded life of this couple has been a most pleasant one, and only a few weeks ago, on January 26th, they celebrated the passing of their 50th wedding anniversary and received the congratulations of their host of old friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. Brann, who has been in delicate health for many years, gradually grew weaker during the past winter and on last Monday evening went to sleep, leaving this world to wake up in that glorious land where there is no sickness, sorrow, pain or death.

Mrs. Brann, during her life was a most kindly woman, being considerate to all and a good neighbor who was held in highest esteem. She was a member of the Royal Highlanders and the Universalist church.

The funeral was held at the church near the home where they had resided so happily for all the years. Rev. W. A. Taylor, of the First Baptist church at Union, delivered the funeral discourse, speaking comforting words to the bereaved and citing the hope of a meeting on that other shore where a happy reuniting of all the members of the family may be celebrated.

Interment was in Oakwood cemetery at Weeping Water, the Hobson Funeral home of that city having charge of the cortege. Pall bearers were selected from among the friends of the family, being Theo Harms, Gust Krecklow, Wm. Otte, Andrew Schiefert, Rudolph Bergman and George Coo.

The Journal joins in extending sympathy to the aged husband and relatives.

HUEY LONG BIT DISGUSTED

New Orleans—After four days in the United States senate, Huey F. Long returned to New Orleans to express what might be called disgust. Asked what he thought of Washington, he pondered a moment and then said: "In order to think in terms of America you almost have to get away from Washington. That's the farthest spot from the United States I've seen.

"The sorrowful thing I found in Washington is the political paralysis that is affecting the democrats in congress. Over in the senate the democrats seemed like a whipped rooster with the victor pecking us on the head and all standing there bleeding, taking it, except that some seem to have taken it upon themselves to act as the outer guard to veil the republican disciples.

"You get the impression there is a great sign in front of you which reads, 'Touch not anointed and do my prophets no harm.'"
