Offer 5-Year Plan for Trade Revival in U. S.

Economists Declare That the Bonus Plan Is the Most Objectionable.

Chicago, Ill., May 23.—A "five-year plan" for revival of business by a drastic but temporary fiscal inflation was commended to congress today with the unanimous approval of the faculty of economics at the University of Chicago.

The 12 economists, answering the query of a house military affairs committee member concerning the wisdom of soldier bonus payments, threw aside the bonus plan as "the most objectionable of all available devices for releasing purchasing power."

"We are persuaded," they reported, "that automatic adjustments in the economic situation have already proceeded to a stage where inflationary expenditures would be handsomely rewarded in greater production, larger employment and higher tax revenues."

The professors advised that prices be raised by the stimulus of generous federal expenditures financed without resort to taxes on commodities or transactions. They suggested heavy contribution toward relief of distress and appropriations for public improvements, provided the projects can be "started quickly and opportunely stopped." These expenditures would be financed by large scale sale of government bonds to the federal reserve banks or by issuance of greenbacks.

"Inflationary measures, in whatever form," the memorandum read, "will probably accelerate for a time the export of gold, but this strain we may well be able to endure until revival of business is assured. Domestic hoarding of gold, on the other hand, might force us to suspension of our currency laws; and this possibility dictates caution as to the technique of inflation. The problem is simply that of selecting the procedure which will be least alarming."

The greenback issue must be ruled out, but the economists said, unless the nation is ready to abandon the gold standard if necessary, but they expressed little fear of this "remote possibility," adding: "The supposedly awful consequences of departure from gold are, as England has shown us so clearly, nothing but fantastic illusions."—World-Herald.

TO ANNOUNCE MORATORIUM

Vienna.—Austria's transfer moratorium will be announced Saturday, the newspaper Der Tag said, unless the League of Nations comes to her rescue by a new loan, which the greatest optimists doubt. Pessimistic reports to the cabinet by President Kienboeck of the national bank regarding his negotiations at Geneva, the newspaper said, that the final step must be taken in order to safeguard Austrian currency. The cabinet announced it was preparing the declaration of the moratorium, which will be submitted to parliament. It was pointed out that Austria is willing to fulfill all its obligations but is not able to transfer interest payments in foreign currencies.

WETS MAKE VICTORY CLAIM

Houston.—Anti-prohibitionists were divided among themselves but appeared to be in control on the eve of the Texas democratic convention. They claimed the reins for the first time since the state dry enactment fourteen years ago.

Speaker Garner of Uvalde was assured of his state's forty-six votes for the presidential nomination in the national convention. The division was on whether the democrats should declare themselves for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. In the interest of a solid front for Garner, one element of the party was advocating a soft-pedaling of the controversial prohibition issue.

Asks that Glover be Taken from Payroll

Utah Senator Wants Second Assistant Postmaster General Punished.

Washington.—A campaign to prevent postmasters from engaging in political activities and to cut off the pay of W. Irving Glover, second assistant postmaster general, was opened in the senate today by Senator King, Utah. In two amendments he proposed to the pending treasury post office supply bill, King asked that no funds go to pay the salaries of Glover or of postmasters who mixed in political activities while in office.

In submitting his proposals, King said Glover recently told a Missouri postmaster's convention in effect "to actively engage in supporting the president, telling them if they did not do so, he would be in Washington in a few days and would be glad to receive their resignations." Glover's resignation was demanded on the senate floor only a few days ago by Senator Norris as a result of the speech. Democratic Leader Robinson of Arkansas called Glover's statement "a disgrace." The postoffice executive also was assailed in the house.

King said the senate might not be able to remove Glover from office, but it could see he received no pay. In introducing his other measure, King referred to "a purported statement by Postmaster General Brown," in which King asserted Brown had said "postmasters might engage in political matters out of official hours."

The Utah senator said he could "not conceive" of the department being "used for political purposes as it had been for some time in the past and it is evidently intended by the administration that it should be used in the future."—State Journal.

Methodist Rule on Divorce Has Been Changed

Adultery is Not Now the Sole Grounds—Economy Move Strengthens.

Atlantic City.—The attitude of the Methodist Episcopal church toward divorce was liberalized when the general conference sanctioned as grounds for dissolution "vicious conditions which thru mental or physical cruelty or physical peril" invalidate the marriage vows. The change from adultery as the sole grounds, the second in almost a century and a half, was approved in the face of weak opposition.

G. Bornley Oxnam, president of DePauw university, replied to the dissenters with the statement that the church was deluding itself if it believed regulations would hinder divorces.

The conference also deleted from the Methodist Episcopal church toward divorce "ashes to ashes, dust to dust," from the marriage service "with my worldly goods I thee endow," and from the sacrament of the Lord's Supper the words "wine" in every instance except the prayer of consecration.

Berton C. Kile of Providence, R. I., offered an amendment to the report of the committee on temperance, prohibition and public.

The Methodist general conference continuing its economy legislation, directed a 16 percent reduction in salaries for both domestic and missionary bishops. The reductions were approved in a recommendation, which is accepted as mandatory. The recommendation, which will be put into effect by the Methodist book concern which administers the Episcopal fund, cuts the salaries of effective bishops from $7,200 to $6,000, and the salaries of missionary bishops from $6,000 to $5,000 annually. Only one delegate opposed the 16 percent cut.

The legislation reducing Episcopal salaries also provided for cuts in allowances for Episcopal residences and the pension of retired bishops. The residence allowance was reduced from $1,500 and $2,000 to $1,250 and $1,800. The pension allowance was reduced from $3,000 to $2,500.

The conference restored the allowance for Episcopal office expenses to $1,800, the present rate, after an attempt had been made to reduce it to $1,500. The $1,500 allowance to the widows of retired bishops also was ordered continued. Other action in the interest of economy forbids bishops in foreign fields making trips to the United States during the quadrennium, except in an emergency.—State Journal.

LABOR BACKING 6-HOUR DAY

Lincoln, May 23.—Official endorsement of petitions in circulation asking for the passage of an ordinance setting six hours as the basic day for all city employes and employees of city contractors has been given by the Lincoln Central Labor union, Britt Pryor, newly elected president, announced Monday.

"A sufficient number of signatures already have been received to submit the six-hour day petitions to the city council," Pryor said, "but we are to secure additional signatures to meet possible objection or possible withdrawals."

The union has endorsed the plan of an association made up of Lincoln civic organizations interested in having Lancaster county commissioners adopt a permissive statute creating a board of five members to administer county funds to needy citizens, as presented before the union by Mrs. Edward C. Fisher, representative of the Lincoln League of Women Voters.

Other officers recently elected are W. C. Burmood, vice president; K. E. Copeland, secretary; Adam Freehling, member of the executive board, and H. J. Prosser, sergeant-at-arms.

CHURCH FOR PROHIBITION

Omaha.—The congregation of the First Congregational church here voted almost three to one Sunday in favor of continuance of the eighteenth amendment. They rejected the suggestion of repeal of the amendment by a vote of almost nineteen to one. Four of every five persons voting, however, favored resubmission providing the new plan carried a more promising method of enforcement.

Drive in Senate to Bring a Vote on Resubmission

Party Chiefs in the Meantime Ponder Over What to Put in the Platforms.

Washington.—The drive for a senate test on resubmission of the prohibition issue moved rapidly forward Tuesday with national political leaders looking to the prospective decision as an answer to their platform troubles. Senator Bingham offered a repeal resolution which he left upon the table with a view to bringing it up for a roll call at the first opportunity. Senator Blaine called a special meeting of the prohibition controlled judiciary subcommittee for Thursday in an effort to get a report on the many proposals for repeal and modification of the eighteenth amendment before it.

Meanwhile, it became known that both President Hoover and national democratic leaders are giving attention to the prohibition plank to be put in the party platforms. The president was represented by republican advisers as standing firmly by enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, but studying an expression by the party in recognition of the principle of a referendum.

An indication of the attitude of democratic prohibitionists on the referendum and repeal subject may come Thursday from the decision of the judiciary subcommittee. Senators Walsh of Montana and Bill of Washington, democratic supporters of the nomination of Governor Roosevelt, are members of the subcommittee, and both are prohibitionists. Senator Borah, who wrote the 1928 republican prohibition plank and who is believed to have been approached by the administration regarding this year's declaration, is also a member of the subcommittee. Borah is a prohibition leader but has declared a willingness to meet the issue in a vote in the senate.

Senators Blaine and Hebert, the other members of the committee, are anti-prohibition.

The national convention in all its details, including a prohibition plank, was discussed by President Hoover and three party leaders for nearly three hours. Postmaster General Brown, Mr. Hoover's pre-convention campaign manager; James Francis Burke, general counsel of the republican national committee, and Charles D. Hilles, republican national committeeman from New York, went over the convention situation at the white house, remaining closeted with the president until well after 7 o'clock. As they left, the three conferees said almost simultaneously to inquiring newspapermen that "details of the Chicago convention" had been discussed. Asked if prohibition had been talked over, Burke replied: "Everything was discussed." Both Brown and Hilles echoed this statement, but said no final decisions had been reached.—State Journal.
