Farmers Must Rush Their Corn Loan Requests

None May Be Granted After February 28, Is Warning—Many May Be Too Late.

Thousands of farmers, eligible for corn loans if they would apply, may be left stranded in a last-minute rush. From three sources, a strong plea was issued Tuesday urging farmers to rush their corn loan applications into government offices if action is expected before the deadline of March 1.

No loans may be granted after February 28, according to Herbert Daniel, manager of the RFC office here, and unless farmers start making application for loans soon they may not be able to complete the necessary preliminaries in time to file their application with the RFC's Commodity Credit corporation office or with their local bankers.

What Is Necessary.
 Daniel's fear was echoed by State Railway Commissioner Drake at Lincoln and by Ray Murray, Iowa secretary of agriculture.

Before midnight of February 28, any farmer who wants a corn loan must apply for warehouse certificates, have his cribs inspected by the railway commission, get a certificate issued from Lincoln, file a duplicate with the county clerk and fill out application blanks to be sent to the Commodity Credit corporation here or to his local bank.

If all farmers hold off for the announcement of the corn-hog policy in February, many of them will be unable to get in touch with inspectors in time to complete the important warehouse inspection, Daniel fears.

Interest Saving Small.
 An added danger is the February thaws which may make many country roads impassable for the inspectors.

"Procrastination, the desire to escape paying interest the last few weeks, and a reluctance to part with the inspection fee until the last moment" are to excuses for not applying as seen by Drake.

"That 4 per cent interest for three or four weeks won't hurt anyone," he says, "but some will be hurt when they try in vain to apply during the last few days."

Loan applications received at the Community Credit corporation office Monday totaled 1,032, compared with more than 1,100 a week ago and 1,500 on many December days.

ROTARY HAS BOY'S PROGRAM

The Rotary club at their weekly luncheon on Tuesday had as their guest speaker one of the best known leaders in boy's work in the state, L. S. Oberleis, city commissioner of Lincoln and long time active in all lines of boy welfare work.

The program was under the direction of E. H. Westcott, who also has been active in this line of work locally as well as with the state organization of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Oberleis spoke freely from his long years of experience in all lines of activities among boys, stories of paths that brought tears to the eyes of his hearers as well as the humorous features that he had found in his contact with youth in the long years that he has served in this line of activity. His address was one of the finest talks that has been given before the club and one that will long be remembered by his audience as an inspiration to them as well as an able and eloquent plea for the youth of the land—a greater interest in the upbuilding and assistance of the boys of the nation.

The group singing was led by Frank A. Clodt instead of the regular song leader and was joined in by all of the members of the club with their usual hearty appreciation.

Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Wainwright

4-H Farm Account Contest.
 Cass county 4-H club members have an opportunity to enter a nationwide farm account contest in which winners will be given valuable prizes. Large prizes offered by the International Harvester company will be awarded the winners in the contest. The event is being held in an effort to encourage 4-H club members to keep farm accounts and accurate records of expenditures and receipts in their farm enterprises.

Due to the increasing emphasis being put on farm records, it is believed that several Cass county 4-H club members will enter the contest.

Boys and girls who compete are to have a complete inventory of all farm possessions at both the beginning and close of the year, they are to have a record of money received and paid during the year in operating the farm, itemized receipts and expenditures are called for, and a record of working time spent an expense incurred in producing each principal grain crop and other products is required. A balanced sheet showing how much money the farm made or lost during the year is also required.

Entrants in the contest will have their records judged for accuracy completeness, story and neatness. A 500 word story is required. The records may run for any 12 months between January 1, 1934, and March 1, 1935.

County, state, sectional and national prizes are offered the 4-H clubs. If five or more contestants complete the project in Cass county a $100 merchandise certificate on the International company is given the winner. In each state where county prizes are awarded by ten percent or more of the counties, the prizes will include a $100 merchandise certificate or a McCormick-Deering 750 pound capacity cream separator. A prize of $225 in merchandise certificates or a double suit milker is offered sectional champions. The boy or girl winning the national grand prize gets a choice of a Farmall 12 tractor, an International half-ton truck or a $500 merchandise certificate.

Any 4-H boy or girl interested in entering this contest should get in touch with the Farm Bureau office for more specific information.

Use More Cheese.

Have you ever tried converting the surplus milk into cheese. Cheese can be used where milk can not. To use plenty of cheese is one way to use more milk. It is true that cheese does not contain all the food values of milk but it does contain most of them.

Cheese is not just something to season or flavor something else—a condiment, or accessory. Whole milk cheese is a substantial food in itself, good in a main dish on a meatless day, for example; because it contains many of the same food values as meat, and other values besides.

There are certain things to remember about cheese, if you would enjoy it most. It is a very concentrated food, and too much of it should not be eaten at one time. It should be eaten at a meal with a fruit or a vegetable or both.

Extension Circular 924, "Cheese Making in the Home," is available upon request.

Caring for Summer Meat Supply

An early cold spell in January or very early in February is the best time for killing hogs which are to be canned or cured for the summer meat supply.

Hogs weighing from 225 to 250 pounds dress up to the best advantage for most farm families. Scalding and scraping the animal are better than skinning especially where cuts are to be cured. Where the skin has been removed from pork cuts, the fat becomes rancid more quickly due to exposure to the air.

Home canning of meat is quite acceptable, however canning should be done as soon as the carcass is thoroughly chilled and not after the breaking down changes have taken place.

Extension Circular 936, Home Preservation of Meat takes up in detail the killing, canning and curing processes.

Large Attendance at Meetings

The average attendance at the seven community corn and hog programs has been over two hundred. If this average attendance continues for the remaining four meetings, practically every farmer in Cass county will have attended some one of the meetings. The schedule of this and next week's meetings are:

Monday, January 15—Weeping Water, Congregational church.
 Tuesday, January 16—Weeping Water, Congregational church.
 Wednesday, January 17—Glendale church, three miles east of Louisville.
 Thursday, January 18—Nehawka, Auditorium.
 Friday, January 19—Mynard, Community building.
 Monday, January 22—Presbyterian church, Murray.

The present plans are that this county will probably start signing contracts about January 25. A precinct will be signed at a time. The county committee decided to rent an office in Weeping Water and have all the contracts signed there. This will save moving a crew of about fifteen workers all around the county.

Notices will be sent to the farmers in each precinct for the day they will sign up.

Plant Windbreaks to Protect the Farmstead

Because of danger from tree insects and diseases and different growth habits, a windbreak should be made up of three or four varieties of trees and should include at least one row of evergreens. Evergreens are much slower in getting started than broadleaf trees but are long lived and will serve as a year-long windbreak.

Following is a list of trees that are available for co-operative windbreaks and woodlot plantings on farms in Nebraska. Applications will be approved in the order of their return until the supply of stock is exhausted:

Broadleaf varieties: American Elm, Chinese Elm, Cottonwood, Green Ash, Catalpa, Honey Locust, Soft Maple, Box-Elder, Hackberry, Russian Mulberry, Russian Olive and Caragana.

Evergreen transplants: Austrian Pine, Yellow Pine, Eastern White Pine and Jack Pine.

Send in your application before the supply is exhausted.

Economy Act to be Made an Issue by Republicans

Senate Minority Decides to Support Veterans' Relief Program—Would Restore Benefits.

Washington.—Seizing upon the economy act as their first issue of the session, senate republicans decided unanimously at a party conference to back the American Legion's four point veterans' relief program and try to correct any inequities in federal civilian pay. Democrats reserved judgment on the move, although many who have fought the economy act cut in pay and compensation promised to support the minority effort. Several democrats who supported President Roosevelt's economy program also are understood to favor the legion proposals, but the general democratic policy probably will be against them.

The independent offices appropriation bill will be the vehicle on which the republicans will carry their fight in committee and on the floor. The measure will be taken up by the appropriations committee Wednesday. As passed by the house it incorporates extension of the administration's economy provisions, but also includes restoration of one-third of the 15 percent federal pay cut, effective July 1. It carries no veterans provisions. Whether the republican effort in the

Seize Five Japs Photographing U. S. Shipyards

Employed by Imperial Government, They Tell New Jersey Police; No Passports Found.

Kearney, N. J., Jan. 16.—Five mysterious Japanese who said they were employed by the Imperial Japanese government were seized by police Tuesday after they were seen photographing the federal shipyards here.

They were taken in custody while apparently taking photographs of the new Pulaski skyway. Each had a camera. They were held at the Second police precinct for questioning. They have not been charged with any law violation.

The Japanese gave their names as Yoriko Yamanato, 37; Benzo Nishimura, 40; Shizuo Ade, 39; Y. Y. Chant, 36, and Eisahura Fujii, 33, all of New York.

A civil works administration worker gave the tip to the police, saying he had watched the Japanese snapping a number of photos of the federal shipyards.

Seek Confirmation.
 The police say they want to confirm the statement, and if they find the photos are as suspected, federal authorities will be notified.
 The Japanese, according to the po-

OMAHA PARTIES MARRIED

From Monday's Daily

This morning a marriage license was issued to Jack S. Wright and Miss Margaret Jordan, both of Omaha, at the office of County Judge A. H. Duxbury. The young people were married by Rev. G. A. Pahl of the St. Paul's Evangelical church.

Try the Jackknife Ski Jump

Something new in ski jumping is displayed by Alf Engen, world's professional champion, at Salt Lake City, Utah. It is something similar to the jackknife dive in swimming. Engen claims position of body almost parallel with the ground, gives greater speed and distance. He holds the world's record with a jump of 226 feet.
