

Nehawka

Everett Spangler, of Murray, was a visitor in Nehawka last Monday, being a member of the board of directors of the Nehawka Farmers Oil company.

Henry Wessell was called out of town to look after some business matters last Monday afternoon and during his absence business at the store was looked after by J. G. Wunderlich.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Studor, of Rock Valley, Iowa, who have been visiting here for some time and guests of a number of Nehawka people, left on Monday for their home after a most pleasant visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Pitman, who have been visiting for the past couple of weeks at the home of their son, Marion Pitman, at Avoca, and with other relatives and friends, returned home last Friday.

Fred L. Carsten, of Avoca, was a visitor in Nehawka last Monday, he being one of the members of the board of directors of the Nehawka Farmers Oil company and was here to assist with the audit of the company's books.

Claude Lane, who has been manager of the Trunkenholz interest in Nehawka, both as to the local service station and the tank wagon business, has resigned his position with the company, and his place is being taken by W. H. Kruger, who will make a No. 1 good man for the place.

A. F. Sturm has been improving his office at the lumber yard by the installation of insulating board such as was used in the library auditorium, throughout the interior, and also the placing of a new floor therein, which will insure him a right snug office when the cold winter days arrive.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Rhoden of west of Murray were visiting in Nehawka last Monday, having some business matters to look after here.

J. H. Steffens was a visitor at Lorton on last Monday, being a guest at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Steffens and assisting his father with the making of some reports at the bank.

At Work on Water System

The first work on the new water-works system for Nehawka was begun Monday with the starting of the job of sinking the well. By completing this part of the job first, it will be possible to know if the well will prove adequate and supply pure water for the people of the town. This is good logic, for should the work on the entire system be gone ahead with and then the well not come up to expectations it would mean a lot of useless money and labor expended. They are hoping to find the well coming up to the expectations as indicated from the test holes sunk, but one can never really tell and so they are taking no chances.

Many Attended Convention

A large number of the enthusiastic workers of the Bible schools of Nehawka were over to Elmwood on last Monday, where they attended the annual convention of the Bible schools of Cass county. Among those present from here were Mrs. W. S. Norris, J. W. Murdock and wife, A. G. Murdock and wife, Fred Rose and daughter, Miss Helen, Rev. Otto Engebretson and wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Easter and daughter, Laura, as well as a number of others whose names we did not learn.

To Honor Bible School Teachers

Arrangements have been made for the holding of a parade next Saturday by those interested in the Bible schools as a sort of prelude to rally day Sunday in the Bible schools of the nation. The procession will wind up at the auditorium, where a number of addresses will be made in honor of the teachers and workers in the Bible schools of the community, present and past. There will be an address made by some minister, touching on the Bible school from a minister's viewpoint, an address by some church member and active Bible school worker and also an address by one of our local business men. Better be on hand and participate in this occasion, and then go out to Bible school the following day. It will do you good.

Board of Directors Met

The board of directors of the Nehawka Farmers Oil company were in session last Monday afternoon, looking over the books and making their findings as to the condition of the business for the past three months. It is their custom to meet quarterly and do this and in this manner they keep in close touch with the business at all times. They found that the past nine months have shown a very satisfactory volume of business under the management of R. C. Pollard, as during that time they have been able to clear the sum of $2,873.59, and if the present rate continues, their profit for the year will go well over $3,500. Thus each stockholder will be able to realize a nice dividend on his stock, as well as the regular advantages that come from buying from his own company the goods he would be buying otherwise.

Enjoyed Family Reunion

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Klaurens was the scene of gayety on last Sunday when all the members of the family and its various branches were present and participated in a good old time get-together family reunion, a good dinner and a good time.

New Library Formally Dedicated

The Woman's club and others who have worked unceasingly to the end that Nehawka might be supplied with an adequate library building have seen their hopes come true with the dedication of the new building on last Sunday, and may feel well repaid for the time and effort put forth to attain success, for it is really a fine building of which all may well be proud.

The final touches in the completion of the building were made last week as it was put in spic and span ready for the dedication program. A pageant unfolded some of the early history of this section, harking back to the time when Indians roamed the plains and people lived in log cabins or even less pretentious dugouts. As it unfolded the advancing times were depicted and with them came railroads and determination of townsites of which Nehawka was one. Still later the cultural side of the town's affairs was depicted, among the events being the organizing of the Woman's club that has had such a prominent part in the erection of this splendid building.

Interwoven in the pageant was also the pretty legend of how a beautiful Indian maiden was stolen from one tribe by another, and how the brave of her tribe banded together and went forth fully armed and equipped to rescue and return her, while the tribe that had stolen her was equally as determined not to give her up. The battle waged during the entire day and long into the night, and when dawn of the next day had come all the braves of both tribes were dead with only an Indian lad left to return with the news of the annihilation of the tribes. This shocked the squaw of the tribes so that they wept copiously, their tears swelling into a river, which stream was named the Weeping Water. In the Indian dialect the name "Nehawka" designating that stream, so it was but natural the town built upon its banks should be called Nehawka.

The remainder of the history of the town was well depicted as each advance of import was marked.
Miss Evelyn Wolph was the narrator of the accompanying script and told in vivid language of the history of the Indians who were so faithful to their beautiful maiden and of the untiring work which the Woman's club of Nehawka has done to bring about their dream of attaining a public library building, and how they now have one of unique design that will stand for years as a memento to the pioneers who came and settled in this part of the country.

Large numbers of people were in attendance, coming from over the entire county and even more distant points and all spoke in high praise, not only of the pageant but of the fine building that has been provided by close co-operation.
Mrs. Nelson Berger, president of the club, acted as master of ceremonies, and was able assisted by the more than 125 persons who helped to bring about the success of the movement. The people of Nehawka are grateful to W. L. Hobson, who brought over his public address system and installed it so that all might hear the talks

POINT FOR VALLEY GAME

The Plattens are busy each evening with the drills and practice for the forthcoming game with Valley high school, the first to be staged on the local field. The team has shown a great deal of improvement and the experience gained in the Glenwood battle has proven valuable in shaping the team up. The players are showing plenty of enthusiasm and pep in the practices. This Friday's game will be the first opportunity that the local people have had of seeing the team in action and a large crowd should be out to enjoy the struggle.

WILL STAGE TOURNAMENT

The members of the golf club are to stage a "Blind Bogie" flag tournament and putting contest at the local course which promises to arouse some real interest.

E. P. Stewart, one of the local enthusiasts has come to the front and announced that the winners of the eleven prizes will receive this prize in a fine chicken dinner at the Stewart cafe.

With this inducement before them there will be some mighty good golf shot at the course on next Saturday and Sunday.
