

UNION ITEMS.

A. W. Probst of Nebraska City was here last Monday, where he was looking after some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Meisinger were in Plattsmouth one day this week, looking after some business matters.

Edgar Newton and family, of Plattsmouth, were guests on Sunday at the home of Mrs. Newton's mother, Mrs. Vesta Clarke.

Ray Galloway moved over to Palmyra the fore part of this week. He has leased a farm and will farm there during the coming year.

Mayor George A. Stites and Ira Clarke were called to Nebraska City last Monday to look after some business matters for the town.

The Rev. N. B. Kunkel was a business visitor in Omaha last Saturday making the trip via the Missouri Pacific train and returning on the late train.

Glen Meisinger, of near Louisville, was in Union on last Monday, coming to visit with his brother, Lawrence Meisinger and to look after some business matters.

Martin Bloom of Plattsmouth was looking after some business matters in Union one day last week, driving down in his car, and was also visiting with his friend, John B. Roddy.

George Lindsay was in town and had two tons of coal sent out to his farm home. While he has plenty of wood, he was not able to get it sawed into stove wood lengths and so had to purchase coal.

Horace W. Griffin and Lester Schumaker were in Omaha last Monday, where they were looking after some business matters and where Mr. Griffin was making arrangements for taking over the produce station. This will put Mr. Griffin in business for himself instead of working for some one else.

Bud Fitch, who has been sick for so long and has been at the hospital on two separate occasions, returned home some days since and now seems to be making good progress. He is expecting to be back in his former good health in the near future. His many friends will be pleased to learn that he is now showing such good improvement.

John Clarence, who has been here for many years and is well known by a large number of friends, was celebrating the passing of his seventy-second birthday and had a most enjoyable time with his friends in and about Union, recalling the happenings of earlier days. John has been much of the history of Nebraska made and remade.

A. L. Becker, who is an ardent advocate of good roads, with the help of his assistant, Joe Davis, has been hauling cinders with which to provide a better roadway from the timber where he has been cutting wood. They were in Nebraska City on last Monday and on their return trip, brought with them a load of 5,000 pounds of commercial phosphate for W. B. Banning for use in his orchard at Union.

Here from Colorado
Mrs. Jack Chalfant, formerly Miss Minnie Davis, and her sister, Mrs. Jessie Montgomery, both of Burlington, Colorado, were brought to Union and Nebraska City by Bob Montgomery, they coming to attend the funeral of Mrs. Montgomery, who recently passed away in Nebraska City, being the grandmother of Robert Montgomery, who drove the aunts to Union from Colorado to attend the funeral. The ladies are distant cousins of Mont Robb. All are remaining for a prolonged visit with friends and relatives in this part of the country before their return.

Attended Funeral Last Sunday
Joseph H. Johnson, husband of the sister of G. S. Upton, passed away at the home near Weeping Water last week, the funeral being held Sunday. The health of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Upton was such that they were unable to attend the funeral, but Mr. and Mrs. Roy Upton drove over and attended the last rites.

Boys Home in Union
J. R. Dysart, who has been residing in Union for some time past, has concluded that he had better have a home of his own, and so recently purchased the home of W. E. Moore located just west of the old Presbyterian church. This will make a good home for Mr. and Mrs. Dysart.

Given Birthday Surprise
Grandmother Hesterr Chawford, with her seventy-seven years, has many friends who seek to do her honor. Her birthday fell on the same day as that of the Father of His Country, George Washington, and the friends taking advantage of this holiday date, gathered at the home of a neighbor, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Caldwell, then had Grandmother Crawford come over, giving her a real surprise and providing a merry evening for her, also giving her some very nice remembrances. With the seventy-seven years behind her, she is spry and active and sure did enjoy every minute of the party, which her friends and neighbors furnished her.

Finds Good Home
A little babe arrived last Friday to make her home in Union, finding one with Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCarroll, where she was happily received and where she seemed well pleased to be allowed to call them mother and father. She and the parents and other members of the family are sure happily over the arrival. All are doing nicely.

Miss Augusta Robb Selected
In the examinations which were held some time since for the selection of a new postmaster for Union on the changing of the office from one class to another, Miss Augusta Robb, who has held the office in the past, was among those who took the examination. She scored a high percentage in the Civil Service rating and as a result was given the appointment. She was notified of the appointment a few days ago, the notice stating that her commission would follow in a short time.

Miss Robb has proven herself an excellent official in this line and is therefore succeeding herself to the position.

Entertained Woman's Club
Mrs. Ida Roddy entertained at her home in Union the members of the Union Woman's club, with all enjoying a very fine afternoon on Wednesday of last week. On the program were Mrs. Charles Garrison who gave a review of the book, "God's Gold," which was enjoyed by all present. The review of another book and several musical selections were also on the afternoon's program.

Long and Eventful Life
On March 7, 1842, there was born in the state of Pennsylvania Miss Nancy Rakes, now a resident of Union, residing at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Clarence, and who with the coming week is to celebrate her 92nd birthday.

After residing in her native state for a number of years and attending the schools of those days, she came west and was married to a gentleman by the name of Rakes. A few years later, he passed away and still later she was married to a gentleman by the name of Clarence, who in turn passed away.

During the past few years, she has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. John Clarence.

The span of years lived by this aged lady covers many changes in the lives of individuals and the history of our nation. Her birth occurred when the country was less than half as old as it is now, nineteen years before the opening of the Civil war, all the incidents of which are still fresh in her mind. She also recalls many details of the assassination of President Lincoln and hundreds of events that are not recorded in the history books and which are not generally known by the people of the country of less mature years.

In the celebration of her birthday a week hence she will receive the well-wishes of a large number of friends and acquaintances. Her's has indeed been a long and eventful life, during which she has seen the country develop from its raw state to a finely cultivated condition, with innumerable towns and villages, an ever changing transportation system, of which the airplane is the latest vehicle of travel, and the invention or perfection of almost every known mechanical device in use today. To hark back to that cold, gray dawn of March 7, 1842, when she first saw the light of day, would take one thru a changing panorama of scenes as variable as could be found in any like period of time in the history of the entire world.

Mrs. Nancy McNamee Better
Mrs. Nancy McNamee, who was seriously ill for so long a time and whose recovery was a matter of much concern by her family and friends, is now showing marked improvement, which will be good news to her many friends. She is now able to get up and about and even to do some housework. During her illness, Amos was the cook and proved himself a good hand at that. However good he was at the turning out of flapjacks (pancakes to you), he was unable to convince his dog of their goodness, the animal actually refusing to eat the cooking of Amos, but always licked the platter clean when Grandmother baked the cakes.

Residents Ask Property Set Out of City Limits

Residents in Northwest Part of City File Action in District Court to Have Real Estate Removed

A petition has been filed in the district court in which John and Mary Zatopek, owners of land in the northwest part of the city, ask that their real estate be set out from the corporate limits of the city and be made a part of Plattsmouth precinct.

The petitioners represent in their petition that the land in question, 58.25 acres, is used exclusively for farming purposes and that the property has no advantage from being a part of the city, that no water or light service is given them, that the land was never platted and laid out in blocks and streets and consists of out lots.

A similar suit several years ago allowed the release of acreage from the corporate limits of the city, also in that section of the city, while a similar suit filed by residents of the south part of the city was denied as public improvements had been made in that section.

DISTRICT MEETING OF THE VETERANS VOTERS LEAGUE
An open meeting of the Veterans Voters League of the First Congressional District will be held at Firemans Hall, Beatrice, Sunday, March 4, at 1 p. m.

Prominent veterans who are active in the organization of the league will speak. Among those expected to speak at the meeting are W. E. Sanford, acting state commander, Dr. F. W. Blumer, acting district commander, F. C. Scarborough, past commander of Wm. Lewis Camp, U. S. W. V., and past commander (Chas. A. Parley post, V. F. W., organizer, and G. Edwin Morrison, acting Q. M.

Following the open meeting there will be a business session of delegates selected from various counties in the district. It is expected that delegates present will represent upwards of 1000 members.

The Veterans Voters League is a national organization now forming in over 200 congressional districts, having a membership of veterans of all wars, and members of their families of voting age.

The veteran has resented the action of congress cutting off over half a million men from receiving benefits, reducing widows pensions to $15 per month, and authoring regulations which have seriously effected a great number of deserving veterans, and caused untold suffering. Determined to place their case before the voters in a manner which will meet with public approval, the veterans all over the country are organizing non-partisan political groups, of which the First District organization is a part.

The first activities of the new organization have been taking a valiant part in the election of Mayor LaGuardia of New York, who was a major in the World war, and aiding in the defeat of the chairman of the National Economy League in Vermont for congress. Every congressional district in California is organized, and one congressional district in New York has over 25,000 members.

"Listen my children and you shall hear" what becomes of descendants of Paul Revere. This charming bud of the family tree, Pauline Revere, was selected as the most attractive girl in the School of Commerce, New York University, where she is a freshman. Her home is at White Plains, N. Y.
