Republican Spellbinders.
On last Saturday evening a number of the republican candidates and also two on the non-political ticket were in Murdock and addressed the people of Murdock on the horseshoe court, where they had just concluded the games of the evening, and where the area of the court was lighted.

Henry A. Tool acted as presiding officer, and announced the speakers. The first to address the voters was W. R. Young, who spoke at length telling of his nearly being a citizen of Murdock, and also telling of his desire to be elected to the office of county sheriff, saying that he was well qualified for the position and also complimenting the present sheriff very highly as an officer and expressing thanks that the people had come to hear him.

He was followed by Mr. Willard Clapp, candidate for representative, who spoke regarding economic questions and also of taxes, saying that he would be willing to work with any one for the benefit of the people, and paid a very high compliment to his competitor, George E. Nickles.

The third speaker was the present county judge, A. H. Duxbury, who told of his being born in Missouri and coming to Plattsmouth, his early life here, and paying a glowing tribute to his friend, H. H. Sennichsen, saying that the office of county judge was one of great responsibility, and that he was a candidate for re-election, thanking the people for coming out to hear him.

The next speaker was Troy L. Davis who is candidate for state senator and who spoke mostly on taxes and saying that the large item of tax was the school tax and giving a diagnosis of the entire tax dollar, and enjoining all to be faithful to their country and also in his remarks spoke of Hon. W. B. Banning in the highest terms, saying that he was a capable and hard working senator in the past. This completed the schedule of speakers.

The non-political ticket allows for those who are nominees on all, two nominations, and thus setting forth that there were two nominees for the office of county judge. He said that should be elected to the office that he would endeavor to administer the affairs of the office in the very best manner, impartially and fearlessly, and that he would devote his entire time to the affairs of the office and not to any other line of business. Thanking all who might agree with this, and co-operating to that end.

Bryan Asked to Remove a County Sheriff
County Attorney Johnson of Sheridan County Charges Ben C. Parker with Intoxication.

Lincoln, Sept. 23.—County Attorney Merwin C. Johnson of Sheridan county asked Governor Bryan Friday to suspend Sheriff Ben C. Parker and have the attorney general start proceedings to remove him from office.

Johnson charged the sheriff had failed to enforce the law, had been involved in liquor law violations and failed to report certain fees.

Five cases were enumerated in which Johnson claimed the sheriff had failed to execute warrants given him to hunt liquor offenders.

The county attorney charged that on Jan. 25 Sheriff Parker had been found in possession of a pint of liquor from which he drank and offered another person a drink; that on Aug. 29 he was found intoxicated at Alliance and taken into custody, and that on Sept. 17 he was again intoxicated.

The request to the governor also alleged Sheriff Parker had made no attempt to investigate a $400 robbery of a Bingham hardware store Sept. 13 and failed to furnish the county board with a statement of fees as required by law.

The suspension by Governor Bryan would be immediate. The attorney general's action then would be started in the supreme court.—Omaha Bee-News.

Roosevelt Says Government Has a Business Duty

Not to Enroach on Private Enterprise, But to Aid in Regulating if Necessary.

San Francisco. — Franklin D. Roosevelt said it was the task of government to assist business in the development of an economic declaration of rights under which the responsible heads of finance and industry would work together in the public interest. The exposition of the democratic presidential nominee's views was given before the Commonwealth club in an address which preceded his appearance at a democratic women's reception and at a public meeting in the civic auditorium later at night.

Incidentally the New York governor's visit developed an exchange of friendly words between him and Senator Hiram Johnson. In his Sacramento address Mr. Roosevelt praised Senator Johnson for his progressivism and referred to him as "long a warrior in the ranks of true American progress."

Commenting on Roosevelt's remark, the California senator who only the day before delivered an address criticizing the government's foreign debt and relief policies, said: "The attitude of Mr. Roosevelt is in sharp contrast with that Mr. Hoover has maintained toward progressivism and progressives in California. Governor Roosevelt was very gracious and generous in his address at Sacramento. I personally immensely appreciate what he said, and I am sure it is equally appreciated by the progressive republicans in this state."

Rights of Citizenship.
In his luncheon address Governor Roosevelt said: "Every man has a right to his own property; which means a right to be assured, to the fullest extent attainable in the safety of his savings. By no other means can men carry the burden of those parts of life which, in the nature of things, afford no chance of labor, childhood, sickness, old age. In all thought of property this right is paramount; all other property rights must yield to it."

"If, in accord with this principle, we must restrict the operations of the speculator, the manipulator, even the financier, I believe we must accept the restriction as useful, not to hamper individualism but to protect it."

"This implication is, briefly, that the responsible heads of finance and industry, instead of acting each for himself, must work together to achieve the common end. They must, where necessary, sacrifice this or that private advantage; and in reciprocal self denial must seek a general advantage. It is here that formal government—political government if you choose—comes in. Whenever in the pursuit of this objective the lone wolf, the unethical competitor, the reckless promoter, the Ishmael or Insull whose hand is against every man's, declines to join in achieving an end recognized as being for the public welfare, and threatens to drag the industry back to a state of anarchy, the government may properly be asked to apply restraint."

Duty of Government.
"Likewise should the group ever use its collective power contrary to the public welfare the government must be swift to enter and protect the public interest. The government should assume the function of economic regulation only as a last resort, to be tried only when private initiative, inspired by high responsibility, such assistance and balance as government can give, has finally failed."

"As yet there has been no final failure because there has been no attempt, and I decline to assume that this nation is unable to meet the situation."

Mr. Roosevelt said the declaration of independence asserted every man had the right to liberty and the pursuit of happiness.—State Journal.

He then buried the body in a gully under stones and leaves, he said. The body was found where Kehler said he had left it. "The boy was incurable, so I thought he would be better off dead," Kehler said. "I tried to get him into an institution and couldn't."

Plan Their Varsity Honeymoon

A honeymoon, spent in the study of calculus and other things that are taught at universities, is the plan of Thomas Ince, heir of the late motion picture magnate, and Nancy Drexel, movie actress, after their marriage on September 28. They plan to enter Antioch University, at Yellow Springs, O., where they will take courses they have chosen. They are shown as they talked things over in Hollywood.

The stock market also reflected this opinion, as leading rail stocks, after showing strength through most of the session, closed $1 to $2 a share higher in anticipation of developments at the meeting.

Railroad circles have understood that the differences which were finally ironed out today related principally to the I. C. C.'s awards of trackage rights among the four trunk lines had some complaint over the trackage rights granted it under the commission's plan, and the executives in the course of their meetings over the past two months had worked for a solution of these problems.—World-Herald.

Accord Reached on Rail Merger Eastern Roads

Would Consolidate Into Four Major Systems—Big Step Toward Actual Unification.

New York, Sept. 23.—Executives of the eastern trunk line railroads announced after a long session today that they had reached an accord on the modified plan recently approved by the interstate commerce commission for consolidating all carriers in this territory into four major systems.

A brief statement issued after the meeting said the heads of the four systems—New York Central, Pennsylvania, Chesapeake & Ohio and Baltimore & Ohio—had "agreed and composed" all differences between themselves arising from the plan. It was added that the plan did not include the New England lines except the Boston & Albany railroad, leased New York, New Haven & Hartford question was not considered. This referred to the Pennsylvania's directly or indirectly owned holdings of New York, New Haven & Hartford and Boston & Maine, which the commerce commission ruled should be disposed of by the Pennsylvania as a condition to fulfillment of its merger plan.

Railroad circles were inclined to regard the results of the session as a long step forward in the torturous path leading to actual unification.

Already plans have been set in motion for various forms of observance. Some women are to give musicals in their homes preceding the address. Others are arranging luncheons."
