

Utah's Peachy Peach Queen

Marge Lawson

Pretty Marge Lawson, above, of Salt Lake City, Utah, is a peach of a girl. So think the judges who appointed her "Miss Utah Peach, 1934", to rule over the mardi gras celebration in Brigham City during peach crop harvesting season.

AVOCA NEWS

Harry Marquardt completed the seeding of his wheat on last Monday, having sown some 30 acres.

Leonor Everett, operator at the Avoca telephone exchange, was in attendance at the Home Coming celebration at Syracuse last Friday.

Edward Metkiff was called to the county seat last Monday to look after some business matters, making the trip in his trusty car.

Abe Emhoff and family of south of town were visiting for the day last Saturday at Nebraska City, where they were looking after some business matters.

Vilas P. Sheldon, of Nehawka, was a visitor in Avoca and was looking after the seeding of a good deal of his farm to rye in order that pasture and forage might be provided.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Bassett, of Unadilla, were visiting for the week end at the home of Mrs. Bassett's parents, R.M. and Mrs. Robt. Cann at the Cann cafe on last Sunday.

Earl Freeman was enjoying a visit at the home of his parents east of Weeping Water last Sunday, where the parents, Ed Freeman and wife, were entertaining for the day.

Marcus Wassell shelled and delivered his corn to the Avoca elevator on last Monday afternoon, the grain being hauled by Peter and Jack Jourgeson, the latter of Weeping Water.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Straub were guests for the day last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wassell, where they all enjoyed a very fine visit for the day and as well an excellent dinner.

Postmaster W. H. Bogard and wife, accompanied by their son Clyde, who acted as driver of the car, made a trip to Shenandoah last Sunday and enjoyed looking over the country as well as visiting the radio city.

Pete Jourgeson was a visitor in Omaha on Monday of this week, where he went for a truck load of rye for Fred Marquardt, who has handled a great deal of seed rye, in all amounting to about one thousand bushels.

Leo Cann was a visitor for about a week at Esterville, Iowa, where he has relatives, and was looking after some business matters while there. Leo reports the crops as being very good in that section of the country.

There were many of the people of Avoca and surrounding territory in attendance at the Home Coming day at Syracuse, which was set for last Thursday, but on account of the rain was deferred until the following day, when a large crowd was present for the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hallstrom, of Plattsmouth, parents of Elmer Hallstrom, accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. James Maury and her son, Jimmie, all of Plattsmouth, were guests for the day last Sunday at the Elmer Hallstrom home, all enjoying the day very nicely.

The Avoca band was over to Plattsmouth for the King Korn Carnival on Thursday, when they furnished music for the afternoon farm parade and also played an afternoon concert from the platform. Although it rained during the parade, there were hundreds of people gathered along the line of march, who stood through the rain to see the parade pass in review.

Will Make Home at York
William P. Cook, formerly a resident of Avoca and who conducted a barber shop here some ten years ago, but who has been making his home in Plattsmouth since, went to York, Nebraska, last week and will make his home at the state Odd Fellows' home there in the future.

Visited at Lincoln

Louis Carsten, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carsten, Jr., accompanied by Miss Clara Greenrod were in Lincoln last Sunday, where they went to visit with Henry Thelle, who is in a hospital there, where he underwent an operation for appendicitis. They found the patient getting along very well, with hopes of being able to leave the institution in a short time.

Entertained His Co-Workers

Prof. Lawrence Larson, superintendent of the city schools here, entertained the men teachers of Cass county at a gathering at the school building in Avoca the fore part of this week. An excellent program was provided with a discussion of the problems which come to teachers and followed by a social hour that included the serving of some good eats. The Cass County Schoolmen's association was organized several years ago and each year during the school term has a number of get-together meetings at different points over the county.

Hold Safety Celebration

Through the exercise of great care, the cement plant at Louisville has hung up a four year record of no lost time accidents, being recently awarded for the third consecutive year the Cement association's trophy for a one-year period without accident. The dedication of this trophy was held at the cement town last Saturday with a program, followed by amusements, refreshments and a complimentary dance for the people of the community. Fred Marquardt and wife were over for the big doling and Fred has a good word to say for the policy of the company that has reduced accidents so effectively in this, one of the most hazardous of all industries. The safety first precautions are literally drilled into the men, until they become self-consciously safety minded in their every-day acts, thus making it possible to go for weeks and months without a lost time accident.

GRACE ABBOTT ENTERTAINED

Washington.—Grace Abbott had farewell to the children's bureau, after directing it for thirteen years. She was entertained by eighty members and former members of the children's bureau at a dinner during which a mock trial was held charging her with desertion of 43 million children. Miss Abbott resigned as director of the bureau to become professor of public welfare administration at the University of Chicago.

CAPSULE OF RADIUM STOLEN

Chicago.—Police were hunting some ill-advised thief in possession of a $1,000 capsule of radium that may kill him if he opens it. It was stolen from an exhibit at the world's fair. Dr. Luther Gable, in charge of the exhibit, which contains $30,000 worth of radium, broadcast a warning to the thief, whom he thought might be merely some boy attracted by the shiny appearance of the aluminum tube.

WIFE SUES FOR GAMBLING

Omaha.—Herbert A. Miham, operator of a grain elevator at Raymond, Neb., Monday appeared in municipal court to tell how his "clich" style, to break the bank at the Modern night club in South Omaha was thwarted at the intervention of "Dutch" Volker, a defendant in the case. The elevator operator took the stand as a witness in his wife's suit to recover $999 she alleges Miham lost in dice games at the club. Defendants are Charles Hutter and Volker.

"I decided I would keep on doubling everything I lost," said Miham. "They always said 'The sky's the limit,' so if I lost a $1 bet I would bet $2, if I lost $2 I would bet $4 and keep that up until I won." Miham said he won a little money with the system, until Volker limited him to $100 a bet and later reduced the limit to $50. "When I couldn't double any more, I went broke," the witness stated.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ozburn and Elliott Ozburn of Waukeo, Iowa, are in the city as guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Briggs. Mr. Elliott Ozburn being a brother of Mrs. Briggs.

Nehawka

John Vantine, of Wyoming, was a business visitor in Nehawka for a short time last Monday.

Vilas Sheldon was a visitor at Avoca, calling at the farm near that place which he owns and where he had some matters claiming his attention, on last Monday.

L. Linder, of Elmwood, was a business visitor in Nehawka last Monday, coming down on the bus to look after some business matters with some of the citizens of Nehawka.

James Miller has been constructing some culverts on the new road leading west from Nehawka, the material being delivered to the place where the work is being done by Frank Trotter.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert S. Anderson and their son were enjoying a visit last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Swanson, of Syracuse, driving over for the day for a visit and also enjoying a very fine dinner.

The two men teachers in the Nehawka public schools were at Avoca Tuesday evening of this week, where they attended the gathering of the Cass County Schoolmen's association, which was held at the Avoca consolidated schools.

The Sophomore class of the Nehawka high school enjoyed a very fine gathering and wailer roast at the Boy Scout camp, which is located in the Melvin Sturm pasture, where they all enjoyed an evening of great pleasure and a fine feast.

Mrs. Laura Fleischman and daughter, Miss Leora, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fleischman for the day last Sunday. Other guests there that day included L. R. Lane and family, all enjoying a very pleasant visit over the week end.

James Miller, the concrete worker and burial vault manufacturer, was over to Plattsmouth on last Friday, where he was attending the King Korn Carnival, as well as visiting with his daughter and family for the day, being accompanied by Mrs. Miller.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Pitman, who have been making their home with their daughter, Mrs. Laura Fleischman for some time past, were guests in Avoca during the past week and will visit there for another week at the home of their son, Marion Pitman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Wunderlich were at Plattsmouth a portion of last week, where they were attending the King Korn Carnival and as well visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Lottie Rosencranz. Mr. Wunderlich came home Saturday night, but Mrs. Wunderlich remained for a longer visit, extending up into this week.

Ray Christwiser was a visitor in Nehawka last Monday, looking after some business matters. He reported that he is putting in 162 acres of winter wheat, having the work about completed at this time. The rainfall of the past few weeks is welcomed by wheat raisers as it insures getting the ground in good condition for same.

C. F. Harris, county commissioner from this district for a number of years, and who resides near Union, was looking after some business in Nehawka last Monday while on his way to Lincoln. Mr. Harris has just returned home from an extended stay in Virginia, where he resided prior to taking the advice of Horace Greeley and migrating to the west in search of fame and fortune.

The Busy Workers society of the Methodist church held a very interesting meeting last Saturday night at the church. A splendid program had been prepared, the entertainment being in the nature of a welcome for the Rev. and Mrs. E. S. Pangborn, who have been returned to the charge at Weeping Water and Nehawka by the recent church conference held at Lincoln. A fine time was had by all.

Pastor is Returned

The membership of the Methodist church of Nehawka were pleased when they learned of the return of Rev. E. S. Pangborn and wife to the combined charge here and at Weeping Water, manifesting their pleasure by giving them a very fine reception. Rev. Pangborn has made a success of his ministry in this combined charge and has a large number of friends in the two towns which he serves.

Complete Water System Loan

The village board of Nehawka, composed of Glen Rutledge, J. S. Rough, J. H. Steffens, J. J. Pollard and C. D. Adams took the bonds of the village issued in connection with the waterworks construction to Lincoln, having them registered at the office of the Auditor of Public Accounts and then to Plattsmouth for registry at the office of County Clerk George R. Sayles, after which they went to Omaha and delivered them to the federal reserve bank, where they were deposited for the cash which is to be used in paying for the construction of the new waterworks system here.

Putting on the Finishing Touches

Roy Pierce, Charles Bates and Deb Switzer were busy Monday placing the ceiling in the new library building. It is expected to have every detail finished up by the end of this week for there is to be a dedication of the new structure early next week, in which tribute will be paid to the work of the friends of the library in Nehawka which has made possible the securing of this fine building.

An appropriate program is being prepared for the dedication.

Married Last Thursday

Miss Gladys Wolfe and Cecil Hucker of Thurman, Ia., who has been employed on river work at Union for several months, slipped away to Rock Port, Mo., where they were united in marriage and then came home to break the news. They will make their home here and the bride will continue to assist her mother, Mrs. Albert Wolfe in the conduct of the cafe. The Journal joins with their friends in extending congratulations.

The young folks were accompanied to the Missouri county seat town by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Surface, who witnessed the wedding.

Bible School Convention Monday

The annual convention of the Cass County Bible School association will be held at the Methodist church in Elmwood this coming Sunday and it is expected a goodly number of people from here will be present to attend the sessions.

Party Cancues This Week

In line with county-wide calls, the democratic voters of Nehawka precinct will meet Thursday of this week, and the republicans on Friday, for the nomination of precinct officers, such as assessor, constable, justice of the peace and road overseer. The names of such nominees will be placed on the ballot at the fall election, when the voters will make the final determination of who gets the various offices to be filled. All those wishing to serve the country in one of these official capacities had better lay their plans now for capturing the nomination.

FARMERS TAKE ADVANTAGE

Omaha.—Scores of Nebraska farmers are taking advantage of the Frazier-Lemke amendment to the national bankruptcy law passed last June, and are filing their schedules in federal bankruptcy court. Records for the state disclose that ten applications were filed here in July, 51 in August and 75 so far this month. Applications are turned over to commission boards set up in each county. Where it is found impossible to conciliate between debtors and creditors, appeals to regular bankruptcy channels is permissible.

The Frazier-Lemke act recently was declared unconstitutional by a Baltimore federal judge and supreme court is expected to rule upon it shortly.

One such case was filed in the Lincoln division in June, eleven in August and fourteen so far in September, for a total of twenty-six.

Farmer Dollar is Worth More Than in Summer

His Commodities Are Rising in Value at a Faster Rate Than Goods He Must Purchase.

Declaring that the price of corn, oats, hay, hogs and other farm commodities has risen more rapidly since July than prices of commodities purchased by farmers, Prof. H. C. Pilley of the college of agriculture says in his monthly economic situation report that the purchasing power of farm products is now about 71 or 72.

Professor Pilley says that in all probability the 1934 Nebraska corn crop and the carryover from past years will not be sufficient, and corn will have to be shipped in from outside the state. It is anticipated that the price in deficit areas will be higher than the Omaha price.

There will be no carryover of oats in Nebraska and the 1934 estimated crop was only about 17 percent of the 5-year average. A 50 percent crop of the 5-year average had been predicted. Regarding feed, the report says even if every acre of corn is cut for fodder, farmers cannot hope to carry nearly as much stock thru the winter as they have done the past few years, unless a great deal of feed is shipped in from other states. It is evident, the report goes on to say, that the number of livestock must be reduced drastically because of feed shortage and resultant high prices. If the winter is severe, the price trend will be higher rather than lower.

"The number of cattle, hogs and sheep fattened in Nebraska this year will be the smallest for many years," Professor Pilley says. "Because of the feed shortage, thin cows and calves are being sold in unusually large numbers. In all probability the number of cattle in the state will be materially less at the end of 1934 than at the end of 1933.

"No one can tell you the net income in Nebraska this year. It can be definitely stated, however, that it is probably the smallest in many years."

HAVE POOREST SPUD CROP

Kimball, Neb.—Farmers of the western Nebraska panhandle have started the harvest of the lowest yielding crop of potatoes since the beginning of the potato industry in this section of the state. The best fields are yielding about thirty-five bushels per acre and the average is about twenty-five bushels. The low yield was due to drought and extreme heat of the last summer. Most of the stock runs in seed size and good table stock are scarce.
