Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, June 24th

By L. Neitzel, Murdock, Neb.

Review

Golden Text: Luke 1:33: "Of his Kingdom there shall be no end."

A properly conducted review under the guidance of the Holy Spirit, should be of inestimable value to the Bible student. To reconsider the material studied, fixing in the memory the most pronounced events of each lesson, will fasten in the mind a vast store of knowledge, on which we may draw in time of need. May we briefly give a summary of each lesson.

Lesson I "Confessing and Following Christ." Opinions differed greatly regarding the person of Jesus Christ, from O. T. prophets to Carpenter of Nazareth. It is very essential what we think of Christ. Every Christian should be able to say with Peter, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." As such we ought to know Him, and obediently follow in His train.

Lesson II "The Child and the Kingdom." Shall the church survive, then she must give proper care to the children. See to it, that they, by administering the Sacrament of Holy Baptism, are consecrated to God, and thereby taken into the visible church. Now it is further the duty of the church to bring them into a saving knowledge of the grace of God, be converted, and in childlike simplicity follow the shepherd of their souls.

Lesson III "Jesus Teaches Forgiveness." The hardest lesson for any man is to ask forgiveness of the one he has wronged. In the model prayer, we ask God to forgive us, as we forgive others—that is all the forgiveness we pray for—and will not get more. How few of His followers can repeat this prayer. Take a lesson from the Master: "Father forgive them, for they know not what they do." Can we pray like that?

Lesson IV "Our All for the Kingdom." Is it worth it? "Yes," and a thousand times, "Yes." Riches, fame, honor, popularity, are all for this time, and often will not last then one can thoroughly enjoy them, but the Lord's answer to Peter's question: "Lo, we have left all and followed thee. What then shall we have?" "Ye shall sit on twelve thrones, judging the twelve tribes of Israel. . . . Ye shall receive a hundredfold, and shall inherit eternal life." Who could wish for more?

Lesson V "Christ's Standard of Greatness." It differs very much from what men call great. Even the disciples had a wrong idea of greatness. God's idea is expressed in humble service. Whoever will render service to God's saints, and suffering humanity, is looked upon by him as "great." See for example Jesus, washing the feet of the disciples; and laying down His life, a ransom for many. Therefore the Father has "Exalted Him, and given Him above every name." Phil. 2:9.

Lesson VI "Jesus Acclaimed King." This was one joyful day in the life of Jesus. It was a great rally-day, of all people that were benefited by His unselfish life. This was the prototype of the day "when the Son of Man shall come in His glory. . . . sit upon the throne of His glory; and before Him shall be gathered all nations." Matt. 25:31, 32. "Behold, He cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see Him." Rev. 1:7. Blessed are they that accept Him as King now and here.

Lesson VII "Christianity and Patriotism." The disciples of the Pharisees and Herodians were sorely discomfited when Jesus turned the tables on them: "Give to Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." That is true patriotism. And Christianity is summed up in two sentences. "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart. . . . Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." No more need be said.

Lesson VIII "The Future of the Kingdom." In this parable we are taught that many people had a good start in the Christian life, but by carelessness and neglect lost out in the end; hence Jesus' warning "Watch therefore for ye know not the day nor hour."

Lesson IX "The Last Judgment." That is the day when all wrongs will be righted, when justice will be meted out, and everyone will receive according to the deeds done in the body. This judgment is final. No appeal allowed. All will acknowledge that the judge has dealt fair, no error is made. The righteous are ordered "to inherit the Kingdom, prepared for them from the foundation of the world." The unjust are told: "Depart from me ye cursed, into eternal fire which is prepared for the devils and his angels."

Lesson X "Jesus in the Shadow of the Cross." Sad and bitter hours are awaiting the Lord. The sleeping disciples, the agony in the garden, the betrayal, the arrest, the unfair trials, rejected, despised, led to the slaughter—bearing the cross—Calvary.

Lesson XI "Jesus on the Cross." "We beheld the suffering, dying Saviour, but still praying, his last will. Woman behold your son—behold your mother—the lamb is slain—the blood is spilled, salvation for man obtained—the debt is paid—the middle wall of partition is removed—God is reconciled—Hallelujah."

Lesson XII "The Risen Lord and the Great Commission." This is the keystone of our religion; without it the whole building would fall. He lived by His spirit in His disciples, and they could do greater work than He did; think of the spread of Christianity through their preaching; and yet He is still with them that live in Him." Always, even to the end.

ROOKIE PATROLMAN SHOT

Matawan, N. J.—Patrolman John Flood, a rookie officer, was shot down and seriously wounded in police headquarters by a mysterious man, masked in white, who opened fire from his seat at the desk of the chief of police.

Flood had been on patrol duty near the borough hall which houses the police headquarters when he saw a red light flashing in front of the building, signaling him that he was wanted.

From his bed in a hospital he later described what happened: as he reached the chief's office, he said, he discerned in the half light a figure in a hunting coat and cap, and wearing a white mask, seated at the chief's desk. The masked man immediately opened fire with a revolver, and one of his first shots hit Flood in the head, lodging in the back of his neck. Flood stumbled and fell but whipped out his service revolver and returned the fire.

JOHNSON SOOTHS GROCERS

Chicago.—A soft answer from General Johnson partly turned away the wrath which a convention of grocers had demonstrated on word that the NRA chief would not appear on their program. Two hours after the National Association of Retail Grocers heard that General Johnson would not be the speaker of the day, as the program announced, he sent a message of "greetings and best wishes."

"Only a great stress of work prevented me from accepting the invitation," he said. Boos had greeted the earlier announcement, Chairman H. C. Peterson calling the general's refusal "Mussolini tactics."

General Johnson's message told the grocers, who had heard from President D. A. Affleck of Salt Lake City that their recovery program was bringing about steady improvement, that even greater benefits seemed to be in store.

FIRE SWEEPS MEXICAN CITY

Piedras Negras, Mex.—Thousands were made homeless here in the worst fire in the history of this Mexican border city. The fire started late in the day and threatened the entire square opposite the main plaza. The Catholic church and the residence of Senor Garcia, the largest in the city, were destroyed. The telephone exchange building and numerous small wood houses were consumed. Failure of pressure at water hydrants aggravated the situation. The fire raged out of control into the night. Volunteer fire fighters from Eagle Pass, Tex., aided the local department, but were unable to gain advantage over the flames. Thousands of refugees sent up walls of terror and despair as their flimsy, tinder-like homes went up in flames.

HE LOOKS LIKE DILLINGER

Chicago.—Sirens screamed, automobiles roared and the Dillinger squad, assigned specifically to get that desperado dead or alive, again was about its business. To an uptown theater speed a half dozen squad cars on the report that John Dillinger was quietly seeing a show. For forty-five minutes every person leaving the theater was given the once over. Finally one man was picked up. He proved to be just the innocent possessor of a Dillinger profile, but was taken to police headquarters for questioning. The man, explaining his identity satisfactorily to police, was released and went his way murmuring something about contemplating a facial operation.

NOTABLES EXPECT STORK

New York.—The Daily News says the stork is expected in two famous American families, those of Colonel Lindbergh and Gene Tunney.

ADMITS SLAYING HIS MATE

Chicago.—Samuel Miller related the sordid story of how he bashed his wife, Sylvia, 39, with a rolling pin, took her and his three children for an eerie ride and then left the woman to die in an alley. "She was a nagging wife," the immigrant nervously told Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle as he sat in a cell.

Distant pastures may look enticing to some, but not to those who keep abreast of the values advertised each week in the columns of the Journal.

PILOT'S ASHES SCATTERED

Memphis, Tenn.—The throbbing of the motor in the air mail plane from Cleveland droned a requiem as the ashes of John "Pat" Barron, copilot of the American Air Lines plane which crashed in the Catskill mountains, were scattered from the plane. The ashes were released as the Cleveland-Memphis-Fort Worth plane crossed the Tennessee state line. His family held services in Memphis. "This is the way Pat would want it," Miss Lucille Barron, his sister, said.
