Reed Salary Cut Not Applicable to All

Would Not Hit Long Term Officials. According to Attorney General Sorenson.

Attorney General Sorenson said he is of the opinion that the constitutional provision prohibiting the increase or decrease in the salary of any public officer during his term applies to initiative laws as well as to laws passed by the legislature. Under this construction the initiative law proposed by Senator Perry Reed to cut the salaries of state officials and legislators, altho it becomes effective in name immediately after adoption by voters of the state and proclamation of the governor and not subject to veto of the governor, would become effective in fact Jan 5 next and then only against state officials elected to the new term of office beginning Jan. 5. It would not apply to six judges of the supreme court, two members of the railway commission, two members of the board of control whose terms of office are six years, nor to State Superintendent Taylor whose term of four years does not end until January, 1935.

Attorney General Sorenson said the initiative, reserved by the people to propose laws, in effect takes the place of legislative power to pass laws. Initiative laws are to become effective upon adoption of voters of the state but he believes the ban on changes of public officers salaries applies to both initiative and legislative laws. The section of the constitution prohibiting changes of salaries during terms, he believes, is not confined to legislative acts. In fact the section does not say the legislature shall not make such changes. It is a general declaration in an independent clause that such changes in salaries shall not be made by any power. The section in question reads:

"The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent or servant after the services have been rendered nor to any contractor after the contract has been entered into, nor shall the compensation of any public officer, including any officer whose compensation is fixed by the legislature subsequent to the adoption thereof be increased or diminished during his term of office."

Walcott said she was the third woman to get a transport license, the first to pilot a plane in solo flight across the continent and return, the first to cross the Atlantic by air, the first to establish a woman's altitude record and the first holder of the woman's maximum speed record.

Garner's Relief Bill is Ready for the House Includes Appropriations for Work on Missouri River Already Under Way.

Washington, May 26.—Bearing the approval of house democrats, the $2,100,000,000 Garner relief bill was completed tonight almost coincidentally with the announcement of a statement from administration quarters that a public works program would be a "shock to public confidence."

The Garner bill carries a $1,947,000,000 public works provision. It also would provide 100 million dollars to be administered by President Hoover for direct relief and would add one billion dollars to the capital of the Reconstruction corporation for loans to states, cities, counties, individuals and corporations that could furnish proper security.

For rivers and harbors work the bill carries 220 million dollars, including $20,070,000 for the Missouri river from Kansas City, to Sioux City, and $11,290,000 from Kansas City to the mouth. These projects are already under way.

The expression of administration opposition to a public works program came from Secretary Mills in a statement dealing specifically with the program advanced several nights ago by Alfred E. Smith of New York. He said "public works mean public borrowing, an unbalanced budget and a shock to public confidence."

Mills urged a balanced budget as the first necessity for business recovery. Says Authorization Ready. The Garner measure does not specifically provide for a bond issue but Speaker Garner explained to his colleagues in a two-hour session behind closed doors that the treasury already was authorized to issue bonds up to 28 billion dollars and to issue treasury bills, certificates and notes up to 10 billion dollars and that authority for a bond issue to cover the building projects was unnecessary.

The Garner measure provides for a tax of one-fourth of a cent a gallon on gasoline to meet the interest and sinking fund requirements on the bonds issued by the treasury for the program. Garner estimated that the gasoline tax would return approximately $42,500,000 a year and declared that "with the tax we are undertaking this program on an absolutely sound principle, for we are taxing the people to take care of the sinking fund." "The house will pass this bill, or something like it, long before it ever talks about adjournment," Garner said. "After it is reported out by the ways and means committee, probably next week, we democrats will caucus and we hope the democrats will vote to support the bill."

Lifts Restrictions. The measure removes restrictions on the Reconstruction Finance corporation and gives it broad latitude in order that loans may be made to "aid in financing agriculture, commerce and industry and other products and to assist in the relief of unemployment."

The 91-page bill has seven parts and 361 sections, but most of it is occupied with the specific authorizations for public works. It authorizes $568,782,000 in new construction and reauthorizes $478,092,468 in previously approved public works which have not been appropriated for.

Among other big items in the measure which affect every section of the country are: Federal highway aid, $233,400,000. Flood control, $180,692,468. Public buildings, $411,772,000. Total, $1,947,864,468.

The Garner bill would increase construction costs for a postoffice at Grand Island, Neb., from 55 thousand dollars to 130 thousand dollars. $1,490,000 for Iowa. The bill would make the following allotments for construction work to be paid out of bonds: Postoffices— Iowa—Algona, 80 thousand dollars; Ames, 130 thousand dollars; Clinton, 85 thousand dollars; Hampton, 80 thousand dollars; Harlan, 80 thousand dollars; Independence, 85 thousand dollars; Indianola, 80 thousand dollars; Knoxville, 75 thousand dollars; Manchester, 75 thousand dollars; Mount Pleasant, 85 thousand dollars; Nevada, 75 thousand dollars; Omega, 80 thousand dollars; Pella, 70 thousand dollars; Sac City, 75 thousand dollars; Sheldon, 80 thousand dollars; Storm Lake, 90 thousand dollars; Waverly, 90 thousand dollars; Winterset, 75 thousand dollars; in all, $1,590,000.—World-Herald.
