State Banking Department Files Answer Here

Presents Claims in Suit to Enjoin Closing Bank of Murdock Filed Some Weeks Ago.

The State Department of Banking and E. H. Luikart as superintendent of banks have filed their answer in the case of the Bank of Murdock against the Department of Banking and Superintendent of Banks, in which answer they relate the facts and circumstances leading up to the closing of the doors of said bank on February 2, 1934.

Said answer alleges that in May, 1932, the officials of the bank were called into conference with George Woods, bank commissioner at Lincoln, at which conference the report of the Bank Examiner McLain dated May 3, 1932, was discussed and following said conference bank Commissioner Wood reported that said bank report showed that there were existing probable losses in said bank of $33,594.28; that the cash reserves averaged from 6% to 7%; that it had bills payable of $21,000.00 and redemptions of $14,750 and salaries then being paid were $4,800.00 per year. Said report directed that salaries be cut to not more than $3,000 and that a levy of 100% assessment be made by the stockholders, $5,000.00 of which was directed to be collected within 60 days. That said order had not been complied with.

Said answer further alleges that on Dec. 19, 1932 said bank was first closed by the banking department, at which time it was in a failing condition, its surplus and reserve being eliminated by existing loans; that said bank had failed to comply with the requirements of the banking department to bring its cash reserve up to the amount required by law; that on said date it was indebted on its bills payable in the sum of $26,359.00 and had redemptions in the sum of $21,907.68, its deposit with its correspondent banks in Omaha and Lincoln totaling $26.19 and its cash on hand $1.76. On said date there was an estimated loss on its bond account of $6,000.00 and estimated depreciation on its banking house, furniture and fixtures of $5,000.00 and $2,500.00 on its other real estate and an existing estimated loss of $28,000.00 on its loans and that there were other existing losses unknown to the Department of Banking.

That following the closing of said bank on Dec. 19, 1932, the officers and directors thereof, procured 85% of its creditors to agree that depositors rights to withdraw should be limited to 1% and the bank was released from payment of interest, without limitation as to the period of time such agreement should be in force.

That on July 29, 1933, the banking department caused the plaintiff bank to be re-examined by Bank Examiner McLain and his report disclosed loans which are not acceptable assets and should be eliminated and other non-acceptable items as follows:

|------------------------|--------------------|
| Loans | $60,782.80 |
| Bond depreciation | 6,256.50 |
| Other real estate | 2,500.00 |
| Banking house | 3,500.00 |
| Furniture and fixtures | 1,500.00 |
| Other items | 215.00 |
| Total | $74,754.69 |

That on said date the capital structure of said bank actually was:

|--------------------------|--------------------|
| Capital stock | $20,000.00 |
| Surplus | 5,000.00 |
| Net profits and reserves | 9,184.24 |
| Total | $34,184.24 |

which report indicates, it is alleged, that an assessment of 200% on the capital stock would be necessary to restore the bank to solvency. That at said date, there were bills payable in the sum of $7,987.48, redemptions in the sum of $1,024.44 and also excess loans and past due loans in the total sum of $199,123.69 besides overdrafts permitted in the trust fund accounts and cash items were carried in trust cash accounts.

That plaintiff bank was examined by Fred E. Allen, federal deposit insurance examiner, as of Dec. 29, 1933, for the purpose of procuring relief under the national banking act of 1933, which act provides that an applicant bank must show solvency to procure a loan. The report of Mr. Allen shows loans not acceptable which should be eliminated and other non-acceptable items as follows:

|------------------------|--------------------|
| Loans | $46,926.12 |
| Bond depreciation | 6,001.50 |
| Banking house | 3,500.00 |
| Furniture and fixtures | 1,000.00 |
| Other real estate | 2,500.00 |
| Judgments and claims | 980.00 |
| Other items | 170.00 |
| Total | $81,087.62 |

That on said date the capital structure of said bank was as follows:

|---------|-------------|
| Capital | $20,000.00 |
|---------|-------------|

Welcomed

General Joseph Haller, Polish War hero, as he arrived in Chicago Friday. General Haller plans a stay of nine days in Chicago on a mission to raise funds for 4,000 disabled American citizens who fought in the Polish army. The general was greeted by a throng of Polish-Americans.

|--------------|--------------------|
| Surplus | 5,000.00 |
| Net profits | 10,186.00 |
| Total | $15,186.00 |

and that under said report an assessment of 230% on the capital stock would be necessary to restore solvency. Said report further shows excess loans and past due loans of $57,944.82 and that the bank officials of plaintiff bank have made no plans for reorganizing and removing the restrictions. That as a result of said report of Mr. Allen, the supervising examiner, G. F. Roetzl reported to the Superintendent of Banks and to the Federal Deposit Insurance company, in part: "Inasmuch as the report indicates the bank to be hopelessly insolvent, its application for membership in the Temporary Deposit Insurance Fund should be rejected."

The answer further alleges that the bank is hopelessly insolvent and has no plans by which solvency can be restored; that the Banking Department will not approve a plan of reorganization which involves a "writedown" by depositors of any part of their deposit claims; that by liquidating the bank, the assets may be pledged for a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in a sum equal to 75% of the appraised value of the assets, which can be used to pay dividends to the depositors forthwith.
