

Suspect Auto Party of Being Bandit Gang

Party of Three Men and a Woman Reported to Have Stopped at the O. K. Garage.

From Wednesday's Daily
Peace officers in this section of Nebraska were on the outlook last night for an auto party suspected of being gunmen or bandits that were reported to have stopped here shortly before 5:30 last night.
The car, which is described as a dark blue Chevrolet sedan, was reported to have stopped at the O. K. Garage building, where John Boetel and Floyd Sutton were engaged in cleaning out the building. Seeing the gasoline pumps at the side of the garage the car rolled up, stopped, and one of the men who was reported to be wearing a cartridge belt, got out of the car and asked for some gasoline. The party was informed that the gas station was not in operation at this time and the workmen there could not supply them with any gasoline.

When the man came up to Mr. Boetel he said, "fill up this car and be damned quick," before the workmen could explain that they had no gas.

Mr. Boetel states that he noticed the party in the car and that a woman was at the wheel of the car, but that he did not notice her as a blonde or brunette, altho of a heavy build and wearing a sport hat. The man that had talked to Boetel had been rather short, smooth shaven man, apparently about 35 years of age and wearing a dark suit.

Mr. Boetel reported that he could see a box in the back of the car and two shotguns.

On the information that there was no gas available, the car drove away to the west and turned into Locust street and headed on west.

The matter was telephoned to the court house and Constable A. E. Edgerton, in the absence of Sheriff Sylvester from the city, was sent out to try and locate the car and as well as giving the alarm to nearby cities. Officers from Omaha were sent to Louisville and along the highway north of this city to be on the outlook for the car, but no trace was found of it.

THE GLADIOLUS

The gladiolus is perhaps the easiest known plant to bring to perfection under ordinary conditions. But while easily grown, it should be known that it will respond nobly to any extra time and care expended on it. By planting bulbs over a period of from four to six weeks, or by planting the various size bulbs at the same time, early in the season, bloom can be had over a long period.

When to plant—When the trees native to your vicinity are unfolding their leaves. From then until the last of June.

Where to plant—Plant in open sunny places. Not too near buildings and keep away from trees and heavy rooted shrubs especially.

Kind of soil—A sandy loam is best. Any good garden soil will do. But some require more work to keep loose and free from weeds.

How to plant—Manure well in the fall. In spring at planting time, use only well rotted manure or commercial fertilizer. Cow or hog manure better than chicken or horse. Will not burn if used heavy and better chemical element content for flowers. Spade not less than 8 or 10 inches deep. Pulverize manures and soil thoroughly. Have trenches 6 in. deep and 18 or 20 inches apart. Set large bulbs in trenches the width of the bulbs apart. Farther apart if you care to, but not closer. Smaller bulbs not set so deep. Six inches is deep planting. Slows appearance of sprouts. But protects from late frosts and stands heavy winds and extreme hot or rainy weather better. Cover bulbs with an inch of soil. Then sprinkle liberally with sheep fertilizer, bone meal or complete-slaughter horse tankage. Fill in rest of trench with soil and firm down to eliminate air pockets around bulbs.

How to mark—Put in stakes and label each variety as planted. Stakes in deep to avoid being pulled out in cultivating. Unless you have water proof ink, use lead pencil for marking. Common ink will fade from rain and watering.

Cultivating—Keep soil loose and free from weeds always. Never permit caking or crust of soil after rain or waterings. Keep cultivating. The more you do, the better your plants and flowers.

Fertilizing—Use plenty of sheep fertilizer, tankage, or bone meal. All or each. Each has some content the other lacks. If nitrates and ammonias are used be careful. Use them only between rows and never permit on plants. They are strong and stimu-
