CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

From Thursday's Daily
Fred Spangler, one of the well known residents of this community, has just passed his fifty-eighth birthday anniversary, which was made doubly pleasant by the fact that a large group of friends joined in the event.

Mr. Spangler was born in Ohio in May, 1874, and when a lad was brought to Nebraska by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spangler, settling in Cass county and where Mr. Spangler has resided a half century in this community. Mr. Spangler was married in this city thirty-three years ago and here the family has been reared to manhood and womanhood. The children of this excellent couple are Mrs. Ruel Sack of Myriad, Mrs. George Mumm of this city and Homer Spangler, who is now in the naval service of the United States.

The birthday anniversary was observed on Sunday at the country home south of this city when some fifty of the friends arrived at the home, coming with well laden baskets of the good things to eat which provided the means of a sumptuous dinner at the noon hour.

During the afternoon the time was spent by many in playing baseball and other games as well as social conversation.

At a late hour when the guests departed for their homes they joined in wishing Mr. Spangler many more such happy events in the future years.

the business of the bank was conducted.

Gas Cheaper and Cheaper

A. H. Ward has gone to one better and is selling gas as low as 11.9 cents per gallon, including the tax. How different from the prices that prevailed only a few short weeks ago. Just where the contest will terminate no one knows. But the game is a merry one so far.

The Daughters of the high school are to entertain their mothers on May 10th, when they will give a very fine program and a banquet for the mothers and which is a very happy thought and one which will culminate in the mothers getting a very fine banquet, as the daughters sure know how to cook. The matter of the mothers and daughters getting together in this manner is highly commendable.

Home from Hospital

Richard Eppings, the fourteen-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eppings, who was at the hospital in Lincoln for some time, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis, and who is able to return home, is now feeling quite well. For a time it was feared that Richard had been exposed to diphtheria, but such was not the case and he is getting along nicely following the operation. This is good news to all of Richard's friends.

Was a Needless Scare

The fright which was occasioned on account of the apprehensive conditions, looking like there was to be cause for alarm due to a number of cases of diphtheria, has subsided, as steps were taken at once to observe the strictest care and as a result there has been no spread of the disease and no cause for alarm.

Mrs. August Panska Very Ill

Mrs. August Panska, who was taken with an acute attack of appendicitis, was taken last week to a hospital in Lincoln, where she underwent an operation and where she is convalescing nicely and is hoping soon to be able to return home. Her son, Will P. Meyer, came, accompanied by the wife, who remained at the home while Mr. Meyer accompanied the mother to the hospital and remained during her operation. The many friends of this excellent woman are pleased that she is doing so nicely.

ried at Plattsmouth on April 25th, 1882, and made Cass county their home until December, 1913, when they moved to Box Butte county. They received a number of letters and messages of congratulation from the friends and relatives. Their children are R. J. of Minatare, Neb.; Mrs. G. V. Whitlock, Whitney, Neb.; F. Pleasant Family Gathering

Last Sunday there gathered at the home of L. Neitzel for dinner, Mrs. S. B. MacDiarmid and daughter, Dorothy Jane, Mr. Charles Steckman, of Pennsylvania and Mr. William Pletsch, of Omaha. While this party was on, there came Mr. O. J. Hitchcock and family from Havelock. Now it began to look like a family gathering and the spring air and blossom time made it a never-to-be-forgotten occasion.

It was just the kind of a gathering that makes for friendship and sociability. It seemed to be quite a treat for these city dwellers to get out in God's country, close to nature, and enjoy nature at its best.

Seventy-Four and Hustling

That is the condition of John Albert Bauers, who has lived nearly three quarters of a century in one of the very best counties in one of the very best states in the best nation on earth and Al says this is not a bad old world after all. Speaking of the earlier days, for Al was born about six miles northeast of Murdock, at that time a very new country and one which has grown up with this excellent gentleman, he recalls how his father and many of the neighbors went down near Orepolis and cut wood for 25 cents per day. They would start about midnight Sunday evening, walking the entire distance (and there were no cars in those days to come along and give anyone a ride) and arriving at Orepolis around day-break in plenty of time to go to work. He also says that at that time Plattsmouth was without a railroad and had a quagmire in Main street and he recalls when a man brought a wagon load of corn to town and sought to trade it for a pound of green or unroasted coffee.

Since then Mr. Bauer has seen good times come and good times go, likewise also poorer times and very lean years. He says these times are not hard as compared with the other days. However, he was celebrating the passing of his 74th birthday anniversary last Saturday with a hope for better days ahead and returning abundant prosperity.

BOY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

Richard Eppings, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Eppings, who was operated on last week at the Lincoln General hospital, has so far recovered that he was brought home to Murdock Friday. The young man was operated on for appendicitis and a few days after the operation was taken with what was at first thought to be diphtheria, causing a great deal of apprehension to the attending physicians and members of the family. It was found later that the complication was not diphtheria and it was soon cleared up, permitting the boy to be returned home.

The Eppings family are former residents here and the many friends are pleased to learn that the illness was not as severe as first thought. The young man is a nephew of Mrs. Virgel Arnold of this city.
