The Season's SUCCESSSES

The COAT

The sleeves are straightening out but reflect a raglan influence. The slenderizing lines of the new coats are attained through wide shoulders and high waist line. The detail is centered on lapels and neckline flares. They can be worn with fur neck scarfs or without. They are priced at - - - - $10.75 to $29.75

The SUIT

Smartly tailored suits with jacket of waist line length in light wools and in silks. Pastel tones prevail in the silks. There are flannel suits, crinkly wool suits and soft lightweight wools in light tones of yellow and tan that are inspiring. Priced at - - - - $6.95 to $22.50

The DRESS

Printed satins, plaid taffetas, printed challis, canton crepes, embroidered dotted wools and printed crepes offer a range of material in the new spring dresses and frocks to satisfy the most exacting. All attention to detail is in the neckline, which is in high register, with bows, puffs, pleats and drapes. Gay colors prevail. They are priced at - - - - $3.95 to $16.75

The ENSEMBLE

Here is a range of style for selection which starts with sports wear and steps right on through to the cocktail hour. There are tweeds in pastel colors and there are combinations of silk frock and wool coat. All chic—all smart—all new. Priced from - - $5.95 to $16.75

GLOVES

The gauntlet glove still prevails but for Spring it is dressed up in frills, some gay, some staid, some as frivolous as a gamboling lamb. There are glace kid and there are suede. There are dull finishes for suit or coat wear—and they are in tones to harmonize or contrast with costume. Gloves are an essential accessory—and if selected here will represent an actual saving of 20%. Priced at - $1.95 to $3.98
