BEHIND the SCENES in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Filmland chuckled when Joel McCrea and Johnny Weissmuller jumped into the ocean with fishing lines in their teeth and actually succeeded in hooking a barracuda. But Henry Wilcoxon, the English star, tops them easily. Out on his small yacht the other day, he donned a pair of underwater goggles, armed himself with a five-foot spear and dived overboard. He gaffed three sheepsheads.

As a matter of fact, Wilcoxon is one of Hollywood's strongest swimmers. He was born in Dominica and lived in Barbados and Jamaica until the age of 16. He is the only person who has been able to dive completely under the keel of Cecil B. De Mille's yacht.

There has been a marked decrease of applicants for the one Hollywood actor's role in "China Roars." And no wonder. The Columbia troupe will sail up the pirate-infested Yangtze river and will spend many months on the Gobi desert and in inhospitable Mongolian territory. But worst of all are the multiple vaccines that the studio will insist on administering. Typhoid, smallpox and diphtheria are routine and will be given

FUTURE OF PUBLIC WORKS

Washington.—Looking into a future as yet little better than nebulosity, the public works administration is considering the prospects of expanding in such fields as providing electrification for rural districts and eliminating railway grade crossings. Both of these, officials say, present many difficulties, not the least of which is the congressional hurdle. Whether more funds will be provided for public works of any type is entirely up to congress. Both rural electrification and grade crossing elimination were eligible for public works financing from the $3,700,000,000 original fund. The question of adequate security was the chief stumbling block.

Huge dams that will provide means of generating electricity are being financed by PWA in several sections of the nation and their power must be used in some manner. Consequently officials are considering how far they might go in expanding transmission lines into rural areas where the kerosene lamp has prevailed for generations.

BRITISH-RUSSIAN AGREEMENT

Moscow.—The long standing controversy between a group of British investors and the Russian government over the rich Lena goldfields was adjusted in an agreement signed here. The settlement was reached by the soviet's chief concession committee and Arthur Marshall, representing Lena Goldfields, Ltd. The Tass (Russian) news agency reported that "all disputed questions had been regulated" in negotiations which had been under way three weeks. The announcement was regarded as vitally important by British business interests. It was believed the settlement would stimulate the revival of Anglo-Russian trade. Great Britain already has displaced Germany as the largest exporter to Russia.

TETRAETHYL in Standard Red Crown Superfuel— Same Price as "Regular" Gasoline!

The Government at Washington has ruled that gasoline containing tetraethyl must be distinguished from gasolines lacking this valuable fluid by a metal plaque on the pumpreading, "Contains lead (tetraethyl)." Motorists are urged to look for that plaque. It is their guarantee that they are getting gasoline containing the finest anti-knock fluid known, the very same fluid which (in larger quantity) goes into premium-priced gasoline! All Standard Red Crown pumps carry the tetraethyl plaque. And that's one reason why Standard Red Crown has more LIVE POWER per gallon, though it costs no more than "regular" gasoline!

LISTEN, GLORIA. DON'T TRY TO TELL ME THERE'S ANY DIFFERENCE. STANDARD RED CROWN DOESN'T COST ANY MORE THAN "REGULAR."

WHAT'S THE PRICE GOT TO DO WITH IT? LOOK AT THAT PLAQUE. THAT MEANS STANDARD RED CROWN SUPERFUEL CONTAINS TETRAETHYL. YOU WON'T FIND THAT ON THE PUMPS YOU'VE BEEN DRIVING UP TO!

BY GEORGE, I NEVER NOTICED THAT BEFORE. THAT OUGHT TO MAKE A LOT OF DIFFERENCE, BUT WE'LL SEE...

WHOA! SLOW DOWN, GLORIA. YOU WIN! WE'VE GOT PLENTY OF TIME NOW, THANKS TO RED CROWN!

3 Changes in the Constitution All Approved

Repeal Not Conceded by Anti-Saloon League Until Country Vote In; Betting Vote Grows.

Proposed amendments: 609 precincts of 2,029, for prohibition repeal 78,460; against repeal 55,997. 640 precincts: For one house legislature 77,119; against one house legislature 52,100. 613 precincts: For pari-mutuel betting 62,424; against pari-mutuel betting 49,795.

Three amendments to the state constitution early Wednesday appeared to be carrying with repeal of state prohibitory laws romping along with a lead of 23,000 votes.

The proposal for a one house legislature was doing nearly as well with about a fifth of the state's 2,029 precincts counted, and the amendment to permit pari-mutuel betting on horse races had an increasing margin.

R. P. Hutton, superintendent of the Nebraska Anti-Saloon league early Wednesday morning refused to concede a victory to the repeal forces. He said that he understood most of the precincts reporting early were in cities and that the country territory was running dry. "We're not ready to concede," he declared. "We wouldn't encourage the wets that much."

LOW PRICE PAID FOR VOTE

Chicago.—Twenty-five cents a vote was the rate in one downtown precinct, but government investigators said they had found evidence of only one sale. The federal district attorney was notified that one Harry James Ryan had sold his vote. Melvin H. Purvis, chief of the bureau of investigation and better known as a Dillinger and Floyd huntsman, questioned Ryan and said the voter admitted accepting 25 cents for his pencil mark on the ballot. Ryan was released. The man who paid him is being sought.

SAYS CLOTHING ESSENTIAL

Boston.—Regardless of the contentions of nudist cults, "going native" is far from a pleasant condition, according to Dr. H. Veazie Markham. Reporting from his station at Denti, West Africa, Dr. Markham has just informed the American board of commissioners for foreign missions that lack of clothing is a principal cause of sickness in that region. "More sickness and death comes from pneumonia and disease of the chest," he said, "than from any other illness except malaria. A child without a cold is an object of curiosity. The native people who are not Christians do not know how to build proper houses. The Christians are cleaner, healthier, better clothed and housed."

Dr. Markham reported visiting a large area in which the population had been wiped out by the deadly tsetse fly.

HUNGARY PREMIER GUARDED

Vienna.—Premier Julius Goemboes of Hungary was guarded like a visiting king when he arrived here en route from Budapest to Rome for an important conference with Premier Mussolini. Determined to prevent a repetition of the Dollfuss assassination and the murder of King Alexander at Marseille, thousands of Austrian soldiers and police surrounded the railroad station, which resembled a fortress.

Photographers and newsmen were forced to keep their distance as if they had been potential assassins. Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg and Prince Ernst von Starhemberg, vice chancellor, greeted Goemboes, along with other cabinet members, and later held separate private conferences with the visiting premier. Goemboes a soldier himself, seemed dumfounded at the amazing measures taken to guard him. After his arrival the dictator placed a wreath on the tomb of fallen Austrian heroes and then went to lunch with the chancellor and vice chancellor. Later he was to leave for Italy, where he will talk trade and treaties with the Italian premier.
