

Libby is Seeking an Early Trial to 'Clear Self'

Hiding Place Is Not Revealed After She Quits Hotel—Father Is Haggard.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Aug. 9.—Libby Holman's whereabouts remained a deep secret tonight, more than 24 hours after the former Broadway singer made a brief court appearance to surrender and make bond on a charge of slaying her young tobacco millionaire husband, Smith Reynolds.

Her father, Alfred Holman of Cincinnati, looking haggard as a result of strain, would not say where Libby had gone, and her local attorneys asserted they did not know.

After resting several hours in the seclusion of her hotel room, the singer, wearing a natty sports costume, instead of the heavy mourning in which she went to court, slipped out of the hotel at 2 a. m., entered an automobile and sped swiftly into the darkness.

Since then there has been no word of where she is.

Will Confer Soon.

Benet Polikoff, one of her attorneys, said he did not know where the singer had gone, but expected to confer with her within a week or 10 days. She will advise him where to come, he said, when she feels strong enough to discuss with him her defense against the state's allegation that she and Albert Walker, young chum of her husband, were responsible for the latter's death from a pistol wound, July 6, after a corn whisky party at the family estate.

No definite defense plans have been made but Libby wants an early trial, her attorney said.

Her first concern, he said, is the protection of her unborn child; her next, vindication of the murder charge.

"She wants a trial before the baby is born if physicians decide it will not endanger the infant," Polikoff said. "She wants vindication as soon as possible."

"Depends on Doctor."

Testimony given at the inquest into Reynolds' death indicated the anticipated heir to part of the dead youth's estimated 15 million dollar interest in the R. J. Reynolds tobacco estate, is not expected for several months.

Asked if it was likely his client would be prepared for trial at the October 3 term of court here, the next regular term, the attorney answered:

"We hope so. It all depends upon what the doctor says."

Holman left by train for Cincinnati this afternoon. He refused again to say anything about where Libby had gone, or her plans.—World-Herald.

IS FOUND GUILTY

From Wednesday's Daily

This morning in the district court Leonard Glover of Nebraska City, was arraigned before Judge James T. Begley. The defendant was charged with the transportation of intoxicating liquor and to the charge entered a plea of guilty.

The court after hearing the plea gave the sentence as a fine of $100 and costs and ninety days imprisonment in the county jail of Cass county.

The Studebaker car of the defendant was also taken under the provision of the state law and will be sold by the sheriff as having been used in the illegal transportation of liquor.

Glover was arrested at Union last Saturday night and his car found to contain ninety quarts of beer, twenty of which were iced, as well as a pint of alcohol.

The many friends here of the Jack Sherwood family of Nebraska City, will be pleased to learn that Lella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood, is showing improvement. The young lady has been suffering from a foot infection for some time and is now able to be around the house.

Use 'Barter Money' to Help the Jobless

Pastor of Methodist Episcopal Church at Minneapolis, Devises Scheme to Sustain Morale.

Minneapolis, Aug. 8.—Barter money is to replace United States currency as a medium of exchange for some 50 thousand unemployed persons organized here under a vast creative self-help plan.

Seeking to aid those unemployed who have not yet asked for direct relief and who are trying to avoid charity if possible, Dr. George Mecklenburg, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist Episcopal church here, has launched an enterprise known as the Organized Unemployed, to be operated and directed by the idle themselves for their own benefit.

"This is the first effort to reach this particular class of unemployed," said Dr. Mecklenburg today. "While there are some 40 agencies operating here, none has given any attention to the middle class unemployed 'white collar worker' and professional man to whom direct relief would be a most undesirable last resort."

Working to help jobless within his own church, Dr. Mecklenburg found farmers who were willing to exchange produce for work, home owners who would exchange wearing apparel and household goods for minor repairs and odd jobs.

Search for Odd Jobs.

Enlarging on this, farmers in 25 nearby townships are being solicited for jobs in exchange for produce and home owners throughout the city are being canvassed for odd jobs. Whatever workers earn in this manner is to be stored in vacant buildings donated rent free for the purpose.

Workers, themselves, however, are to be paid in barter money provided by Organized Unemployed, and the scrip used by them to purchase food and apparel from the storehouses.

The enterprise also includes repair shops to prepare clothing and goods for use, and workrooms to preserve perishable fruits and vegetables.

Organized Unemployed aims in addition to serve as the voice of the group and to raise and sustain their morale.

"The Heartache of Fear."

"We have found," said Dr. Mecklenburg, "that this group suffers not only from actual want but also the heartache of fear of being forced to become objects of charity."

"They must be given something definite to do, something to think about and plan for other than their individual problems. To this end the organization has been planned to include one hundred separate committees comprising 3,700 persons.

"It is planned, too, as a sort of big brother movement to aid the small home and property owners. One of our major efforts will be in the direction of working up sentiment against foreclosure of mortgages on the homes of those who have been paying for them over a long period of years and now face the prospect of losing them."

During the winter months unemployed musicians in the group will give weekly concerts in theaters which donated rent free. Movies and other forms of recreation also will be provided.—World-Herald.

FOOTBALL IN OFFING

The nearing approach of the opening of school also brings with it the start of the football training for the students who will form the high school squad for the year.

Coach Rotherst this year will have a number of his last year men back on the firing line to form the backbone of the team and the start of the season no doubt will develop some excellent material in the new students or those who have heretofore not been active in football.

Among the veterans who will be on hand when the training season starts will be Robert Hirz, whose work last year was the only bright spot of a drab season, William Ronne, Kenneth Armstrong, Stuart Porter, George Luschnisky, Robert Rummel, Greth Garnett, and Sam Arn, captain of the 1932 team.

The younger players who served on the second team last year will also be able to supply some excellent material and which may give the veterans a run for their places on the first team.

Says Douglas County May Override Governor

Chairman Frank Riha of the County Board Determined to Get $990,000 Loan.

Omaha.—On the heels of Governor Bryan's refusal late Monday to accede to the request of a Douglas county committee, Chairman Frank Riha of the county board Tuesday said he has not yet given up hope of inducing the governor to borrow $990,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to aid poor relief work here.

"Several delegations are coming to Lincoln," said Riha, "and when the demand is 100 percent the governor will be forced to take action, whether he likes it or not."

The governor said "no" to the Omaha committee, Riha was encouraged by a final word that the request might be taken up again later.

Commissioner Tom Falconer, the republican member of the committee, called the governor "obstinate."

"He doesn't care about Douglas county; he's simply giving the rest of the state roads," said Falconer.

The Omahans asked the governor to use federal highway money to pay approximately $300,000 in principal and interest due this year on bonds that paid for paving the Lincoln highway in Douglas county. This is a federal route but the county paved it before federal money was available. The governor said he could not do this.

Other counties, Falconer said, get considerably more than the one cent of the four-cent gas tax that is set aside for county roads. Federal work in other counties is going on, he added. While Douglas county, with most of the important roads paved, is getting none.—State Journal.

PRESENTS BUSY SCENE

The early morning hours are presenting a picture of life and industry over the city as the men and women employed in the various industries are hurrying to their labors in the various plants.

From six o'clock to eight there are to be seen large groups hurrying from their homes to where they are engaged in some of the factories or shops that constitute the industrial life of the city.

The canning factory has a large number of women as well as men working there and these form a large part of the earlier workers that hurry from all sections of the city to the factory where right now there is the rush of the corn pack.

The Nebraska Basket Factory also has a large number engaged there at the present time and these add to the parade of the workers.

The BRES shop force gathering for the start of work at 8 a. m. form the largest group of the workers of the city and largely represent the heads of families who derive their chief support from this car building and repairing industry.
