Working Out Details of the Corn Festival All Committee Report Roadway in Formulating Entertainment for Visiting Crowds.

Many details of the work connected with promoting the Corn Festival here October 5 to 8, were discussed at last night's weekly luncheon meeting of the general committee, held at the Majestic cafe, in accord with the predetermined policy of rotating between the different restaurants of the city.

The Finance committee reported a very pleasing response to its request for moderate donations based on present market levels and poor business conditions. Nearly every business institution in the city has responded with either cash or merchandise contribution, or both.

Definite assurance was had of the presence of at least three bands—the 17th Infantry for Wednesday, Louisville town band Thursday and Weeping Water band Friday. For Saturday, it is hoped to have both the Farmers Union band of Louisville and the Lewiston band. In addition the local high school band will lead the parades of Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. A good dance orchestra is also being secured for the free Mardi Gras street dance on Thursday evening.

Progress in organizing the Woman's club sponsored juvenile parade for Wednesday afternoon, but not as good assurances were offered for the rural school parade planned for Saturday afternoon. In order to acquaint the teachers, pupils and patrons of the rural school districts with details of the plan, a number of cars will drive into the country next Thursday on a joint visitation and appeal mission, urging the entry of floats in the Saturday parade.

The Program and Agricultural Exhibits committees will meet Tuesday night to outline prizes for various grain, vegetable and fruit exhibits. It was voted to hold exhibit competition to one general class open to all. A prior idea had been to have juvenile and adult divisions, with corresponding prizes for each group.

The street decoration committee gave a very comprehensive report that was unanimously adopted. Their first activity has been to get the platform erected at 5th and Main street intersections today.

Business houses will be asked to display the "Welcome" banners from their curb-line flag poles the entire four days of the festival, electroliter posts will be surrounded with shocks of corn, strings of pennants will be hung across Sixth street from Vine to Pearl and east on Main street wherever buildings on opposite sides of the street will permit. The intersection lights will also be raised and hooked up on Wednesday and Saturday nights between now and Festival dates, as well as burn each night during the celebration. The front of the "Corn Palace" will be appropriately decorated with corn and merchants are also asked to work out their own individual store front decorations utilizing this product as much as possible. The committee had turned thumbs down on a proposed outside-promoted decorative scheme to entail added expense.

The Kangaroo Court committee reported it would be ready to function beginning tonight and the first official session will be held from the platform at 5th and Main.

A special committee was named to try and negotiate use of the Elks building for rest rooms during the festival.

The Cap committee reported splendid response on cap sales, with only approximately 100 left of the initial 500 order received a few days ago. 350 additional caps have been wired for.

The Athletic committee reported on proposed baseball and football games, boxing and other athletic contests and was given further time to arrange its complete program.

The Concessions committee reported it could secure three riding devices with a large block of free tickets to be given to all participants in the juvenile and school parades in lieu of a concession privilege tax. The rides have been operated in conjunction with a carnival now closing its season and it was felt by the general committee their presence would add to the attractiveness of the festival, especially with the free ride privilege available to all children.

In addition to this, the Burlington miniature trains will be here the two closing days, giving free rides to all parade participants.

A booster trip through the county will be arranged for the week preceding the festival with a comedy band accompanying the thirty or more cars pledged to go.

Advertising will keep the wheels of business turning, even in "depression times." Don't overlook that fact, Mr. Merchant.

More Women Teachers are Urged in Reich

Inadequacy of the Present Staff Forces Girls to Boys' Schools Is Protested.

Freiburg (Breisgau), Ger.—"Give us more women teachers" is a demand which is being heard in Germany.

The present supply of qualified women is inadequate to meet the demand made upon them, and women are protesting that such inadequacy is having a detrimental effect upon the girls of their country. The members of the Central Association of Bavarian Women's Groups have carried their protests to the point of forwarding a resolution to the Ministry of Education in which they ask for improved conditions.

German girls in increasing numbers desire the experience of university training. Always of intellectual inclinations, the present need for economic independence is stimulating them to even greater energies in this direction, but they are finding that their efforts are cramped at the outset by a distinct lack in the training which precedes university life.

The association is asking that in all the schools for boys in which girls are received as pupils, women shall hold posts as class mistresses. They are asking further that, whenever possible, separate classes shall be established for girls in order that the "feminine influence and guidance"—which to German women appears all-important—may not be lost.

Business houses will be asked to display the "Welcome" banners from their curb-line flag poles the entire four days of the festival, electroliter posts will be surrounded with shocks of corn, strings of pennants will be hung across Sixth street from Vine to Pearl and east on Main street wherever buildings on opposite sides of the street will permit.

Betty Lou GOES SHOPPING

HERE 'tis the beginning of fall—the middle of September—with politics—and baseball—playing stellar roles in the public eye. However, it's interesting to note that a trip through the stores now with the very newest ideas in fall merchandise to see and talk about—will shelve the political question—momentarily, at least. Let's go shopping today! Sincerely,

Betty Lou

WHENEVER I have something that tastes unusually good, I can't help asking for the recipe, so that I can tell you folks about it. This Veal Roll recipe is just as good (if there's any left) as it is hot. Pour one cup of hot milk over 16 Premium soda crackers which have been crumbled. Mix two cups of chopped, cooked veal, one-half tablespoon minced celery, one teaspoon each of Worcestershire sauce and minced onion; salt and pepper to taste. Add to the hot milk and when cool shape into a roll. Beat one egg with one tablespoon of water and brush over the roll. Bake on a greased pan for about 20 minutes; garnish with parsley and serve hot. Mullen & Sons' Grocery and Meat Market will supply the veal as well as all the other necessary ingredients.

PEOPLE are something like squirrels. Now don't laugh—I mean in their habits of storing food. In the late summer and early fall housewives spend most of their time in the kitchen canning and preserving summer fruits and vegetables for use in the winter months. And doesn't the family "go for" canned peaches and plums, not to mention jellies and "spreads." The Red and White Grocery and Meat Market is actually brimming over with fruits and vegetables to can these days. Mr. Martin tells me that he's been disposing of lots of fresh vegetables and fruits lately. You'll find that it pays to shop at the Red and White—they're regular weekly advertisers in the Daily Journal and are always running a "special" on something you need in the grocery line—to say nothing of their low meat prices.

ONE MIGHT have the impression that because the fall season is just beginning and the weather still mild, the stores might not be showing much in fall merchandise—but on the contrary, they're full of interesting things—not only in new fall dresses, but in accessories to dress up the mid-summer wardrobe—new neckwear and blouses being much in evidence. The newest ideas to look for in fall materials are light weight woollens which should have a warm-looking appearance—lots of furry-surfaced materials are being used, and if silk is preferred—it should have a crinkled or rough weave and be of a dull finish. Soenichsen's Department Store is showing the smartest of early fall merchandise.

HOW MANY TIMES have you said, "I wish I had gas to cook on. I know it would be more convenient." So it would. And you may also have your wish. Just stop in at the Bestor & Swatek Hardware Store and tell them you'd like to have your kitchen equipped with a gas stove. You can have it, even though you live miles and miles from a city gas supply. It's simply this: Skelgas is a pure natural gas—much better than the average gas, for it burns with a clear blue flame that does not blacken pots and pans and creates soot. It will help you get your cooking done much faster and with less bother.

And here's a suggestion for the town people with natural gas—perhaps you're figuring on heating your home with this modern fuel, and if so, by all means see the furnace burner this Hardware is demonstrating. It is fool-proof and trouble-proof and can be set in your present furnace without the necessity of "bricking in." Drop in and see it operate.

WOMEN are firm believers in knitted wear for frocks and dresses—if you don't believe it, just stop in at the Ladies Toggery and notice the lovely knitted things they are showing for fall—styles that have much snap, and prices that make you feel that you could have a couple of these dresses if you needed more than one. You'll love the colors, too, which are plain or solid and some are of the "salt and pepper" effect. Another attractive feature about the newest knitted fabrics is that it's of the non-sag variety. A knitted dress or suit is a necessary part of the up-to-date wardrobe—they're always ready to put on because they don't wrinkle. Mr. Busch at the Ladies Toggery will be glad to have you inspect their selection of knitted dresses.

DISHWASHING is full of hazards for glassware. I venture to say the largest number of casualties is among drinking glasses. At any rate, one doesn't need to feel so badly about fatalities when we have Knorr's Popular Variety Store right here in Plattsmouth with a varied line of glassware in lovely shades of green, rose and amber. These drinking glasses to which I refer come in attractive shapes and are not a bit expensive, and the colors are so pretty that you'll be tempted to smash—accidentally, of course—some of the rose hued ones in order to have an excuse to buy some of the green ones. They cost only 6c each.

"I DO WISH someone would remember that I liked that particular brand of cosmetics!" remarked a young lady gazing into the cosmetic case at the Mauzy Drug Store. She was busy shopping for things to take back to school. It occurred to me that anyone wishing to present a "going away" gift to one of these college girls wouldn't make a mistake in choosing some powder, lotion or cream from such popular brands as Yardley's, Houbigant's or Armand's Symphonie. The Mauzy Drug Store carries these brands in addition to many delightful odors in perfumes and bath salts. All of which rank as "absolute necessities" in the heart of the modern girl.

PERHAPS a little too much swimming—too frequent rounds of golf without a hat and consequent exposure to old Sol's rays has made your hair dry, brittle and bleached looking. A few oil treatments at the Etta Belle Beauty Shoppe will restore your "crowning glory" to its natural beauty—the scalp will again glow with health and the hair itself will take on a pleasing gloss or lustre, and gradually the split ends of hair will disappear. Call 29 and ask for an appointment. After the oil treatment and shampoo, one of those lovely finger waves that Miss Nickles gives will make you look and feel a hundred per cent better.

IF A CUSTOMER can't find a pair of shoes among all those patterns at the Fetzer Shoe Company that is comfortable and good looking—then something is wrong, because I'd be almost willing to wager that it wasn't the fault of the shoe. Enna Jettick shoes for women are made in such a wide range of widths and sizes that just about any foot can be properly fitted with Enna Jettick shoes. The Fetzer Shoe Company has the new fall patterns in Enna Jettick shoes to show you—they're those good looking shoes that are built for comfort, but on the smartest and most fashionable lines you could wish for.

"SALT'S GOOD ON CORN" an elderly lady noted for her frugality—not to say stinginess—told me one day when she was visiting at our house. But I preferred butter and continued to use gobs of it on my "roastin' ear." Corn on the cob needs lots of butter, and I'll never be converted to the belief that salt will make it taste just as good. There just isn't any argument—with vegetables of any kind—butter is a necessity. And with butter selling at prevailing prices, there's no reason why we should use a "substitute" or none at all. When ordering butter at the A. G. Bach General Store, always say, "Casco Creamery Butter, please." It is made here in Plattsmouth, and the larger its volume of sale the more our home creamery can pay the farmer for his butterfat. Besides, there is no better butter on the market than Casco, barring none.

"See that man with the satisfied grin—He's got his winter coal all in!"

And it's a mighty comfortable feeling to know that you're safely prepared for cold weather when it arrives. The Hartford Coal Company is mighty busy these days delivering coal for the long cold winter months "just around the corner." Mr. Hartford mentioned the amount of freight he had paid on shipments of coal. It was an amazing amount, and at the time the thought came to me that just lots of people here in Plattsmouth perhaps partly owe their jobs to the fact that Mr. Hartford is doing that much business with the railroad. Order your coal NOW from the Hartford Coal Company. Phone 22.

NOTHING quite so satisfying as a good breakfast, cheerfully served in pleasant surroundings—with real coffee, too. We'll bet after you've had breakfast at Brown's Cafe you're going to be a steady "boarder," for it's one "eatin' house" where one does not tire of the menu and that goes for luncheon and dinner, too. Although the Brown Cafe has only been operating in its present location for a few months, their friends and customers are increasing daily. Business men find it a convenient place to lunch—It's next door to the hotel, and the service is what you'd call "peppy," the kind that's always appreciated when you have only a limited time in which to do justice to your food. Try Brown's Cafe for breakfast, luncheon or dinner—you won't be disappointed in the food or service.

GRBASE, PAINT and stains of all sorts—are removed at the cleaning establishment of Fred Lugsch, who has not only had years of experience in this business, but keeps a stock of special cleaning fluids for most any spot imaginable—excepting leopard spots—and no one has found a way to eradicate those successfully—not even Mr. Lugsch. And by the way, here's a suggestion that will be appreciated when you send your clothes to the cleaners: Pin a piece of paper to the spot designating what it is, i. e., ink, grease, milk, blood, fruit or berry stains. It makes it just that much easier for the cleaner when he knows what it is. So the next time you spill pop or salad dressing—just down the front of your dress or suit—just remember to tell the Lugsch Cleaners what it is. Just now they are offering a great 10 day special on cleaning and blocking of ladies and men's hats.
