D. D. Adams, a Pioneer Druggist Dies at Nehawka

Passes Away at Home of Son, Charles Adams, After Short Illness—Aged Eighty-two.

D. D. Adams, 82, died Sunday evening at Nehawka, where for the past twenty years he had been engaged in the conduct of the drug store in that city, being one of the oldest druggists in the state and one of the best known residents of the Nehawka community.

Mr. Adams was a native of Canada, where he was born on January 4, 1852, and after spending his youth there came to the United States where he has since made his home. Mr. Adams located at Johnson, Nebraska some forty years ago and was engaged there in the conduct of a drug store until twenty years ago when he came to Nehawka and located.

Mr. Adams was one of the best known men in his line of business in the state and for a twenty-five year period the treasurer of the state druggists association, retiring from that office a year ago on account of his advancing years.

In the community in which he lived Mr. Adams was one of the outstanding men a worker for the community welfare in every way and a gentleman that possessed in every way the highest confidence of the residents of the entire county.

He was preceded many years ago by the wife and is survived by one son, Charles Adams, of Nehawka, who has been associated with his father in the drug store, and one daughter, Mrs. W. L. Stuck, of Sterling, Colorado, as well as five grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at 1 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Charles Adams where the departed made his home, the body being taken to Johnson, Nebraska, where it will be laid to the last long rest.

SENATOR BANNING HERE

From Wednesday's Daily

Senator W. B. Banning of Union, candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Nebraska, was in the city today. Senator Banning was the first democrat to file for the nomination and since his announcement has received many words of commendation from all sections of the state where he is best known as well as from former associates in the legislature. Senator Banning has not started his active campaign as yet, but expects before the close of the campaign in August to have visited the larger part of the state. His long service in the legislature has won him the reputation of one of the outstanding men in the state and one ably fitted for the office of state executive.

PIONEER CITIZEN VERY LOW

The many friends in Plattsmouth and Cass county will regret to learn that George E. Dovey, pioneer merchant of Nebraska, is seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John W. Falter, of Falls City. In the last few months Mr. Dovey has fallen a great deal and is now under constant medical care.

Mr. Dovey is one of the pioneer residents of the state, coming here with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Dovey, in 1853, where the father established a general store and in which G. E. Dovey was associated during the lifetime of the father and later manager until the store was disposed of several years ago.

VERY HAPPY OCCASION

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Smith has been made very happy by the arrival of a fine little daughter that has come to make her home with the family in the future. The mother and little one are doing nicely and the occasion has brought a great deal of happiness to the proud father.

Adding Finishing Touches

Earl Troop, who has been building a house at the Murray lumber yard, has the work so far advanced that he is now cutting in the windows and doors and making some stationery furniture therein. The new house is to be mounted on an automobile chassis and will become home for the family as they travel about over the country, thus making it much more convenient for his work and also affording a place to reside when he is not employed.

The new house on wheels will be very convenient and handy to move around with them, solving the rent problem and letting them get out in the great open spaces during the summer season of the year at least.

Getting Along Fair Now

James Ketch, who was employed by W. O. Troop on the farm, was taken with a severe attack of acute appendicitis, being rushed to a hospital in Omaha, where he underwent an operation one day last week. He is reported as getting along some better at this time and is hoping to be able to return home soon and resume his work as soon as he shall have gained sufficient strength.

Mrs. Pollard Improving

Mrs. Julien J. Pollard, who has been at the Covenant hospital in Omaha for some time, where she has been receiving treatment for her health, is reported as getting along some better. She was visited by the husband on last Sunday, who found the wife in good spirits and showing good improvement.

TO OPEN CABIN AT CAMP WHEELER APRIL 29TH

Tentative arrangements have been made for the formal opening of the new Scout cabin and recreational grounds at Camp Wheeler for public inspection Sunday, April 29th.

After the dedicatory program to be held at 2:30 in the afternoon, open house will prevail until evening and all visitors will be shown through the new building.

The following week end, it is planned to have the first overnight camp, with one patrol from the troop permitted to spend the week-end vacation period from school duties in camp. Each succeeding week will see a different patrol spending the week-end vacation there throughout the month of May, while school continues in session. After that, the regular vacation time camp periods will begin and the boys will be allowed use of the camp practically continuous up to the time school reopens early in September.

The Woman's club shower of dishes, cooking utensils, etc., will be held on April 16th, allowing ample time to get the donated equipment placed in the cupboards before opening date. A used Copper Clad range has just been contributed by Mrs. Everett Noble, with six surface lids, good baking facilities and a good size water reservoir.

The troop committee held a meeting Saturday night to outline some of the plans for opening day, which of course will be dependent upon fair weather and good roads, as the camp is located nearly a mile and a half off the paved highway and quite inaccessible in the case of bad roads.

It is quite probable a picnic dinner will be arranged to precede the dedicatory services in which all citizens of the community will be asked to join.
