Jobless Census May Aid the Unemployment

Plan to Use 100,000 Unemployed in Checking Up Their Fellow Unemployed.

A plan to set 100,000 jobless to counting their fellow unemployed before June 1 Wednesday was reported at Washington as likely to be one of the first endeavors undertaken by President Roosevelt with the four billion dollar work fund.

The plan, discussed briefly by Mr. Roosevelt in his weekly press conference, would use unemployed "white collar" workers to make the count. Other developments were: Secretary Ickes Wednesday drew up requests for information from localities seeking funds as to how many they could take off relief rolls and when work could start.

Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, set out to boll down relief lists so they would present a record of employables.

Regional Plan. Administration forces began laying out the country in districts so work will be done by regions.

President Roosevelt divided administrative functions into two sections—allocation and engineering. Plans were shaped toward requiring as many of the projects as possible to return money loaned by the government.

These disclosures were made by the president while plans for the unemployment census were being whipped into shape by Hopkins and Secretaries Roper and Perkins.

Questions already decided upon were: Name, age, color, sex and marital status of the unemployed; where they are located; what persons are employable; what they are qualified to do; principal job in the past; why they left; what they have been doing since.

Officials emphasized the count must be made quickly so information gathered may be used in rounding out the works program. The plan contemplated a house-to-house canvass. After the enumeration, 4,000 persons will be needed in Washington to tabulate returns.

Experts said that unless the count was made before June 1 it would have to wait until next fall since vacations start in June.

President Roosevelt said rapid progress had been made toward rounding out machinery for setting the work program in operation but that there was much planning yet to be done.

Two functions to be outlined for the administration set-up would call for heads of government to discuss projects with him and decide what funds should be allocated.

Applications for between 16 and 20 billion dollars already are on hand, the president said.

BOY FACES MURDER TRIAL Woodward, Okl.—Russell Boley, 18 year old college youth, must face trial in district court on two charges of murder in the shooting and burning of his parents, County Judge Foster ruled after a preliminary hearing.

The defense offered no testimony to refute the state's charge the boy confessed killing his parents with a shotgun and then burned their bodies in their farm home after covering them with gasoline, so he could marry a girl to whom they objected.

The girl, Rosalee Bostwick, 18, was subpoenaed by the state but did not testify. She was preparing to take the stand when County Attorney Young dramatically ended the state's case after introducing a confession made by the boy.

LINK UP FERA AND POLITICS Springfield, Ill.—Republican representatives in conference decided to ask President Roosevelt and the FERA to investigate to determine if Governor Horner's administration was using relief funds for political purposes.

The group charged Joe Montgomery, Jackson county democratic chairman and deputy warden at Chester penitentiary, on March 25 sent a letter to all persons on relief rolls asking them to work for the democratic ticket in a township election two weeks ago.

PENSIONS FOR NEEDY Providence, R. I.—Governor Green signed a bill appropriating $200,000 for old age pensions for needy persons 65 years of age and over in this state. He said he hoped the federal government would furnish an equal sum.

SAYS HOOVER MADE START

Chicago.—Walter Lippmann, author and former newspaper editor, told a group at a luncheon in his honor that the foundation for reopening the private capital market was laid by former President Hoover and is just beginning to take effect.

"It is possible to do a great deal at home," he said after asserting that recovery depends upon resumption of private investment and revival of foreign trade, "but not everything by reopening the private capital market. The foundation was laid by Mr. Hoover in his cheap money policy back in 1931-32, and is only beginning to take effect, but it is taking effect in that the rate of interest is falling and therefore the government and private corporations are able to refund outstanding debts at a lower rate of interest. Then comes the investment in new enterprise. That has not begun yet, but normally it takes six months to a year for new investments to come."

Advertising expense yields a far bigger dividend than any form of investment.
