

SALAD DAYS ARE HERE!

By MARYE DAHNKE, Kraft Cheese Institute

Fashion's official opening for salads comes in April! Spring showers may not be the best thing in the world for spring bonnets, but there's no doubt that they bring out the full beauty of those tempting salad beauties, rosy radishes, ruddy baby beets, richly ripe early strawberries. Even white new onions are innocent enough to bring tears of pleasure to the eyes of any salad lover.

Dressed in their very best, salads of vegetables, fruits or chicken or fish all have their distinctive style, and their special goodness. A preview of the salad parade shows that dressings make the salad as surely as clothes make the man.

The newest style trend in salad dressings for spring is the mild-flavored, all-purpose dressing which is a cross between mayonnaise and old-fashioned boiled dressing. Neither too sharp, nor too mild, neither too tart nor too oily, this dressing epitomizes American tastes for a large number of salads. Both fruit and vegetable salads respond de-lightedly to treatment with this type of salad dressing. Advance spring notes in salads indicate that the following will be well in the lead among fashion's favorites.

Hopkins Halts Relief Power of Talmadge

Action Follows Order by Roosevelt to Keep Politics Out of Program—Close Restriction.

Washington.—Fresh instructions from President Roosevelt to keep politics out of relief Friday night presaged new moves by the administration to nail the lid on public works and relief coffers in several states. Although he declined to comment on various federal-state tangles over relief and work funds, the president reiterated his stand against mixing relief and politics.

Removes Connection.

Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator, removed the last connection Governor Talmadge of Georgia had in the handling of relief money. Coincidentally, Secretary Ickes was considering cancelling public works projects in Louisiana.

The Georgia development climaxed a series of hot encounters between the governor and both Hopkins and Ickes. Ickes' action hinged upon a measure enacted by the Louisiana legislature, called into session by Senator Long, with whom he has been engaged in an exchange of disputatious words for over a week. Hopkins already had taken over the handling of relief in Louisiana.

His action in Georgia amounted principally to cutting Talmadge off from all matters pertaining to relief.

Hopkins sent Georgia $1,500,000 through Miss Gay Shepperson, state relief administrator, for its April needs and arranged to supply money to Pennsylvania and Missouri.

Close Restriction.

The PWA administrator also has laid down a close restriction upon the amount Georgia may get for public works because that state failed to enact legislation which would improve the type of securities given for public works loans.

Hopkins is negotiating with the governors of six other states to secure from them the contributions for relief which he argues they should make. These states are Tennessee, Florida, North and South Carolina, Virginia and New Jersey.

Annual Allowances.

Annual allowances of $2,234,822 for state departments and $3,770,777 for board of control institutions won the approval of the state senate at the completion of its first day of work on the 1936-37 Biennial appropriations bill.

There remained for disposal the appropriation for institutions under the state board of education, for which the senate appropriations committee recommended $6,631,226.

An amendment to reduce the appropriation for the state university of Iowa from $2,350,000 a year as recommended by the committee to the $1,960,000 proposed by the governor and state comptroller was under consideration.

Total appropriations approved for state departments as the bill was taken up section by section represented an increase of about $5,500 over the amount proposed by the senate appropriations committee. The recommendations for board of control institutions were approved without change.

$7,758 Decrease.

The allowances for state departments, as they stand, also represented a decrease of about $7,758 from the total recommended by the governor and comptroller in submitting the Biennial askings to the assembly.

Reductions from committee recommendations effected through senate actions constituted the paring of $6,285 from the department of agriculture total, $6,200 from the animal health allowance, and $2,500 from the county achievement shows appropriation.

Boosts in the salaries of several state officials were included among the increases agreed upon over the figures recommended by the committee. Advances also included $1,500 additional for mine inspectors, $10,000 for handicapped children, $5,750 to cover items omitted from the appropriation for adjutant general's department, and $2,500 for educational aid for World War orphans.

TRUCK IN DITCH, TWO HURT

Fairbury, Neb.—Bernard Minton, 30, and Manzell Rice, 23, suffered injuries the extent of which were not determined immediately when the Junker brothers old truck in which they were riding plunged into a 14-foot ditch near Chester. The men were brought to a Fairbury hospital in an ambulance, and it was believed they were not injured seriously. Apparently defective mechanism caused the truck to hurtle into the ditch and turn over. The truck was wrecked.

Change in State Relief Head Due Soon is Report

Nebraska Congressmen Seek to Have Nebraska Appointed to Place; Banning Is Suggested.

A report was current at Washington Friday that Rowland Haynes, federal relief administrator for Nebraska, is to be transferred and a Nebraskan named to direct the state's joint state and federal relief setup. Haynes has been criticized by democratic leaders in the state, by Nebraska democrats at Washington, and much pressure is known to have been placed on Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins to make a change. The criticism has been chiefly that Haynes had too many republicans in administrative position and that a Nebraskan, more familiar with the state's people and background, should be in charge.

Arrival in Washington of L. E. Williamson, former NRA director for Nebraska, who was replaced this week by John Rine of Omaha, added fuel to the reports current in Nebraska democratic circles that a change was imminent. His position was viewed in some quarters as having been somewhat similar to that of Haynes. Senator Burke, one of those who in the past has directed criticism at Haynes, said he did not know of anything in the making which would lead to a change.

"If there should be a vacancy in that office," Burke said, however, "I would think that a man of the type of George Prouditt of Lincoln, W. B. Banning of Union or A. C. Shallenberger of Alma might be named, or if a woman was to be given the place that someone like Mrs. Howard Saxton of Omaha would be suitable."

Prouditt is treasurer of the democratic state central committee in Nebraska. Banning, a former state senator and prominent orchardist, was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in the 1934 democratic primary but has been mentioned frequently as a possible appointee by Governor Cochran to a major state government post. Shallenberger is a former congressman and governor. Mrs. Saxton was one of the leaders in the Burke campaign in Omaha last year.

Frank D. Throop of Lincoln, chairman of the state relief committee, has an appointment with Hopkins in Washington April 26 on his return from newspaper meetings in New York. Whether this would affect Haynes' situation was not known.

WANT MARTIN INSULL BACK

Washington.—Reversing an earlier statement at a press conference, Attorney General Cummings announced the federal government will attempt to return Martin Insull, for a second trial at Chicago on federal charges resulting from collapse of the Insull utilities.

A few hours before, the attorney general said Martin Insull's second extradition would not be asked. He was returned from Canada for the first trial at which he, his brother, Samuel, and other Insull associates were acquitted on mail fraud charges.

HIGHER FREIGHT IN EFFECT

Washington.—The nation will begin paying an added bill of around $5 millions a year Thursday in increased railroad freight rates in an effort to tide the harassed carriers over the next fourteen months.

Temporary increases in the form of surcharges will go into effect on almost all commodities. The only exceptions are major farm crops including wheat, corn, barley, rice and livestock and building materials.

The lowest additional charges are ten cents a ton on iron ore and 3 to 15 cents a ton on coal. The highest is four cents per 100 pounds—eighty cents a short ton—on binder twine and rosin sizing.

The freight boosts were granted three weeks ago by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The railroads had asked a permanent increase of close to 10 percent but the commission allowed raises of about 7 percent, effective only until June 30, 1936.

Richmond, Va.—A three judge federal district court denied a temporary injunction sought by 180 coal companies who asked railroads in their territory to be restrained from putting into effect freight rate increases authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

NOT TO PRESS ONE CHARGE

Washington.—Attorneys for former Representative Dennis Chavez, democrat of New Mexico, notified the senate elections committee they would not press charges of unlawful expenditure of money made against Senator Cutting (r., N. M.), in the elections contest brought by Chavez. The elections committee, after voting to overrule Cutting's motion to dismiss the contest, ordered all allegations regarding unlawful expenditures stricken from the Chavez petition.

Cutting has been allowed thirty days from April 10 in which to file an answer to Chavez charges that he was elected by illegal votes.

Will Have Position of Telegraph Supervisor of Lines in This Section of the State.

Announcement is made today by H. P. McCulla, general commercial superintendent of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, of the appointment of William S. Heckart to the position of telegraph supervisor, effective April 16. Mr. Heckart will have supervision of the telegraph business secured and handled at the 132 or more telephone exchanges of the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company, all of which render 24-hour service, and among which points are included the larger cities of Lincoln, Beatrice, Hastings, York, Nebraska City, Superior and Fairbury.

Coming to Lincoln from Salina, Kansas, where he has been Postal Telegraph manager since 1932, Mr. Heckart's transfer to the Lincoln company comes as a promotion for the splendid service he rendered the Postal Company in Kansas, according to Mr. McCulla.

Mr. Heckart began his career in the telegraph field as a messenger for Postal Telegraph in Lincoln, Nebraska, in 1918, at the age of 15 years. He learned to telegraph and served as night operator for Postal in Lincoln for two years while attending school in the daytime. He then worked for a time in the Postal relay office at Omaha where he worked the Chicago bonus wire. He later spent several years in the service of the Associated Press and the Harris Upham company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, returning to the service of Postal in 1931.

In Salina he was active in civic work. Mr. Heckart arrived in Lincoln today to assume his new duties with the Lincoln company, and he will be joined in June, at the close of the school year, by his wife and daughter.

R. L. Adams, who is succeeded by Mr. Heckart, has been transferred to Kansas City, Missouri, as a member of the staff of the division superintendent of the Postal Telegraph-Cable company.

In two of the accidents, vehicles struck trains which were standing, while in another, a team of mules ran away and collided with the side of a train.

"Amateur Night" Has Revival

Helen Gleason

George White

Major Bowes

Kate Smith

Eddie Cantor

"Amateur night," one of the institutions typical of the Gay Nineties, has been recently revived in the theater and radio world. Once again the stage-struck person hopeful of seeing his or her name in "lights" risks the jeers of an audience in hopes of winning fame. The public's demand for new talent has spurred producers and booking agents to present "amateur programs" both on the stage and in radio. Helen Gleason, Metropolitan opera star; Eddie Cantor, radio and stage headliner, and George White, impresario, all made their debut on an "amateur night" program. Major Bowes and Kate Smith have recently sponsored "amateur night" programs over the air.
