

WHEN YOU TAKE A LAXATIVE

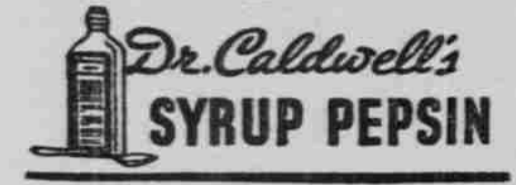

... use a spoon

It isn't what brand of laxative you take that's so important—it's the form. A liquid laxative can be taken in any required amount. If only a little is needed, you need never take a bit too much.

Doctors favor the easily measured liquid laxatives. Instead of any form that does not encourage variation from the fixed dose. A fixed dose may be an overdose for you—or your child.

Always remember this one thing about constipation: the secret of any real relief is reduced dosage.

Give the bowels only as much help as may be needed, and less help as the need grows less. You will find Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin an excellent aid in regulating the bowels. It contains senna and cascara (natural laxatives) and it will clear-up any bilious, sluggish condition without upset. Delightful taste, and pleasant action. Your druggist has it.

MANLEY NEWS

Miss Carrie Schaeffer has been in poor health the past week, but is now reported as improving.

Mrs. Robert Bergmann was visiting with friends and incidentally looking after some business matters in Omaha last Saturday.

W. J. Rau and brother George Rau were looking after business matters in Omaha last Monday, driving over to the big town in their car.

A. H. Ward, of Murdock, was in Manley last Tuesday, bringing over a truck load of gasoline, oil and other products for his customers here.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mockenhaupt were visiting and looking after some shopping in Plattsmouth last Saturday, driving over in their auto.

Adolph Steinkamp, who has been making good improvement for some time, was not quite so well a couple of days last week. However, he is now gaining again.

Edward Freeman was confined to his home and bed for a couple of days last week on account of an attack of flu, which is so prevalent just now. At last reports, he was somewhat improved.

William Bourke and John Gakemeier, of Murdock, were looking after some business matters here, calling on their friend E. O. McDonald, who is engaged in the restaurant business in Manley.

August Stander, who makes his home at Elmwood, was called to Manley last Tuesday, coming to look after some business matters here, as he has a number of farms here that require looking after.

Frank Stander, of Omaha, was looking after some business matters in Manley on Tuesday of last week, being a guest at the home of Walter O'Brien as well as calling on numerous other friends here.

Fred Lutchens, who was confined to his home and bed for so long with an attack of pneumonia, but has been recuperating for some time, was in Manley last Tuesday for a short time looking after some business matters and right well pleased at being able to get out again.

Buys New Pontiac Car

Harry Haws, manager of the Manley Grain company's elevator, last week purchased a new four door Pontiac sedan and the family are looking forward to spring with much pleasurable anticipation. Harry was not feeling so well last week and was confined to his bed for a short time, but is now up and around again.

Special Services Yesterday

On Sunday, March 17, special services were held at St. Patrick's Catholic church in honor of St. Patrick, patron saint of Ireland, after whom the local church was named. A large number were present to enjoy the services.

Attended District Convention

Mr. and Mrs. O. Dowler and Mr. Rudolph Bergmann, together with Mrs. Robert McCafferty and Mrs. Earl Mayfield, of Louisville, attended the American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary convention at Syracuse last Wednesday.

BOY KILLED BY SHOVEL

Auburn, Neb.—Ivan Hendricks, 16 year old employe of the Tobin rock quarries near here, was instantly killed at the quarry when a steam shovel backed over him. Hendricks, who lived with his mother a short distance southeast of Johnson, was placing blocks under the shovel vehicle's wheels when the accident occurred.

Good Health and Low Mortality Records Shown

Despite Depression Figures Show a Much Better Record Than in Past Years.

New York, S. Y.—A paradox of the depression—the fact that new good health and low mortality records have been established in a great cross section of the North American population at a time when large numbers of them are experiencing unaccustomed hardship and deprivation—has been explained by statisticians of a leading life insurance company, among whose 17,000,000 industrial policyholders in the United States and Canada these records have been established. Intensified activities of public health agencies, the statisticians say, plus widespread relief measures, an almost universal trend toward simpler living and diet, and the unusually favorable weather conditions that have prevailed during the depression years probably have had much to do with keeping down the death rate and raising the expectation of life.

In discussing the mortality trend among the policyholders during the depression period, the statisticians say that, as a result, the expectation of life for these millions of persons, showed, on the average, continued improvement during those years through 1933.

"But this improvement," they pointed out, "has proceeded at a slackening pace. In 1929 the expectation of life at birth of the Industrial policyholders, taken as a group, was 55.78 years. In 1930 it had increased by 1.58 years; 1931 saw a further gain of 0.54 of a year; 1932 a gain of 0.90 of a year; and 1933 finally showed a gain of only 0.39 of a year over 1932, with an expectation of life of 59.19 years."

The expectation of life advanced from 55.88 years in 1928 to 59.19 years in 1933.

While complete data for 1934 are not yet available, it is explained that "provisional computations indicate that the expectation of life will be better than that for 1933."

Making a comparison between the depression years and those in the decade immediately preceding, it is shown that the expectation of life during the period—1921 to 1929—was consistently below the level of 1930 to 1933.

Referring to the belief, once current, that economic stress would adversely influence the health of the nation—to be reflected in higher mortality—the statisticians say that suggestions have been made that there have been adverse influences on health not yet reflected in the death rate.

"This viewpoint," the statisticians declare, "does not seem very convincing; for although it is readily admitted that some of the ill effects of economic hardships may be such as not to produce immediately fatal results; yet the influence on mortality should be felt within a period of five years, in so sensitive an instrument as a life table.

"During the depression mortality has been very low, and not high, as might have been expected. While these facts are clear, the reason for them is very much a matter of speculation. Is it possible that retrenchment in certain activities and pursuits, or in diet, have actually had a beneficial effect? Or is it a very fortunate accident that during the greater part of the depression we have had the advantage of unusually favorable weather conditions? Be this as it may, we must not overlook the fact that health departments have continued to function with more enthusiasm and drive than ever before. The momentum of a powerful force like the public health movement will carry on for years. The relief measures that have been taken, also, have been sufficient in most states to take care of the immediate and primary needs of the people. Whatever be the final answer, it is extremely gratifying to report that the health of the nation not only continues unimpaired, but is still reaching out for higher levels.

STEALS SHOW FROM HUEY

Washington.—A tiny, black-haired girl in a bright green dress stole the show from Huey Long. When the Louisiana arose to argue for his college grant amendment, the youngster learned forward fascinated by his flailing arms, jerking head and rolling eyes.

Then she stood and began mimicking the kingfish. She matched his every gesture. A titter of amusement spread thru the galleries. Long sensing that he had lost his audience, faltered, nonplussed.

"I HAVEN'T HAD A COLD IN FIVE YEARS"

"In the old days I used to dread the coming of winter. I was always fighting colds—feeling about half alive—trying to work with my body aching and every nerve on edge.

"Then a friend told me about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Tablets with their marvelous vitamins A and D. I started to take them five years ago and I haven't had a cold since that time.

"McCoy's tablets put new life in folks; build up resistance so anyone can laugh at cold germs. They make weak, skinny people strong, steady-nerved and vigorous. They're wonderful!"

Large Sum is Asked in Auto Damage Suit

Henry L. Marshall and Madelyn Marshall Plaintiffs in Action Against Thedrad and H. A. Michan.

An action has been filed in the office of the clerk of the district court in which the aggregate sum of $41,607 is asked as damages as the result of an auto accident and collision.

The plaintiff in the suit is Henry L. Marshall, and the defendants are Thedrad Michan and H. A. Michan, the plaintiff claiming that on October 21, 1934, he was riding as a passenger in a car owned and driven by his wife, Madelyn Michan, and that as they were driving on highway No. 2 and near the intersection of highway No. 77 that the car in which the plaintiff was riding was struck by that driven by the defendant Thedrad Michan, and wrecked and the plaintiff suffered personal injury and for which the sum of $10,000 is asked in the first cause of action and $5,950 is asked on the second cause of action.

The second suit is that of Madelyn Marshall against the two defendants above named Thedrad Michan, driver of the car. The facts set forth in the accidents are the same as the suit of the husband but the plaintiff in this case asks that the sum of $25,000 be awarded as damages for personal injuries received.

The plaintiffs are residents of Lincoln while the defendants make their home in this city.

HURT AS CAR HITS HORSES

Wahoo.—Mrs. Vivian Woolen, 40, is in a Wahoo hospital suffering from a broken right shoulder, fractures to several ribs and lacerations about the face, received when the automobile in which she was riding near Bartlett struck some horses running loose on the highway.

Four of the animals were killed. M. Weaver of Bartlett, Mrs. Woolen's son-in-law, driver of the car, was not injured. Mrs. Woolen, who lives in Wahoo, was brought here by an Elgin physician. She had been at Bartlett caring for her sick daughter.

ROAD BILL GIVEN APPROVAL

Washington.—A bill to authorize a billion-dollar appropriation for road construction and grade crossing elimination was approved by the house roads committee.

The measure, by Chairman Cartwright (d., Okl.), would provide 400 millions for federal aid highways, 300 millions for grade crossing elimination, and 200 millions for farm to market, school bus and rural mail delivery roads. The bill had the endorsement of the American Association of Highway Officials.

Legion Prepares for Big Public Meet Tuesday

Ralston Post Band Will Be Featured in Concert, as Well as Address by Sam Reynolds.

The Hugh J. Kearns post of the American Legion of this city are completing the details for the big public meeting which is to be held here on next Tuesday evening, March 19th.

The meeting will be held in the Legion hall in the Bekins building and to which all civic and patriotic organizations and the general public are invited to attend and enjoy the treat afforded them by the local organization.

The band concert will be held at 8 o'clock and the band directed by Dr. A. E. Wood who has been in charge of the direction of the band for several years. The band is the one that was awarded fourth prize at the American Legion national convention at Miami, Florida, last fall, and has been heard at a large number of the national conventions of the society.

This will be one of the finest musical treats that has been offered in this city and one that all will enjoy to the utmost and provide a fine opportunity for the Plattsmouth music lovers to enjoy the artistic performance of the Omaha band.

Sam Reynolds, long a prominent figure in the work of the national organization and now member of the finance committee, will be here and speak of the policies of the Legion and explain the position of many of the organization on many of the issues of the day and public policies that they have endorsed.

FREMONT MAYOR FACES DEFEAT

Fremont, Neb., March 14.—Indications that John Fohn, democrat, Fremont's mayor for six years, is on the way out were given Thursday night when his own ward turned against him, along with the other three wards, as the annual caucuses were held.

John Martin, former city councilman for 10 years, received the support of democrats in all four wards, while republicans favored Fred Drew, another former councilman.

The Rohn-Martin feud started two years ago when Martin's forces went to the city convention claiming victory only to have the Rohn faction nominate its man by a successful demand for a secret ballot, the first ever taken here.

With Rohn went three democratic councilmen, Floyd McCardle, Joe Ashenbrenner and William Paulin, the latter a Rohn appointee. McCardle had refused to run for re-election.

Democratic nominees for councilmen were Fred Walker, first ward; A. E. Tracy, second ward; Roy Peterbaugh, third ward, and Frank Donegan, fourth ward.

BONDS KEPT OFF MARKET

Pittsburgh.—The government developed testimony at Andrew W. Mellon's income tax hearing disclosing the Bethlehem Steel corporation, in negotiating for 21 million dollars of the estate of McClinton-Marshall corporation in 1930, ascertained there would be no public offering of bonds it gave to complete the transaction.

A. J. Slater, an assistant to the secretary of the Bethlehem Steel Subsidiaries corporation, testified under cross examination that he and other attorneys checked details of the company's "reorganization plan" and that it was agreed the Union Trust company of Pittsburgh, as trustee, would pay cash for the bonds and that they would not be put on the market.

Mellon owned 30 percent of the McClinton-Marshall stock and the government charges the transactions netted Mellon a $5,500,000 profit for which he owes the government approximately 1 million on his 1931 income tax return.

PINK SLIP REPEAL O. K'D

Washington.—The senate finance committee voted a favorable report on repeal of the "pink slip" publicity clause in the income tax law. Chairman Pat Harrison said the proposal would be placed before the senate as soon as action on the work-relief bill was completed. That would delay action beyond March 15 when income tax returns must be made with the "pink slips" which give the income and tax figures for individuals to be made public eventually unless the law is repealed.

MURDOCK ITEMS

Ed Brunkow has been on the sick list for the past few days, but is reported considerably improved at this writing.

Albert Theile, who makes his home south of Elmwood, was a visitor at the home of his son, Albert, Jr., for the day last Sunday.

Frank Rosenow was carrying the mail last week during the time the regular carrier, Lacey McDonald, was attending the basketball tournament at Hastings.

W. E. Palmeter, making his home north of Murdock over near the Platte river, was in town last Wednesday looking after the transaction of some business.

Martin Straich and Gust Ruge went to Syracuse last Tuesday, where they secured some hedge posts which will be used to support the fence on their respective farms.

Mrs. Albert Straich and daughter, Miss Lydia, were enjoying a visit and a very nice supper at the home of Martin Straich last Wednesday evening. They drove over in their car.

Miss Mary McHugh, who is employed in Omaha was a visitor in Murdock and a guest at the home of her mother for the past few days. She and her mother enjoyed the visit very much.

A. H. Ward was looking after some business matters in Greenwood last Wednesday, being accompanied by Homer H. Lawton, the painter and decorator, who had some business matters to look after there.

Mrs. Hannah McDonald, who has been visiting in Omaha for the past week with her sister, Mrs. C. A. Besack, where she and the sister and family have enjoyed the visit very much, returned home the first of this week.

Mrs. W. O. Schewe returned home last week from York, where she had visited for some time at the home of their son, Marion, who is a teacher in the public schools there. Mrs. Schewe suffered a fracture of one of her ankles some time ago, but is getting so she can get about better now.

Moving to Farm at Fullerton

Emil Kuehn, who was at Fullerton during the past two weeks getting things in shape for the beginning of farming operations, returned to Murdock, and with the wife, their household effects and live stocks, moved to the farm there, where they will engage in agricultural pursuits during the current season. Miss Evelyn, who is employed in Ashland, will not accompany them.

Improving from Operation

Mrs. W. T. Weddell, who is at a Lincoln hospital, where she underwent an operation recently, is reported as showing considerable improvement at this time. On last Wednesday, her son and daughter, Meredith and Ione, were over to see the mother and were accompanied by Mesdames Homer Lawton and John Eppings, who found the patient greatly encouraged. It is hoped that Mrs. Weddell will be able to return home in a short time entirely cured.

Caucus Held Last Tuesday

Well regulated families sometimes forget and allow their affairs to get into a tangle, but they are generally unraveled in such a way that everything comes out all right, and that is pretty much the case with communities as well. The 1933 legislature passed a law that required the holding of caucuses to nominate city and village officials on or before the fifth Wednesday preceding election, which would have been February 27 this year. The law was not generally known, and very few towns over the state complied with it. But in accordance with a ruling from the office of the attorney general, it was decided to go ahead with the caucus as usual and after the nominations had been made to provide legality thereto through the circulation of petitions, which under the law can be filed up to ten days before the election. The nominees of the caucus (three to be elected) for members of the town board are Otto Miller, H. W. Tool, Charles Kupke, Bryan McDonald, Charles Schaeffer and Henry A. Tool. Petitions will be filed with the clerk in ample time to insure the placing of their names upon the ballot and thus the tangle will be as well straightened out as had the caucus been held within the prescribed time. Many other towns over the state are having to resort to petition nominations in order to insure the legality of their candidates.

This same law was in effect last year, but went unobserved and it was not until a few weeks ago that its regulations in regard to the time of holding caucuses were unearthed. It has always been a practice of holding caucuses 16 to 18 days before election day, in order to permit having the nominees certified to the clerk within the required fifteen day period. Although the law advanced the time of holding the caucus some three weeks, no change is made in the time for filing the list of nominees.

School Caucus Tomorrow

The school caucus was not held on the date of the town caucus but has been deferred until March 19—Tuesday of this week—when nominations will be made for members of the school board in order that everything may be in readiness for holding the annual election Tuesday, April 2.

Many Attended the Tourney

The participation of the Murdock basketball team in the state class B tournament held at Hastings last week, was one of civic pride and the citizens of the community rallied to the support of the team in splendid manner, making the long drive to the central Nebraska town in order to be present at the opening round contest and lend moral support to the home town boys.

The fact that they lost the game to Lodgepole, while disappointing, did not shake the faith of the loyal boosters in the local lads, who have had a very successful season and downed some strong opposition to win both the district and regional contests. For any team to make the state contest in these days of elimination is indeed a feat worthy of more than passing note and all are glad that Murdock was one of sixteen teams over the state to be thus signally honored, despite the fact that they did not get past the first round.

Among those from here who were present at the game were Rev. H. R. Knoep, who furnished his auto and took a load of the players; H. W. Tool and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Amgwert, J. W. Kruger, Bryan McDonald, John Eppings and wife and I. C. McCrorey and wife.

Shipped Carload of Horses

Mr. Melvin, the horse buyer, who comes into this neighborhood periodically to purchase horses for shipment to eastern points as well as to be sent abroad, shipped a car of fine horses from Murdock during the past week, which he had picked up at different points in this vicinity. The shipment was under the direction of Ed James of near Elmwood.

Found Walking Good

Mrs. Albert Straich and daughter, Miss Lydia, were visiting last Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joy Miller, Mrs. Miller being a daughter of Mrs. Straich. The ladies drove over and as the Millers reside some four miles south of Elmwood and a mile east they found the roads very poor and were unable to get there, having to walk the last half mile in order to enjoy the visit. But they made it and were pleased with the fine visit they had.

Had Lunch and Quilted

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Ward there were gathered a large number of the ladies who are adept in the quilting line. They were able to tie off a complete quilt after which a pleasant social hour was enjoyed. Among those present were Mesdames Henry A. Tool, Elsemann, W. O. Gillespie, Matt Thimgan, Otto Miller, C. I. Long, H. C. Backemeyer and Bryan McDonald.

Entered the Ladies Aid

Mrs. Leo Rikli, who is a very active member of the Ladies Aid Society of the Murdock church entertained the members of the society last Thursday. There were a large number of the ladies present and a very fine time was had. Business pertaining to the advancement of the church work was discussed at length.

Advised of Brother's Death

W. T. Weddell received the sad news of the passing of a brother, F. J. Weddell, who made his home in New York state. The deceased had attained the age of 91 years, having been in fair health until recently. The death occurred during the latter part of January, but the letter was only recently received by Mr. Weddell.

Addressed the Students

L. Neitzel gave a very interesting address last Friday noon at the High school to the 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grade pupils. The way they cheered showed how they appreciated his remarks about Nebraska 53 years ago, portrayed in his own inimitable manner. Some of these were (1) the trackless prairie, with no roads and only a limitless expanse of waving tall grass like the mighty ocean and here and there the trace of a covered wagon that would end in some ravine where the pioneer (2) built his modest home, a dug-out, hanging the wagon cover over the entrance, and the "home" was ready. Then followed the more pretentious sod-house, and then (3) the little red school house—school, church, voting place, civic center, with its happy memories of spelling bees and singing schools.

AL CAPONE PUT IN DUNGEON

San Francisco.—A prison official at Alcatraz island disclosed that Al Capone, the original "public enemy No. 1" recently was sent to solitary confinement for four days because of a fistie encounter with another convict. The official, asking that his name not be used, said Capone struck at a fellow prisoner after an argument. The other convict struck back, but the blow fell short and his fist smashed into a piece of machinery. Guards separated the prisoners and consigned them both to dungeons.
