Also Miss Virginia Pollard of Nehawka, but who is employed in Omaha with the regional banks has announced her intention of filing for nomination for this same office on the democratic ticket. Miss Pollard is secretary of the Young Ladies' Democratic club at Omaha, and is well fitted for the position she having had a course in the state university.

MOVING TIME ON THE FARM. Des Moines.—'Tis the month of oxodus for farm folk of the midwest prairie. The annual migration from city to country and from farm to town is at its height.

The tenant is piling his furniture, bedding and dishes on the truck for a trek to a newly leased farm, if he can find one. A team or tractor hauls a train of farm implements—Disk, hay rake, corn planter, riding plows, fertilizer and hayracks. An extra team is tied onto the end of a wagon loaded with odds and ends—harness, fence wire, tools and perhaps a portable hoghouse or watering tank. Farm lads take time off from school to drive the cattle to their new home. The pigs and chickens are trucked.

In most cases, the retiring farmer has sold all but his furniture at auction or passed it along to his son and moved to town. Ordinarily, the transition from farm to farm, or to the city is completed the first week of March. This year, however, some farmers were delayed by bad weather. Others were unable to lease farms. More than a thousand Iowa farmers have been unable to rent this year. Many have been forced to move to town or to small acreages adjacent to cities. One reason for the scarcity, observers say, is that farmers who might have retired this year decided to stay on another year to get cash benefits of the AAA's corn-hog program.

EXONERATES HIS BRIDE. Fremont, Neb.—Arthur John Hellweg, 29, former Lincoln baker's helper who is under arrest here on charges of passing bogus checks while posing as a department of commerce official, exonerated his bride of six weeks in relating how his arrest terminated their honeymoon.

"I can't understand why I did it," he said. "I was in a daze from the time my wife came from Beatrice to Omaha to marry me. It was then that I gave a $50 check to an Omaha bank."

"We were married in Audubon, Ia., Feb. 5 and returned to our Omaha hotel. I had a little money although I had been laid off by the bakery I had been working for in Beatrice right after Christmas. My wife never knew anything about the checks. I did it all to make her happy. She says she will stand by me."

Shall Neville Run on the Primary Ballot

Democrats Say Governor Should Call for Election to Succeed Mullen as Committeeman

T. S. Allen: "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad. I haven't opened any law offices in Washington."

Governor Bryan may have another card up his sleeve to play against Mullen and Neville, the latter being the choice of the democratic state committee for national committeeman to succeed Mullen, resigned.

"The governor will be derelict in his duty if he does not include in his call for a primary election the election of one democratic national committeeman to fill the vacancy caused by Mullen's resignation," said a democratic state appointee. "The general rule in all vacancies of elective officers is that an appointment is good only until the succeeding election. That ought to hold good in the case of vacancy in the national committee. I don't believe Neville, the choice of the committee can hold over past the primary election and I don't believe Neville wants his name to go on the primary election ballot as a candidate before the rank and file of democrats."

To nominate a national committeeman for election at a primary election in the first instance the names of 500 party members of each congressional district is required.

Governor Bryan has not indicated whether he will include in his call for a primary election the election of one democratic national committeeman. At his daily meeting with reporters Tuesday Governor Bryan was in a cheerful and happy mood. He parried all questions and said he had nothing to say concerning Mullen's expressed opposition to Bryan for senator. Bryan declined to say when he would file for senator, but said he had not altered his previous conclusion that he would file. He declined to discuss what he had previously characterized as "the president's speech" at Grand Island, delivered by Mullen.

Bryan men at the capitol insisted there is no feud between Bryan and Mullen as indicated by headlines. Bryan is just trying to protect the people of the state and Mullen is trying to get a fee, it was explained. "trying to prevent democracy from going on a cash basis."—State Journal.

Sketch of Life of Mrs. Schomaker Nehawka Pioneer

Lifelong Resident of Cass County, Where She Was Born September 20, 1861.

The flat of death is inexorable and on Tuesday to Mrs. Henry Schomaker, lifetime resident and beloved citizen of Nehawka community came the summons to enter the portal of the great beyond.

Wilhemina Carsten, eldest daughter of Frederick and Sojoma Sturm Carsten, was born on the Sturm homestead, one mile north of Nehawka on September 20, 1861, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Leo Switzer, Tuesday, March 15, 1934, aged 72 years, 5 months, 25 days.

In early life Mrs. Schomaker was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church.

On December 20, 1877, she was united in marriage to Henry Schomaker by Judge A. N. Sullivan, the event taking place at the judge's home on what is now known as the Paul Murdoch farm. Following their marriage the young couple started housekeeping on a farm three miles northwest of Nehawka, where they continued to reside until 1920, since which time they have resided in Nehawka. It was the good fortune of Mr. and Mrs. Schomaker to have celebrated on December 20th last, the fifty-sixth anniversary of their marriage, when the children and their families helped make the occasion a memorable one.

Three children came to bless their home, a son and two daughters, Frederick, residing on the home farm; Edith Thiele, living nearby and Bertha Switzer, residing in Nehawka. Louis Carsten, of Avoca, Nebr., a brother, Lena Wunderlich, a sister, the aged husband, Wildon Switzer, a grandson, Edith Bertha Schomaker, granddaughter, and a host of other relatives and friends mourn the passing of a good mother, wife, sister and true friend.

The funeral services were held on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 from the Leo Switzer home at Nehawka and attended by a large group of the relatives and friends.

The sermon was given by Rev. W. A. Taylor of the Baptist church of Union, the prayer and scripture by Rev. Engestrom of the U. B. church of Nehawka.

Interment was at the Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

During the business meeting, the minimum daily price fluctuation limits were set at 5 cents a bushel for wheat, rye and barley; 4 cents for corn; 3 for oats; and 10 for flax. Similar limits were imposed by the grain futures administration after last summer's break in grain prices and subsequent closing of futures markets for several days.

The basis of margin requirements was altered from a sliding scale to a straight 10 percent on all open trades up to 2,000,000 bushels. On all holdings above that figure traders will be required to put up 25 percent margin after Aug. 1. Margin requirements were established, officials explained, to prevent the practice of allowing certain traders to buy and sell on margins of 2 to 3 cents a bushel and sometimes less.

TARIFF MEASURE FAVORED. Washington.—The statement that if the United States is to regain its share of world trade the president must be empowered to enter trade pacts was made in the formal report of the house ways and means committee urging enactment of the administration's reciprocal tariff proposal. Disputing contentions of republicans committee members expressed in a minority report that the bill is unconstitutional because of delegation of discretionary power to the executive, the democrats asserted the bill would go no further than many previous enactments of congress.
