

Corn-Hog Payments are Made Here Today

$20,000 Is Distributed in Checks to Farmers of Plattsmouth and East Rock Bluffs.

From Saturday's Daily
One of the busiest places in the Cass county court house today was the office of the county commissioners where the payments were being made to the farmers of Plattsmouth and East Rock Bluffs precincts under the corn-hog program.

The payments were made by John B. Kaffenberger, treasurer of the county association and who distributed some $20,000 in checks to the farmers of this community who had signed the agreements for the past year.

There has been some $120,000 received in the past week for the corn-hog signers in various parts of the county, which has been distributed to add to the farm income.

There were a large number on hand to participate in the distribution and the court house filled with the farmers who felt well pleased that they had this sum to help them through the spring season until the crop for this year may be under way.

HAVE FAMILY SETTLED

The county commissioners and relief department have had considerable difficulty in the last three days over the plight of an unfortunate family that had been forced to vacate the residence property they had been occupying. The owner of the place desired to move onto the property and accordingly the parties and their household goods were set out. The family were finally secured quarters for the time being in the local hotel while the county officials seek a haven for them to be quartered, all available places being filled by the many that have flocked here in recent months attracted by the hope of work. The household goods of the family were stored and as soon as possible they will be placed where they can carry on as usual.

Musical Treat Promised by the Mynard Club

Postponed Play to be Presented Four Nights Next Week—Honor All Outstanding Tickets.

Holders of tickets to the Mynard musical comedy "Mirage" will be pleased to learn that the tickets now held by them which were to be used on February 13-14 will now be honored on the nights of March 26-27, respectively. The holders of February 13 tickets will be admitted to March 26th performance and those holding February 14th tickets to the March 27th performance.

The postponement of the show was regretfully announced thru the columns of this paper shortly before the opening performance. This postponement was made necessary because of the meningitis situation which occurred at that time. The Mynard club is to be complimented in taking this action as a matter of precaution in protecting the public at that date.

The club is now pleased to announce, that because of public demand, two additional performances of this unique musical comedy will be given on March 28-29. The Mynard club which has a justly merited reputation for producing fine entertainment thru the years, makes the promise that this is the finest show ever given by them. The cast and the director have labored under the most trying difficulties to present this comedy to the public. It is urged that anyone wishing to see the Mynard players at their best will take advantage of this opportunity. Reserved seats may be had by calling 270W or 4903.

A Most Beautiful Setting
It would be difficult to find a more beautiful setting for western music and songs of the range than a camp fire at night in the desert with a range of mountains in the distance flooded by the light of a desert moon, cow hands and rangers singing to the accompaniment of the banjo. This is the setting provided for some of the most beautiful and effective music of this pleasing musical comedy, "Mirage," which everyone will want to see on one of the four nights it is offered to the amusement loving public.

The versatile Ray Bourne rises to his greatest comedy heights as "Cookie," the bunk house chef of cartoon fame. He is touchy about his cooking, but you will never forget his singing of "If You Knew Susie."

Homer Spangler will roll them in the aisles as "Big Ike," the much abused and kidded dusky ranch hand.

The roll of a Mexican girl is admirably suited to Peg Hirz, who will captivate her audience when she sings "So, American Joe."

Mary Beverage, who has so often delighted local audiences, will be seen in a new and novel roll, a young and frivolous college girl from the east. No audience can forget her after she sings "Do Something."

Jean Spangler is superb as the Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde of the production.

Lucille Wiles and Lawrence Leonard will charm the audiences with their fine young voices and pleasing rendition of difficult roles.

Eddie Wehrbein, Towner Livingston and Chet Wiles are as tough, rough and cussed as Dick Livingston and Art Hild are pleasant and peppy.

You will never fully appreciate your home until you hear Richard Spangler sing "Good Green Acres" and see how well Katherine Wiles, as the ranch wife and mother, presides over her home and family.

Lovers of music and laughter are assured of an evening of enjoyment long to be remembered.

Plattsmouth Precinct Plans Public Works

Largely Attended Meeting Last Evening at Taylor Schoolhouse, Suggests Road Surfacing.

Thursday evening at the Taylor schoolhouse west of this city, a very large group of the representatives of Plattsmouth precinct gathered to discuss various work projects that might be put in operation under the appropriations for the work relief program of the federal government.

The meeting was presided over by Henry F. Nolting, precinct chairman, and Arthur Wetenkamp served as the secretary of the meeting.

The representation was very pleasing and all sections of the precinct had members present to take part in the discussions and to offer suggestions as to the kind of work that would be adapted to the best needs of the precinct, furnish much employment and be a lasting benefit instead of merely a temporary relief measure.

The meeting voted by a large majority to choose the hard surfacing of some nine miles of the roads in the precinct as the first choice of the body as being best suited to the needs of the precinct. The meeting also voted that the crushed rock would be the first choice in surfacing with gravel second, this being one that would employ more men in carrying out the program.

The roads suggested for the surfacing was three miles south from Plattsmouth to the Rock Bluffs precinct line, three miles west from the end of the gravel west of Mynard to the precinct line and three miles north from the Louisville road to the north part of the precinct. This would give each part of the precinct a part in the improvement program.

The second choice of the meeting for the public works program was that of the eradication of the bindweed through the precinct.

The meeting did not consider that the soil erosion plan that had been
