BENEFIT DANCE FOR JUNIOR DRUM CORPS

A benefit dance for the Plattsmouth Junior drum corps, the proceeds of which will be used for the outfitting of the corps with natty new uniforms, is to be held at the Legion building Wednesday evening of this week. Lines were to have appeared in the various ads this week, announcing the dance, but due to an oversight they were omitted and as the forms close for the semi-weekly issue, the Journal is pleased to call the attention of its readers to the dance which is given for a most worthy cause. The Junior corps has become very proficient and appeared at numerous entertainments over this section, including the state fair at Lincoln last fall, but were greatly handicapped from lack of uniforms. The sponsors state that good music will be provided and nominal admission charged. The public is invited.

JUDGE LOSES HAT

District Judge Daniel W. Livingston was in the city Friday afternoon for a few hours to look after a few matters in his court and thereby lost the hat that has covered the judicial head.

The hat of Judge Livingston was left lying in the office of the clerk of the district court with several others of members of the bar and after the court was ready to take his departure it was found that his headgear was missing and a strange hat left in its place. It was discovered that the hat of Judge Livingston had been taken by Attorney John D. Wear of Omaha and the court was compelled to make his return home in the hat of the Omaha attorney until an adjustment of the matter might be taken up and submitted to the court in true judicial style.

PLAYS RADICAL TEACHERS

Washington—Teachers of strange and radical doctrines of government were assailed by Commander Hayes of the American legion.

Addressing the National Educational association, he said advocates of communism were throwing "a smoke screen of peace propaganda" around their activities.

"Educators who cling to the patriotism of the founders of our republic, and who cast out the strange tenets of radical groups that are subversive to our system of government, form the backbone of our future Americanism," Hayes declared.
