Hoover to Base Hopes on Speech at Des Moines

To Discuss Not Only the Farm Problem, But All Problems of Office.

Chicago, Sept. 26.—President Hoover's speech at Des Moines, Ia., on October 4, it was indicated at republican headquarters today, will be the major one of his campaign.

Original plans for the Iowa speech were for it to cover only the agricultural and economic problems of that section of the midwest. Developments over the week-end were responsible for the probable change in the program.

Harrison E. Spangler, republican national committeeman from Iowa, passed through Chicago today en route home after a day of conferences with President Hoover in Washington.

Spangler took with him to Washington the preliminary plans for the Iowa speech and returned with them endorsed by Mr. Hoover and, it was reported, including several suggestions from the president.

Party leaders at headquarters here said national interest in Mr. Hoover's first speech has "assumed such magnitude as to require that it cover the nation rather than any particular section."

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt's coast-to-coast tour was credited with arousing much of the political interest.

Party spokesmen here said they were informed President Hoover would make no appearance other than the one at Des Moines on his first campaign trip. A later trip will take the governor either to Cleveland or Minneapolis.—World-Herald.

INDUSTRIES SHOW UPTURN

Chicago.—Meat packing and dairy industries showed favorable developments in the monthly report of the seventh federal reserve district. Production volume in slaughtering establishments of the United States increased, increased 6 percent in August and were 2 percent above a year ago and within 4 1-2 percent of the ten year average. Dollar sales were 3 percent better than July and the sales tonnage was 5 percent heavier than July and only 3 1-2 percent lighter than a year ago. Packing house inventories were 45 million pounds under a year ago and 165 million pounds under the five year average.

Butter manufacturing in the Seventh district decreased 7 1-2 percent from July, less than the seasonal amount, and remained on a level with last year. The butter inventory for the country was slightly heavier than last year but 35,000,000 pounds under the five year average. Prices averaged 9 percent higher than in July.

HUNT FOR MILLETTE HEIRS

State Holiday Group Votes to Co-Operate

Farmers at Norfolk Endorse Resolutions Passed by Association at Sioux City.

Norfolk, Neb.—A conference of Nebraska Farmers' Holiday association leaders closed here late Monday, after a discussion of a state constitution and by-laws, adopted in a recent meeting at Fremont, and endorsement of resolutions passed at a holiday association meeting at Sioux City, Ia., Sept. 18.

Newspaper men were excluded from the session. The milk producers' controversy at Omaha was discussed and a resolution passed urging farmers farther from Omaha to co-operate with the producers. Clair D. Johnson of Fremont, secretary treasurer of the state association, called upon Omaha newspapers to give the milk consuming public the facts in the case.

He said the farmers are not getting the raise recently decided upon by an outstate arbitrator, and that creameries now are getting a larger share of the price paid by the consumer than they did before the difference arose. Johnson said consumers pay nine cents a quart and farmers get six to nine cents a gallon.

Reports of mass meetings and organization work in several localities was given by the workers present. Organized counties represented included Dakota, Colfax, Dodge, Madison, Platte, Boone, Douglas, Pierce, Antelope, Lancaster, Dixon, Saunders, Seward, Cedar, Washington, Cuming and Thurston.

Omaha.—Members of the Nebraska-Iowa Co-Operative Milk Producers association Monday opened their house to house canvass in the interest of their association in its strike against two Omaha dairies, which refused to accept an arbitration price decision.

Earlier attorneys for one of the dairies went into court and received a restraining order preventing the farmers from interfering with drivers of the companies' trucks, interfering with producers having contracts with the dairy or interfering with customers. Clinton Brome, dairy attorney, said he would demand the farmers be cited for contempt of court if they "use any false representation, coercion, entrapments or inducements," in their canvass of the city.

The dairy's application for an injunction will be heard Oct. 6. In addition to the association officers, defendants named in the application for the restraining order included the Roberts Dairy of Omaha, and Emory Samson of Valley, as agent for the Farmers Holiday association.—State Journal.

NEWSPAPER IS A NECESSITY

New York, Sept. 25.—Achievements of the American press in the past year were pointed out by Carl W. Ackerman, dean of the Columbia university school of journalism, as proof of the "rights of journalism to full public recognition as a profession." The conduct of newspapers in this country "in a year which tested the character and resources of every human activity" had not only established the right of recognition as a profession, Dean Ackerman said, but had also proved "that journalism as a business is a public service unique in American economics."

His findings were contained in a survey of the press for the past year as a part of his first annual report on the school to President Nicholas Murray Butler.

"Journalism is advancing as a profession with a momentum that is destined to continue, despite the prevailing stagnation in advertising revenue," the survey declares, "for two fundamental reasons: First, because the success of journalism as a business depends upon its progress as a profession, and second, because journalism is the chief agency of our present civilization for the advancement of human relationships."

As news provides the sinews of public opinion the newspaper is indispensable in all public affairs, and as long as the principal functions of the state, the church, the home, the school and business are dependent upon public action, the press will advance as a profession.

"As long as advertising is necessary in commerce and industry the press will grow as a business by serving the basic economic function of bringing buyers and sellers together anywhere at any time. Our confidence in the future of journalism is founded upon these fundamentals."
