Sheep, Lambs on Feed in State Much Reduced

Agricultural Department Report Shows Seven Percent Less Sheep and Lambs in State.

There were about 7% fewer sheep and lambs on feed in Nebraska on January 1 this year than last according to E. V. Jones, assistant agricultural statistician. Lamb feeding in the eleven corn belt states on January 1 was about 11% smaller than a year ago while the total operations in the corn belt and western states were nearly 13% smaller.

There were approximately 775,000 head of sheep and lambs on feed in Nebraska on January 1, 1934. This number is to be compared with 835,000 on feed a year earlier and 820,000 on January 1, 1932. While feeding operations in the Scotts Bluff territory were on a reduced scale this year, operations in the Central Platte valley and nearby points were fully as large and perhaps slightly larger than a year ago. There were very few lambs on feed in the yards near Omaha both this year and last.

The decrease in lamb feeding which took place in the United States as a whole was about equally divided between the corn belt and western states. The total on feed in the eleven corn belt states of 2,555,000 head was about 11% smaller than a year earlier. The five states east of the Mississippi river and the three states west of the Missouri river all had smaller numbers on feed this year; each of the three states between these two groups had increased numbers from a year earlier. The decrease in Nebraska resulted from a decrease of about 90,000 head in the Scottsbluff area, with some increase in the rest of the state.

Officers Search for Attackers of Aged Man

Deputy Sheriff Lancaster Joins Party in Search in Vicinity of Near Elmwood.

Deputy Sheriff J. E. Lancaster was out at Elmwood and vicinity Thursday afternoon to join Sheriff Ryder and party of Otoe county deputies in the search for the assailants of Marcus Wessel, aged Otoe county farmer, residing just south of Elmwood.

The attack was made on the aged man who lives alone, in an effort to force him to tell the whereabouts of money that the men were convinced the aged man had secreted.

After beating and kicking the 65 or 70-year old man, who fought back valiantly as long as his strength endured, the two men departed from the farm, leaving Mr. Wessel securely tied in a cornfield.

The account of the crime as given by the Nebraska City News-Press is as follows:

When Mr. Wessel declared over and over again that he had no money on the place the men trussed him up with heavy rope, gagged his mouth with a rag and then carried him out into the cornfield.

"Unless you tell us where your money is," one of the men declared, "we're going to pour coal oil over your body and set you on fire."

All Mr. Wessel could do was shake his head. Again they threatened to go to the house, get oil from the lantern and add to the tortures they already had inflicted. Apparently discouraged at the man's steadfast denial that he had money hidden in his house or on his farm, the two torturers departed.

Mr. Wessel was unable to free himself for an hour and a half. Then he made his way to the home of a neighbor a half mile away, where he spent the night.

Mr. Wessel lives alone in his modest home, which is on a quarter section of land on the county line nine miles north and three miles west of Syracuse. He has children in Alvo and Palmyra.

The torturers came to his home about 8:30 Tuesday night, walked in when they saw their victim sitting there and stuck a gun in his face. One of the men was masked and armed. They demanded his money but Mr. Wessel said he had none there.

Then the brutality began. The armed marauder "buffaloed" Mr. Wessel over the head with the barrel of his gun, inflicting a cut. The farmer fought back for several minutes, finally was overpowered by both the strangers after he was struck on the face and cut.

After being dragged out into the cornfield and trussed up the farmer was kicked and beaten some more, but he couldn't tell them the hiding place of his money because he had none.

Mr. Wessel's farm house is in a lonely part of Otoe county, away from main traveled highways. The man's children told Sheriff Ryder they have convinced their father he shouldn't live there alone any more.

REHEARSALS NOW ON

The rehearsals of "George in a Jam," the three act comedy drama being presented by the Wintersteen Hill Parent-Teacher's association at the high school auditorium on Thursday evening, February 1st, indicate it will be one of the funniest home talent plays produced for some little time.

The antics of "Bub" Martin as "Pop Larkins," "Wink" Sprecher as "Zeke Stebbins," "Bus" Mumma as "Lena" and Edna Herring as "Sara Jane" are funny enough to even make the Four Marx Brothers take a back seat. The mystery of the stolen jewels and their recovery add to the suspense in such a manner that the solving of this mystery and the comic situations encountered before the jewels are recovered keep the interest at a high pitch at all times.

By boasting and seeing this home talent play you are not only getting an evening's entertainment but at the same time supporting a very worthy cause. The children of our community must be educated and to be properly educated our school buildings must be in first class condition at all times. The proceeds of this play are for completion of repairs to the Wintersteen Hill school. As everybody is concerned in education so should we all be interested in seeing "George in a Jam."

F. A. Stollman, well known resident of Louisville, was in the city today and had his subscription to the Journal renewed for the ensuing year.

Twin Ambitions

MORTALS

The spirit of mortals is fleeting on the tide,
Like the grass, that withers and is laid aside,
And the wind bloweth and scattereth it far, far away,
Till influenced by reason and a more perfect day.

The calendar is consulted and hangs on the wall,
The birds twitter and chirp out of tune as they fall,
But the spirit of mortals will soon flee away,
Like the clouds in the sky, are fleecy and gray.

A king may enthral, a prince may inspire,
But the spirit of mortals burn with a desire
To scatter abroad seeds, then rest in the shade,
Near a babbling brook or a peaceful glade.

Stop; stop ye mortals with the spirit of lust,
This world is not so large since reduced to dust,
In the fullness of time you may be able to learn
That the earth on its axis continues to turn.

The spirit of mortals should ever be free,
As the light from the beacon flashes on the lee,
For when quickened by Love, which overshadows all,
It is redeemed from the darkness that hangs like a pall.

Deep in the stillness of the forgotten glen,
The shades of night are weaving a web tighter than any tongue or pen
Could portray in words or pictures of the days of yore,
Till the spirit of mortals yield to the old forgotten lore.

P E O Chapter Observes Founders' Day Friday

Ladies Join in 1 O'Clock Luncheon and Fine Program at Home of Mrs. J. E. Wiles.

The members of Chapter F. P. E. O. Friday afternoon held a very beautifully arranged and carried out observance of Founder's day, commemorating the founding of the order by a group of seven young ladies at Iowa Wesleyan at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, in 1849.

The local chapter is one of the oldest in the state and was established here on September 7, 1889 and has been one of the most active in the state.

The observance was held at the home of Mrs. Ella Wiles, the home being very charmingly arranged in the color scheme of yellow and white, the colors of the society.

The ladies enjoyed a beautifully arranged 1 o'clock luncheon, the tables being featured by a centerpiece of a small figure dressed as an old fashioned girl in yellow, wearing the P. E. O. apron and star. Places were found by handsomely prepared cards which bore the pictures of the seven founders.

The committee in charge of the luncheon comprised Mrs. Mattie Wiles, Mrs. Janet Patterson, Mrs. Minnie Moore, Mrs. Ona Baird, Mrs. Alice Woster, Mrs. Marjorie Lehn, Mrs. Mary Cook, Mrs. Florence Devoe.

Following the luncheon the ladies took up the business session of the day, presided over by Mrs. Olga Wiles, president.

The program of the day, honoring the founders was in charge of Mrs. H. F. Good, the opening portion being a P. E. O. song given as a solo by Mrs. Jack Figley and several of the P. E. O. songs led by Mrs. E. H. Wescott.

The ladies then enjoyed a playlet, depicting one of the early meetings of the society, the ladies of the chapter taking the dicer roles, they being coached in the playlet by Miss Helene Perry. The ladies taking part were Mrs. Lela Davis, Mrs. Lorene Heineman, Mrs. Florence Devoe, Mrs. Alice Perry, Mrs. Alice Woster, Mrs. Daisy Hartford, Mrs. Edith Tunnell, Mrs. Mary Rawls. This feature closed the occasion.

RED WILLOW GETS CHECKS

With the arrival Friday of $50,405 for farmers in Red Willow county, more than $1,500,000 in wheat benefit payments has been received in Nebraska, W. H. Brokaw, state wheat program administrator, said.

Checks totaling $85,000 were received in Kearney county and Custer county got $17,887 Friday. Checks for the growers in Sheridan and Dawson counties also have arrived but the exact amounts have not been reported to the university. Practically all eastern Nebraska counties have received checks.

The federal corn-hog reduction program, meanwhile, is gaining momentum in the state, Brokaw said. District conferences for agricultural agents were concluded this week and community meetings now are being held. He hopes that the work of signing contracts with farmers will be concluded by Feb. 24.

BELIEVED AMNESIA VICTIM

Los Angeles.—A 32 year old man, tentatively identified by building and loan certificates he carried in his clothing as Carl H. Buckendahl of Osmond, Neb., was classified by police here as an amnesia victim. Officers said the man could not give his name and did not know where he was. They said he stopped a sheriff's automobile and said he was being pursued by enemies. They said he told them he believed he was in Las Vegas, Nev. Officers were endeavoring to get in touch with Hugo Buckendahl, clerk of Pierce county, Neb.

Pierce, Neb.—County Clerk Hugo Buckendahl said he had not heard from Los Angeles authorities concerning his brother, Carl Buckendahl. The clerk said he knew nothing of his brother being found in Los Angeles. He said the last he knew of Carl's whereabouts was that he was in Norfolk, Neb., on New Year's day.

Americans Protest Interest Reduction

Reichsbank Head Quits Berlin on Eve of Slated Conference—Substantiates Rumors of Friction.

Berlin.—Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, left Berlin unexpectedly as representatives of foreign holders of German securities prepared to meet at his invitation Thursday to protest against a Reichsbank order reducing interest amounts that can be transferred abroad. In banking circles his departure was cited to substantiate rumors of friction between the German cabinet and officials of the German Central bank, who recently cut foreign interests and amortization payments from 50 to 30 percent.

Allen W. Dulles, formerly of the American state department, and Laird Bell of Chicago, representing American investors owning more than 700 millions in German securities, prepared for Thursday's scheduled meeting by reviewing the exemption of Dutch and Swiss investors from the order—a point on which particular opposition has developed among American and British agents.

The German foreign office, meanwhile, studied an answer to two notes given it by American Ambassador Dodd on Jan. 2 and Jan. 19. The communications were understood to have protested energetically against the "discriminations in favor of the Swiss and Dutch creditors" in the matter of the moratorium on transfers.

Reliable information in banking circles was that the Dutch and Swiss holders would receive scrip in the next six months, the same as other creditors, but will be allowed to apply the scrip in payment for certain categories of imports from Germany. Under the terms of the purported

When a person needs a thing, they pay for it whether they buy it or not. That's an old saying, as true today as when first coined. Prosperity is already nearer than "just around the corner," so don't put off longer buying the things you really need.

Swiss-Dutch agreement, the nations of those countries holding German securities or bonds will receive 100 percent of their monies, although others, under the new 30 percent transfer system, will receive but 65 percent—39 percent cash and 35 percent additional by discounting 70 percent in scrip by one half.

Following Mr. Dodd's visit to the foreign office, Reichsbank officials answered the American government's protest in behalf of the Reichsbank, but the government at a late hour had not officially answered the notes. One of the points made in the representations was that German debtors have been buying their own securities in New York under par with "inflated" dollars and with a considerable saving in interest and amortization charges.

FOLK PWA LETTING UPHELD

Oscola, Neb.—District Judge Hastings Wednesday denied the Lincoln Steel Works a writ of mandamus to force the village trustees of Polk to award it a contract for construction of a $10,000 water standpipe, a PWA project.

The ruling brought to a close a trial in which the Lincoln firm charged a clique has gained control of PWA construction in Nebraska, and that the contract was given to the Omaha Steel Works despite the fact that the Lincoln Steel Works bid was $7 lower.

In handing down the decision Judge Hastings said there was "evidence of strong co-operation" between the project engineer and the successful bidder. The village had asked that the case be dismissed on the ground that its board had a right to exercise discretion on bids.
