FUNERAL OF A. H. BUSHNELL

The funeral of the late A. H. Bushnell was held on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 from the Sattler funeral home at Fourth and Vine streets. A very large number were in attendance at the services which were conducted by Rev. C. O. Troy, pastor of the First Methodist church. The pastor brought words of comfort to the members of the bereaved family and the old friends who have parted with their loved one. During the service Mrs. E. H. Wescott gave as a solo "Crossing the Bar," the musical setting of the beautiful poem of Lord Tennyson, while Frank A. Cloldt and Mrs. Wescott gave as a duet, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mrs. J. M. Roberts played.

The body was laid to the last rest at the Oak Hill cemetery.

There were a number of the old friends and relatives present from South Bend among these being Mrs. Viola Long and son, Harry P. Long, O. W. Zaar, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Bushnell, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Laughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Olson, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Feddler, and Miss Norma Bushnell of Omaha.

CLUB HOLDS MEETING

The Mynard Homemakers club held their regular meeting on Friday at the home of Mrs. A. L. Huffer and with a very fine attendance of the membership present to take part in the meeting. Mrs. E. H. Spangler was the leader of the meeting and which took up as the subject, "Planning the Garden and Feeding the Family," a most interesting topic. The leaders, Mrs. Spangler and Mrs. C. L. Wilke gave the lesson and in their clever way presented the facts as to the planning of the garden and the home. The club had present as a guest, Mrs. Everett Spangler of Murray. At the close of the meeting dainty and delicious refreshments were served.

"How Sin Began."

Gen. 2:15-17; 3:1-8.

With sorrow and shame we approach the study of the beginning of sin. How long man enjoyed that beautiful life in Eden, we do not know; but undoubtedly long enough, that he realized fully what he had lost, when finally driven out. God placed him in a beautiful park, paradise of delight. Everything was there placed at his disposal; bearing the image of God, such as: personality; free will and reason.

God places upon man some restriction, by which he will test him; and as he stands the test, and thereby grows strong and shows his obedience to God, he reaches moral maturity. The narrative implies that the knowledge of good and evil, would have come to man gradually, through the teaching of God, and without loss of his own uprightness. It is a faculty which is developed from within, not conferred from without. By discipline and self-control man gains character and moral strength, or the knowledge of good and evil, and the power to discriminate between them. Hence "the fruit of the tree of knowledge of the good and evil" is forbidden to man, not given to him like the others. It can impart the knowledge of good and evil at once, without a prolonged process of discipline or education; but the attainment of this summary way is made an act of disobedience. Man's freedom of choice, however, makes it possible for him to disobey and so come to the required knowledge by a wrong way; for the knowledge of good and evil is bought dearly by doing ill.

Adam was given a chance to use speech, by naming all the animals, some 500,000 of them, such as birds, insects, animals, fish, etc.; all were found to be paired, but man stood alone; so God knowing that man would be very lonesome, resolved to make him an help mate. Eve was the result. Now man could enjoy the bliss of an equal companionship. Only a creature like himself can be an adequate companion. The creation of one man and one woman in the ideally perfect state of Eden implies that monogamy is the ideal of married life.

God had given man his first command in these words: "Of every tree of the garden thou mayest freely eat, but of the tree of knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof, thou shalt surely die."

We now describe how "by one man sin entered into the world and death by sin." Rom. 5:12. We shall not attempt to search out the origin of evil in the universe, the biblical account of the fall, pierces the depth of the human heart and brings out the genesis of sin for man. The description is true to life and experience.

The Serpent. How did evil come into the heart of man? The answer is that it came from without; it did not originate with man. And herein lies the hope of victory. Satan, who had rebelled against his creator, actuated by hatred and revenge, sought to cover the earth with desolation. There was an animal nature in Eve, to which the animal nature in an inferior could speak. Satan sowed the seed of doubt into the mind of Eve, and that led to the fall of man. Satan addressed the woman as the easier prey, to temptation. "Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree in the garden?" (Here is the first question mark put in the Bible, put in by the Devil.) The Devil accomplished his purpose, in arousing in the woman: "The lust of the flesh," "good for food," "Lust for the eye," "pleasant to the eye," "the pride of life," "a tree to be desired, to make one wise." Compare I John 2:16, "For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world." These three cardinal sins Jesus overcame in His temptation. See Math. 4:1-9. When the woman began to argue the matter, her doom was sealed. Ps. 1:1 gives men also a warning to: "Walk not in the counsel of the ungodly, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit in the seat of the scornful." But this warning is also disregarded, even by professing Christians. O! that fatal moment when Eve reaches for that forbidden fruit. Who can relate the tale of woe that followed; who can measure the tears that have been shed, the blood that has been spilled, the suffering and the heartache. And she gave Adam that day what was not hers to give nor his to receive.

The first result of disobedience was the awakening of conscience. They lost Eden and gained conscience, and conscience makes cowards of us all. God did not turn Adam out of paradise till Adam turned God out. "Yield not to temptation, for yielding is sin; Each victory will help you, some other to win; Fight manfully onward, dark passions subdue; Look ever to Jesus, He'll carry you through."
