Murray Study Club.

The Murray Study club met at the home of Mrs. Betty Barrows. The usual noonday meal was in evidence. The subject of study was books and "Know Your Own Community and State." Mrs. Charles Spangler gave a number of highlights regarding the state at the present time. Mrs. McDonald had a very extensive paper on the pioneers and the prehistoric times of the state. Mrs. Boedeker reported on Cass county, especially on happenings in Rock Bluffs.

Mrs. Long was leader and had Murray Banner, afterwards known as Murray Mirror, that was published 40 years ago. It will be interesting to the young readers to know that 40 to 45 years ago Murray published a paper as large as the Plattsmouth Journal. Another happening that came out in this lesson was that since the Boedeker house was built that 27 new buildings had gone up in Murray and yet the population is less now than it was 40 years ago. On the school board 40 years back was D. J. Pittman, director, Wm. Moerow, moderator and S. Crabtree, treasurer.

The minister of the Presbyterian church was S. S. Stewart, co-incident that our present minister is Stewart; Elmer Good, banker; Root and Edmunds, lumber; E. A. Burton was hardware man; Mont Robb, dry goods and groceries; R. W. Swerengen had a restaurant and Dr. Brendle and Dr. Champney were the physicians; Holcomb was governor of Nebraska; Omaha market for eggs, 10c; butterfat 10 to 16c; hens, live, 7c; hogs $4.70; beef, $3.50; stockers and feeders $2.50.

Maybe we are not so bad off. One thing we can't find in these old papers is a corn and hog program or a co-operative, but irrigation in the Platte region was suggested.

The lesson with Mrs. Barrows was very interesting and worth while.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. Tyson and promises to be as interesting. Mrs. Charles Barrows and Miss Graham were guests of the meeting.—Club Reporter.

Beet Farmers Must Not Forget the Workers

Exclusion of Laborers From the Adjustment Contracts May Cost Payment.

Scottsbluff, Neb.—Farmers who keep the names of share laborers off sugar beet crop adjustment contracts will not be paid benefit payments, and may make themselves liable to criminal prosecution, Charley Kearney of Morrill, president of the National Beet Growers association, said he was informed in a telegram from the sugar section of the AAA.

"It appears that a number of farmers are attempting to keep share laborers names out of benefit pay contracts. Not a payment will be made on such contracts," the telegram said.

"Furthermore, any such attempt may render the producer liable to criminal prosecution, since the contract provides 'any intentional misrepresentation of fact made in this contract for the purpose of defrauding the United States will be subject to the criminal provisions of the United States code.'

"Suggest you advise producers and the National Beet Growers association accordingly as this situation is delaying payments and likely to result in embarrassment to producers."

Kearney said the national association "has consistently insisted that labor be treated fairly in all instances. We are continuing that policy without any variations."

L. Yochum of Ashland, then made a brief talk outlining the association's history, submitted a statement of the executive committee's activities.

An explanation of the Farm Credit administration of Omaha, which serves the states of Iowa, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming, was presented by Yale B. The secretary-treasurer's report showed that the association has made loans to farmers of Burt, Dodge, Cass, Douglas, Saunders, Washington and Sarpy counties, the territory served by the association.

Short-term production loans for general agricultural purposes are made by this farmer-owned and farmer-controlled association for from 3 to 12 months. Loans are being made at present at 5 per cent interest for the production of crops and live stock and live stock products.

Here's Proof That Old King Winter Still Reigns Over Elements

With a blast that left no question that he still is the reigning power of the elements, King Winter lays down a heavy blanket of snow in various parts of the country. Left, how the snow covered the capitol at Washington; top, automobiles almost completely buried by the blizzard at Hempstead, L. I.; below, ice jam clogging the Genesee river at Rochester, N. Y.
