Born July 2, 1844, C. E. Mockenhaupt, probably the oldest citizen of Manley except Uncle George Schaeffer, was quietly celebrating the passing of his 79th birthday anniversary last Monday and was receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

Locking After Fences. J. R. Reeder of Plattsmouth, was a visitor in Manley a few days ago and was looking after his political fences in his race for nomination for county superintendent of schools. With the entrance of Mr. Reeder in the race there is now some fourteen candidates seeking the office, two women and two men, the present incumbent who has had a very successful administration of the office and Miss Jessie M. Robertson, eminently qualified for the place as well, Mr. Reeder who has successfully taught in the Plattsmouth schools for a number of years and P. T. Johnson, who has also been a successful instructor and superintendent of the Murdock schools.

Treated to New Roof. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Antone Auserwald is being treated to a new shingle roof which is adding much to its appearance as well as being better, as the new roof is preventing a leakage and thus insuring a better house. In Race for Commissioner. Herman Rauth who has been very busy with his corn is making the fields look fine and is thinking that the corn has the first claim on his time and attention, and that when he has done what he could for the fields and they are sure nice and clean, he will try some campaigning for the weeks are now rolling by and the primaries are fast approaching. With the entrance of W. E. Reynolds in the race, the phase of the affair is changed. There is to begin with the present incumbent, Mr. E. B. Chapman, and who has a large following, now with Mr. Reynolds entering his same town, some of the strength must go to Mr. Reynolds, as both are excellent men. Then there is Mr. H. H. Ragoss of near Louisville and Mr. Rauth of Manley, who both will claim much strength from the west end, and a man is a good guesser who can say who will succeed.

Then in the republican ranks both candidates are from the same corner of the district, Horace Griffin, the Union blacksmith and produce man, and Carl Balfour who resides near the extreme south line of the county, both good republicans and both hustling for the place. Another hard guess.

The place still remains very sore.

And you do not hear Roy complaining about it either.

Enjoys Good Business. Theodore Harms, the pioneer merchant of Manley, who has been here for all the present century, having come here in 1859, and has been engaged in business at the same location during more than a third of a century, still continues to conduct his store, one of the very best of country stores, carrying a stock much better in many instances than that of business houses in much more pretentious towns. During the passing of the more than 35 years he has ever kept the integrity of the store in view and carried a stock of goods ever dependable at all times. By his careful buying and offering goods at prices in line with the time, caring for the trade so that anyone, however small a buyer, was treated just as well as the larger one. He has a clientele dependable and which are always sure that when an article has been purchased that it is just as represented. While a few have abused his good nature and gotten goods which they have never paid for, he has gone on in the even tenor of his way, supplying the needs of the public and thanking the same for the generous trade which they have given. Prison Work Problem Solution is Near NRA Code Setup to Reduce Competition by Convict Labor—29 States Sign Compact.

Washington.—The nation's penologists were reported closer to solving their perplexing old problem of keeping prison inmates busy and simultaneously preventing the cheaply manufactured products from cutting into the field of free labor and industry.

A struggle which began early in the 19th century and has continued ever since as now yielding to a new line of attack, encompassing negotiations thru the prison labor authority. This board was established under NRA to administer a code of fair competition for prison industries.

Twenty-nine states signed the compact, including all but three of those whose penal institutions produce articles sold on the open market. They have dumped their common problems into one heap for a collective solution. The federal government also joined in the compact.

The most important clause in the NRA code is one asserting that prison-made goods "shall be sold not lower than the fair current price prevailing in the market in which the product is customarily sold." To administer this, the authority was given power to determine the prices at which prison-made goods should be sold, after conferring with the code authorities for the free industries producing the same items.

In its two months of life, the prison authority has been busiest carrying this clause into effect, and from it have grown its greatest accomplishments.

The NRA code, incidentally, provides for maximum hours and many other things included in the usual code of fair competition for private business. As a result prison products manufactured under the code may carry the blue eagle label. An effort was made by the cotton goods industry to prevent this, but General Johnson ruled otherwise.

Included in the compact are Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota and Wyoming.

ULTIMATUM ISSUED BY FERA. Omaha.—State FERA Administrator Haynes, at a meeting here Thursday issued an ultimatum to Douglas county commissioners to sign within ten days an agreement to make a 193 mill levy for unemployment and poor relief, plus a pledge to use 25 percent of the county's gas tax income for work relief.

The estimated total thus asked is $515,000. In return, Haynes offered a pledge by the federal government to spend $3 for every $1 spent by the county plus a guarantee to assume the "overload" should employment conditions become worse.

FERA has spent $6 to every $1 spent by Douglas county since last August—or about $2,250,000—Haynes said. In the latter figure only one-half of the CWA expense was included, he stated.

When the state FERA committee meets at Lincoln Friday, Haynes announced, he will recommend that Douglas county be granted funds only until July 15. If the agreement is not signed by that date, no more will be allotted. A committee of four was appointed to confer with Haynes at Lincoln next Monday.

SEVEN KILLED IN MICHIGAN. Detroit.—Wind and rain storms sweeping across southern and southeastern Michigan killed seven persons, injured a dozen others and caused an unestimated amount of property damage.

In Detroit, Mrs. Fannie Clemons, 88, and Frank Peak, 8, were killed when they were struck by falling trees. Near Jackson, Louis Conners, 60, a farmer, was electrocuted when he attempted to disentangle his automobile from a high tension wire blown with a tree. At Waldron, in Hillsdale county, Robert A. Moine, 23, died similarly attempting to move a wire which had fallen outside a tavern.

Mrs. Lavina Frederick, 47, of Lake, was drowned in Gillett's lake, four miles east of that city, when waves swamped the boat from which she and her husband, D. H. Frederick, were fishing.

Henry Van Uen, 67, Holland, and his adopted son, Edward, 11, were drowned in Black lake near Holland when their rowboat overturned.

KUBIK TO REFORMATORY

Omaha.—District Judge Yeager sentenced two of Omaha's most notorious youthful motor vehicle law violators to terms of three to ten years each in the state reformatory for violation of paroles.

They are Leo Kubik, 18, pampered son of the late George Kubik, racketeer, who died in the liquor wars, and Ted Nemecek, 20, an orphan forced to make his own living by working as a laborer at a packing house here.

Kubik was paroled for two years on an automobile theft charge and Nemecek for a similar period after he had run down and killed a pedestrian last winter.

Kubik was rearrested after his car, traveling at high speed to avoid pursuing officers, crashed into another machine, injuring three persons. Nemecek's offense was drunken driving.

"Neither of you boys seem to have any regard for your duties toward society," Judge Yeager lectured. "I gave you both a chance to mend your ways. Yet the first chance you got, you were out on the highways again endangering the lives of other persons."

Both boys had been arrested many times for speeding.

Mrs. Tilly Kubik, mother of Leo, created a scene when she came charging into the courtroom as news photographers prepared to snap pictures.
