

Alvo News

R. M. Coatman and John B. Skinner were at University Place on last Wednesday, where they were unloading a car of coal at the orphanage.

Al Leaver, who resides some six miles north of Alvo, was delivering corn to the Rehmeier elevator, the grain being hauled by Ray Gamlin, of Murdock, in his two trucks.

C. W. Jewell and family were guests at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ralph Creamer and family one day last week, enjoying a fine visit and a splendid dinner as well.

Mrs. Mabel Winn and mother, Mrs. Thomas Stout, were in Lincoln last Monday, where they were visiting with friends as well as doing some shopping and looking after other business matters for a time. They made the trip in their car.

Attorney C. D. Ganz and wife and Mrs. E. L. Nelson were in Fairbury Friday of last week, where they were looking after some business matters for Mrs. Nelson, who formerly made her home in Fairbury and has some interests there that demanded her attention.

Sterling Coatman and wife are residing in Wayne at present, where Mr. Coatman has been working in a garage the past two weeks. They spent last Sunday in Alvo, but returned to the northern Nebraska college town in time for Sterling to resume his work Monday morning.

Lee Coatman, who has been engaged in repairing and overhauling cars and trucks at Elmwood, has accepted a position with John Elliott and will work on the re-conditioning of a number of tractors owned by the Alvo Hardware and Implement company, of which Mr. Elliott is owner. Mr. and Mrs. George Braun, of South Bend, where Mr. Braun is operator for the Rock Island, were in Alvo at the home of Mr. Braun's mother, Mrs. William Yeager. They formerly resided here and enjoyed meeting many of their old friends during their short stay.

The Team Ran Away

While Charles Jordan was securing a load of seed oats in town one day last week, the team he was driving became frightened at some object and ran away, with the result that considerable of his oats were spilled out along the roadway, before he was able to get them stopped. With oats costing 70 cents per bushel, the loss of even a few bushel is no small item. After getting the horses calmed down, he proceeded on home with the rest of the load. A good deal of excitement was created and some damage done.

Will Make Their Home Here

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Saplin, formerly of Lincoln, have moved to Alvo and are living in a portion of the hotel building which is owned by Mrs. Wm. Yeager. Mr. Saplin is a brother of Mrs. Yeager and the moving of this couple into the same building will make it pleasant for Mrs. Yeager, who has found it not to her liking to reside there alone.

Will Make Home in Country

Uncle Joe Parsell, who recently sold a parcel of ground and then purchased another, has decided to move onto the new piece of land which he bought. This is causing a vacancy in the messenger mail route from the postoffice to the Rock Island station, and we are advised there are several who have signified their willingness to accept the position which Mr. Parsell is expecting to vacate soon.

Will Farm Near Here

M. R. Thomas, who has been farming southwest of Alvo, has rented the farm where Earl Bennett formerly resided, just west of town, which is a portion of the Foreman estate, and will reside there during the coming summer. Mr. Thomas is an experienced farmer and has a good piece of land to farm.

Farmers Make Changes

Ben Plymale, who farmed the Schroder place five miles north of Alvo the past year, and notwithstanding the extremely dry season proved his ability as a good farmer, moved recently to near Ashland, and will farm there this year. The place he vacated has been occupied by a Mr. Abbott, who has already moved thereon and gotten started with his spring work.

Many Enjoy Entertainment

The public spirited merchant, John Elliott, arranged for a moving picture show to be given in the Bennett hall on Wednesday, which was put on by the Goodrich Tire company and was free. The various scenes connected with the growing of rubber and the manufacture of tires proved very interesting and educational to all who

Give Shower to Bride

Recently Miss Bernice Vickers and Everett Ayres were united in marriage and in honor of the occasion, the community turned out one afternoon last week and gave the newlyweds a very pleasant afternoon with a program and music, together with some very good eats. A number of gifts were presented to the bride and her husband in token of the high esteem in which they are held.
