One of the pleasant episodes of life, is making plans to spend money that you never get.

Gasoline price advances always seem to happen just before spring coaxes the motorists out on the roads.

David Lloyd George would have England adopt our NRA. But do they have any Hugh Johnsons over there, or would they borrow ours?

A serious and hard-working scientist has found that when a bee stings you it uses twenty-two muscles. We forget how many muscles a person has, but when he has been stung he uses virtually all of them.

We wish it had been made clearer, in the account of Al Smith's disagreement with Publisher Frank A. Tichenor over the administration's aviation policy, whether Mr. Tichenor's criticism was too violent or not violent enough for Mr. Smith's taste.

It appears that the settlement of the motor car strike was pretty simple, after all. When the manufacturers and the laborers couldn't agree on who should drive, the President put 'em both in the front seat and took over the back seat driving job himself.

A new sleeping powder has just been invented. It produces sleep in twenty seconds or less. It is an illogical time to bring out a sleep producer. Spring days are at hand and something to awaken folks and keep them that way would be much more appropriate.

Probably one reason for college professors who have been transplanted to Washington feel slightly handicapped is because they are unable to give 'prideful' quizzes over the subject matter they have been teaching. Instead it appears that they themselves may be quizzed.

A Cleveland grocer whose store was robbed was beaten and bound with his own shoestrings and left lying on the floor for five hours. That is the only good time on record for a shoestring to break, but of course it wouldn't.

HARNESSING THE SUN

At the geophysical observatory of Tashent, Uzbekistan, the soviet scientists have set up a boiler which is heated by the sun's rays. So far as we can determine from the meager description that has reached this country, the apparatus serves the prosaic purpose of heating water for laundries and for outdoor bathtubs. The underlying principle of this method of harnessing the sun proved to be simple enough. Also very old. The water trickles in a thin film under glass. From the "boiler" it flows into the bathtub. Boiling water can hardly be expected; yet it is warm enough for its purpose.

What we need is a trap to catch the sun. The first man to invent one was John Ericsson, who built the Monitor. He devised a huge concave mirror which reflected and concentrated the sun's rays on a blackened boiler at the focus, and which mechanically turned to follow the sun. Ericsson generated steam in his boiler and succeeded in driving pumps and other machines.

The late Frank Shuman modified Ericsson's plan by causing water to flow in a thin layer in a long glass-covered trough on which concave mirrors concentrated the sun's rays. Thus he managed to drive a pump and to irrigate land in Egypt. What the soviet scientists have announced is, therefore, nothing but Shuman's old plant, and this on a very modest scale.—New York Times.

We have but one life here and what comes after it we cannot with certainty say, but it pays, no matter what comes after it, to accomplish something in this life and not have a dreamy time.

St. Paul staged a horse and buggy parade Saturday and fifty genuine horses were in line after a vigorous scouring of the countryside. Twenty thousand people gathered to see the sight.

Tariffs and dollars are intimately related, requiring skill and quick decision in their management. The study of economics requires more and higher mathematics than the text books have yet rendered available.

LARGE AMOUNT OF CORN SEALED IN CASS COUNTY

The report of the number of bushels of corn sealed in Cass county as revealed by the figures at the office of County Clerk George R. Sayles at the close of business March 30th, shows that 2,943,814 bushels had been sealed.

The largest single sealing was that of Carl Walter and Jonas Meierjungen, of near Murdock, who have 13,000 bushels.

The corn reduction plan has been accepted by farmers all over Cass county and will greatly reduce the acreage of this crop the coming year.

ENTERTAINS FOR FRIEND

From Friday's Daily Misses Dorothy and Amy Elliott entertained last evening at their home in honor of their friend, Miss Lois Iverson, of Omaha, who is their guest over the week end. The evening was spent at cards, Miss Wilhelmina Henriksen winning the first prize and Miss Leona Meisinger, the consolation. Refreshments were served at an appropriate hour. Those attending the event were Misses Lucille Case, Christine Reimacke, Leona Meisinger, Meha Bailey, Wilhelmina Henriksen, Dorothy and Amy Elliott and the guest of honor, Miss Iverson.

RETURNS FROM HOSPITAL

Clair Shellenbarger, who was operated on some ten days ago at the Lord Lister hospital at Omaha, has so far recovered that he has been able to return home. Clair is now feeling fine and after a short recuperative period is expecting to take up his usual activities.

TO VISIT AT HOLDREGE

From Friday's Daily Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Troy departed this noon for Holdrege, Nebraska, where they will enjoy a visit over Easter with relatives. They will be guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Deabender, parents of Mrs. Troy and with her sister, Miss Louise Deabender.

New cars or old, the attitude of the telephone pole is unchanged. It holds fast to the principle of self-defense.

Reform wave: Congress is taking gambling out of the stock exchange, and the city council of Garnett, Kas., has forbidden penny-matching by the boys on the corner.

A young woman who worked in a Brooklyn hardware store at 1,203 metal objects under twenty-four classifications recently, and had to go to a hospital for an operation. Everything is fixed up now, however; the girl will recover, and the hardware store can now begin to make a profit again.

It is a good thing that gardeners and seed dealers art optimists. Otherwise there would be few gardens.

Neither labor nor industry claims a complete victory in the motor strike settlement, till we hope it's a settlement.
