Press Censor Breeds War, Says Dean Ackerman

Urges United States Publishers to Seek Free Flow of Foreign News.

Columbus, O., Feb. 9.—Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia school of journalism declared tonight that press censorship is inevitably followed by war and urged American newspaper publishers to demand a "free flow of information" from foreign sources.

"The time has come for the American press to recommend and support a new American policy in foreign affairs," he told a meeting of the Ohio Newspaper association. He asserted there is a direct relationship between the freedom of the press and international amity.

Calling the press the power plant of democracy, Ackerman reviewed briefly the work of American newspapers in national, state and city affairs and described censorship conditions in which the press operates in certain foreign countries.

"The chief nations threatening world peace today are Germany, Japan, France, Italy and Russia. In each of these countries the press is controlled by government officials or militarists who have the power to declare war or force a declaration of war.

Nations Seeking Peace. "The chief nations which want peace today are the British commonwealth, the five small but free nations of Europe and the United States.

"In these countries the press is free from government control or censorship."

He declared American journalism has served the American people during the first 11 months of President Roosevelt's administration in important respects.

COLD BOTHERS ROOSEVELT

Washington.—President Roosevelt sized up national affairs from the quiet of his study as he denied himself to callers, nursed a slight cold and caught up on an accumulation of correspondence. The cold did not keep Mr. Roosevelt in bed. He dressed and went to his study to dictate mail.

A report on revision of the new securities control law and a statement outlining the administration's new sugar policy probably will be forthcoming from the president this week. Both subjects in all likelihood will be submitted to congress for action. The new sugar policy with its sugar a basic commodity under quotas on imports also includes making the agricultural adjustment act.

Sketch of Life of Mrs. Charles Murphy, Manley

Resident of Cass County for Many Years and Woman of Christian Faith and Character.

The death of Mrs. Chas. Murphy, which occurred Monday, January 22, at the St. Catherine's hospital in Omaha, came as a shock to a large circle of sorrowing friends and relatives, as well as to the community in which she lived. In failing health for the past few months, she had gone to Omaha for rest and medical treatment, but she was not thought to be in any danger until the Tuesday previous to her death.

Surrounded by her devoted family of six sons and two daughters, her brothers and sisters, fortified by all the rites of the church which she loved with true devotion throughout her entire life, Mrs. Murphy passed quietly away to her eternal reward.

The devotion to duty of this good mother, rose to truly heroic heights when, immolating herself upon the cross of her country's need, silently and uncomplainingly, but with breaking heart, she gave up her four sons to serve in the World War, proving once more that devotion to the Catholic faith is synonymous with the highest citizenship and most exalted patriotism.

Mrs. Murphy was born in Canada on September 14, 1859. At the time of her death she was 74 years, 4 months, and 8 days old. She was married to Charles Murphy at Plattsmouth, Nebr., November 11, 1885. She came as a bride to her farm home near Manley, where she resided until the time of her death.

The body was taken to the family home three and a half miles from Manley, where from Monday evening until the morning of the funeral a constant succession of friends, relatives and old time neighbors came and went to tender their sympathy to the family and pay their last respects to the beloved dead.

Funeral services were held at St. Patrick's church in Manley Wednesday, January 24th. The Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. Wm. Murphy of David City, cousin of the deceased, assisted by Father Agius of Plattsmouth, and the pastor, Father Harte. The Mass was sung by the Manley choir. Miss Anna V. Rauth of Omaha sang a solo at the Offertory and at the conclusion of the Mass.

The honorary pallbearers were the four brothers of the deceased, P. W., Michael, Albert and David Tighe, and two brothers-in-law, John C. Murphy and Alex Peasinger. The active pallbearers were her six sons.

In the funeral sermon Father Harte spoke of her abiding faith and submission to the will of God, which enabled her to bear with such fortitude the sorrow of the sudden, accidental death of her son, Humphrey, only four short months ago. He spoke briefly but eloquently on what had been to the community for many years an open book—the noble and upright life of this woman.

Surviving Mrs. Murphy are six sons: John T. of Weeping Water; Charles, James, Frank, Joseph and Paul of Manley, two daughters, Margaret and Anne of Omaha, two daughters-in-law, and two grandchildren. Four brothers: Michael and Albert of Fullerton, Nebraska; P. W. and David Tighe of Omaha; three sisters: Mrs. Thomas Burgner of Pella, Iowa; Mrs. Thomas Burgner of Pella, Iowa; Sr. Felicitas, Hartington, Nebr., and Mrs. Alex Peasinger, Omaha.

Her husband, Charles, preceded her in death December 8, 1921; her son, Humphrey on Sept. 24, 1922.

Friends and relatives from a distance who attended the funeral were: M. J. and A. E. Tighe of Fullerton; P. W. Tighe, Mr. and Mrs. David Tighe, Mr. and Mrs. A. Peasinger, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sprec, John L. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. P. ### Cancel Air Mail Contracts of Government

President Roosevelt Orders Army to Take Up Task of Handling the Mail in United States.

Washington.—The government took the business of buying mail from all the twelve concerns with which it held domestic contracts and ordered the agency which first flew it, the Army, to again take up the work.

The blanket abrogation of contracts, effective Feb. 19, followed presentation to Mr. Roosevelt of evidence gathered by a senate committee in a long study of the circumstances surrounding the letting of contracts during previous administrations. Mr. Roosevelt instructed Postmaster General Farley to end the contracts and immediately issued an executive order placing the army air service at the disposition of the post-office department. He also arranged with Secretary Roper to make available to the army mail ships all landing fields under the regulation of the commerce department.

"This order annulling the existing domestic air mail contracts," said Farley in a formal statement that accompanied the order, "has been issued after careful and deliberate study of the entire situation, which study included conferences between myself and other officials of the post-office department with the president and with the attorney general and other representatives of the department of justice."

President Roosevelt, in his executive order, said that "public interest requires that the airmail service continue to be afforded and the cancellation of federal contracts has created an emergency in this respect." He thereupon ordered the army into action to carry the mail.

The president made the disclosure of the cancellation at his regular press conference, indicating the basis of the action was the evidence of fraud and collusion produced by the senate inquiry and by a parallel inquiry by the postoffice department.

The cancellation order issued by Farley did not include the pan-American airways, which carries mail to the Caribbean islands, and to South and Central America. Thirty-four routes, many of them extensions to the lines originally established under contracts, are involved in the order. The extensions were granted under authority of the former postmaster general.

DE GUISE PREPARED TO ACT

Brussels.—Informed quarters here were agreed everything was ready for immediate action by the Duc De Guise, 53 year old head of the Bourbon house of Orleans and pretender to the throne of France, should circumstances warrant. Altho events do not appear ripe for such an action, the pretender's son, Henry, Count of Paris, an experienced aviator, would be able to convey his father personally to France at any moment.

The Duc De Guise, who would like to reign as King Jean, III, is in permanent touch with his partisans in Paris, who are reporting on developments in the situation. No special activity, however, was perceptible in the proximity of the Manoir D'Anjou, the pretender's residence near Brussels.

CODE MEETING ON MARCH 5

Washington.—Hugh S. Johnson set March 5 as the date for assembling in Washington the ruling committees of all coded industries to coordinate and revise the agreements. Johnson, NRA chief, said that by that date he would have concrete proposals to offer for a general further reduction of working hours thruout industry. He added he would be able also to inform trade as to what competitive restriction rules would be allowed in codes and what existing regulations on prices and similar subjects would have to be removed from the existing pacts.

He estimated that between 175 and 200 code authorities would be called into the session.

The declining to outline his exact proposals for hour shortening, Johnson's comment apparently strengthened the possibility that a thirty-two hour average work week would be sought in place of the forty four week now generally in effect.
