Killed in Auto Accident.

Last Saturday evening as John C. Lohmeier and Carl Weidman were driving to the home of Mr. Lohmeier a mile north of town, a tire went bad precipitating the car into the ditch by the roadside, and as they were traveling at a high rate of speed the car tumbled over a number of times before it came to rest on its wheels again. Just before the accident the trouble was noticed by Mr. Weidman, who attempted to call the driver, Mr. Lohmeier attention to the matter but there was no time as the deflated tire caught the road and threw the car into the ditch. Mr. John C. Lohmeier was sixty-three years of age and has made his home in Greenwood for the past many years, was unmarried but has a number of sisters and brothers.

Mr. Lohmeier was engaged in farming this summer and has for many years conducted two threshing machines which he has run, one being conducted by himself and the other by some hired operator. When the body was examined by Dr. N. D. Talcott it showed many bruises about the head and it was the opinion of the physician that concussion of the brain followed the injury when the accident occurred. The accident occurred when he was returning to the farm from town, and about midway from town to his home. The deceased is survived by two half brothers, Fred Lohmeier of Emerald and August Lohmeier of Lincoln; six half sisters, they being Mrs. L. Ruge, Kanarado, Kas., Mrs. T. J. Berg, Mrs. Amelia Becker, and Miss Minnie Lohmeier, Lincoln; Mrs. C. A. Becker, Moring, Oregon; Mrs. August Schmidt, Chapman, Nebr. The remains were taken to the Castle Roper funeral home at Lincoln. After an unsuccessful attempt of Dr. Talcott to get in touch with the county attorney, W. G. Klech of Plattsmouth, it was determined no inquest would be held as it was well known how he came to his death.

HIRAM JOHNSON TO RETIRE

The senior senator, now 68 years old, said after eighteen years of service in the senate he is ready for one more six year term. "Then I'll be 74, and willing to retire," said he. Asks for New Trial in Ouster of Conklin

Attorney General Says the Supreme Court Erred in the Dismissal of the Case

Alleging that the supreme court erred in refusing to take jurisdiction in the quo warranto suit for ouster of State Land Commissioner Conklin, Attorney General Good has filed a motion for a new trial, contention among other things that the court failed to take into consideration provisions of the constitution that conviction of violation of oath of office calls for forfeiture of office and that any person who is in default as collector of public money or property shall not be eligible to any office under the constitution.

It is also alleged that the court erred in holding the information fails to state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action in the nature of quo warranto, for the reason that the sufficiency of the information was not raised and therefore was not before the court and relator has never had the opportunity to be heard on that question.

Other Alleged Errors. The motion of the attorney general alleges:

The court erred in ruling that duly elected executive state officer, who properly qualified by oath and bond and entered upon the duties of his office, is not removable by quo warranto for subsequent felonies of which he has not been convicted in criminal prosecutions in a court of competent jurisdiction, for the reason that the court has failed to consider the fact that a violation of the official oath set out in Section 1 of Article XV. of the Constitution of Nebraska requires a forfeiture of the office, altho the violation may or may not be a felony.

The court erred in disregarding Section 2 of Article XV. of the Constitution of Nebraska and in disregarding the rule established in State v. Marsh, (Nebraska), 249 N. W. 295, wherein this court held that if the acts of misconduct charged in the information are declared by statute to work a forfeiture of the office, an information will lie and judgment of ouster may be given against the officer upon the ground of such misconduct or breach of official duty.

The court erred in ruling that a duly elected executive state officer, who properly qualified by oath and bond, and entered upon the duties of his office, is not removable by quo warranto for subsequent felonies of which he has not been convicted in criminal prosecutions in a court of competent jurisdiction, for the reason that this court has heretofore held that a person who is in default as a collector and custodian of public money or property may be removed from office by quo warranto, even tho such person has not been convicted of a felony on account of such defaults.

Cass County Farm Bureau Notes

Copy furnished from Office of County Agent Wainsoott

Special Study of Home Accounts— A story on "The Cost and Standard of Living" covering a period of three years has been completed and summaries returned to the 183 women participating. All of the families cooperating kept farm accounts also, making possible a more complete study of the farm both as a business and a mode of living.

The following deductions and figures are averages of the 183 records, the average size family being four persons:

Average savings, which was mostly Life Insurance, was $108.10.

The total food, home produced and purchased was $314.93. Food purchased was $127.06 while that produced at home amounted to $187.87. The fact that the value of farm produced food exceeded that of food purchased was quite an enlightenment to many and especially as the valuation of farm products was taken on the basis of the value at which the product might have been sold at the farm.

The total clothing average, per family, was noticeably low, being only $93.45. This is easily accounted for as it was during this time that business tightened up, incomes were low and families purchased the very minimum. This was also true with household supplies and automobile expense, as only absolute necessities were purchased.

The average expenditures and the per cent of distribution for the various phases showed:

Savings	---$108.10	10.2%
Food	-----314.93	29.7%
Clothing	-----93.45	8.8%
Operating	---161.57	15.2%
Development	146.14	13.8%
Shelter	---236.08	22.3%
This made an average total value of living $1060.27.

Make Plans for District 4-H Club Camp—

The 620 boys and girls enrolled in 4-H club work in Cass County will be happy to know that the Agents from Cass, Otoe, Douglas and Carpy counties are planning to hold another district 4-H Club Camp at Bellevue this year. The dates for the camp are July 22, 23, 24, and 25. Enrollment blanks will be mailed to club leaders who will be given other information concerning camp also.

Prepare Home Grown Wool for Bedding—

The preparation of raw wool for bedding may be successfully carried out at home if one has the time and will give the necessary care to the process. Wool bedding coverings are light and warm and add much to the comfort of the sleeper. Comforts with only a thin layer of wool are convenient to have and may be used in place of blankets. An ordinary medium sized comforter requires about three pounds of washed and carded wool.

Extension Circular 457, Preparing Home Grown Wool for Bedding, gives complete directions for procedure.

The steps include selection, equipment for scouring and drying, scouring, carding and making the batts for comforters and mattresses. These circulars are available for distribution at the Farm Bureau office.

Corn-Hog Program Progressing—

The Corn-Hog County Allotment Committee has spent ten days in the office getting the hog quota set by the State Committee down to where the figures would be acceptable, also the corn quota. All of the work has been done in the corn-hog office and the committee is expecting to receive an o. k. from the State Board of Review by the latter part of the week which will permit the final typing of the contracts next week. It is expected now that the first shipment of the Early Payment Roder contracts will be ready to go to Washington by the last week in June. Present indications are that it will take from two to three weeks to get payment on the contracts back from Washington, which means that Cass County farmers should have money about the middle and latter part of July.

Fight Chinch Bugs—

Cressote, in carload lots, for use in combatting chinch bugs in this part of Nebraska, is being received in Lincoln every day or two. Due to the fact that Cass County couldn't use a full carload this county's shipment is being made with Lancaster County and it is necessary for the farmers to go to the Agricultural College to get the oil. It is necessary for them to be prepared with an order from the Cass County Agent to get the oil in order to assure the government agency that someone isn't hauling off the oil who doesn't have need of it for fighting chinch bugs. The oil barrier requires 100 to 150 gallons for treatment during the three weeks period which is considered the migration period of the chinch bugs. At the end of that time they will be mature enough to fly. Then they start laying eggs for the second brood. The extent of damage from this second brood depends on the weather conditions.

About fifty farmers in the county have already received their oil and are using the flat dust mulch, four to six feet wide on the border of their field and spreading a thin stream of oil on this with a number of postholes next to the migration side of the barrier. The bugs fall into the dusty holes and are trapped. Some of the men using this method have reported finding an inch of the bugs in the holes one hour after the oil was poured. The situation is made acute since the emergence of the chinch bugs is two to three weeks earlier than usual and with the corn so small it is easily killed.

Lincoln Parish Show Ready—

With seventy entries by nineteen breeders in Lincoln parish area, which includes Lincoln, Cass, Otoe and Saline counties, everything is in readiness for the Jersey Parish show at the State Fair ground on Monday, June 25th.

Judging will start on the bull classes at 11 a. m. At noon a basket dinner will take place. Everyone take a well filled basket. In the afternoon there will be a short program and continuation of the judging. Everyone is welcome to attend, see the show and join in the festivities of the day. There are no charges.

Emergency Half Rates for Shipping Hay—

As county drouth administrator, the Cass County Agent has been granted permission to quote emergency half rates on feeds shipped in for herds of breeding stock, milk stock, stock cattle, or fattening cattle in this county. The Agent is in possession of emergency drouth relief rates on hay, coarse grains, livestock feed and livestock authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission which are now in effect and will remain in effect until July 5th.

Farmers owning or controlling livestock for which feed is to be shipped in should get in communication with the County Agent to obtain the emergency rates.

Work Relief for Farmers to be Paid in Cash—

Drouth relief for Cass County farmers will be handled on a work for cash basis. The County Agent has been designated relief administrator and the county has been placed as a secondary drouth area. Farmers in need of feed for livestock and are unable to obtain it on their own resources may apply for the drouth relief and an allotment, not to exceed $80 may be approved by the County Agent as chairman, and the drouth committee. Only one allotment may be made to each family. An application blank is filled out, one copy of which is turned over to the Work Division Director who then assigns the farmer to work on a project, for which he is paid in cash. Only allotments signed by the Agricultural Agent, as County Chairman, will be honored.

Purchase Cattle for Drouth Relief—

Under the Agricultural Drouth Relief Service, a plan has been worked out whereby a county organization can help distressed men get rid of their cattle at a fair price. A copy of the contract is in the hands of the County Agent, who has been appointed county administrator of the plan. He is also supplied with the government rates of appraisal and will be able to help any one who finds it necessary to dispose of their cattle because of the drouth.
