The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Vinson was made happy last Monday when a fine son and heir was born to them at the Bryan Memorial hospital in Lincoln. Both the young man and his mother are getting along nicely, and the father is wearing a smile.

Miss Freda Woltzel, teacher of the Musical class of the Greenwood high school, gave a very worthwhile recital at the Christian church last Sunday evening. A large crowd was present and all enjoyed the concert very much. Miss Woltzel is rated as one of the very best of music teachers.

Mrs. Austin Finlay and son, Howard, of near Emerald, visited her mother, Mrs. Myra Howard on Sunday. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Rosetta Axmaker returned home with her that evening. Mrs. Howard will remain for an indefinite stay while Mrs. Axmaker will visit for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Peters, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Peters and Grant Peters went to Murdock Saturday night, where they attended a party in honor of Mr. Gakemeler's birthday. A most pleasant time was spent playing different games, after which a most delicious lunch was served. All departed at a late hour wishing Mr. Gakemeler many more happy returns of the day.

DeMolay Band Gives Concert
Saturday morning the Patrol of the Order of DeMolay of Lincoln stopped in Greenwood to serenade the town with its 21-piece uniformed band, giving a concert which was much enjoyed by those who heard it. Mr. Brenton of Lincoln has charge of the band and they were on their way to Omaha to attend a district convocation of DeMolays. After the concert, the boys were treated to ice cream at the Smith Drug store.

Gave School Days Program
The Dorcas society met at the Christian church Friday afternoon, April 26, for their School Days meeting. A large number of the members were present. The regular business meeting was conducted by the president and preliminary plans made for the Alumni banquet, which is to be held Saturday evening, May 18, at the church.

It was also decided to have a covered dish luncheon at 3 o'clock the afternoon of their next meeting, followed by a program in honor of Mothers' day.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in relating tales and experiences of school days by the different members present. After this the members enjoyed their "school lunches."

"Forgot Something," was Reply
The celebrated Zephyr, fast Burlington train which makes a round trip each day between Lincoln and Kansas City on fast schedule, broke a part of its machinery one day last week and was hauled in by a steam engine. When Lincoln was asked about it they said the Zephyr had gone off and forgotten something and had to go back after it. This is the second time a steam engine has had to come to the rescue, as a similar break-down at Hamburg, Iowa, some weeks ago, caused it to be pulled into the car shops for some overhauling.

It is a rigid schedule to maintain, especially with no change-off unit available and the necessity of making the long run each day.

Many Working on O Street
A large number of men are now at work on the O street road paving project, which comprises some four and a half miles, extending eastward from the Elmwood corner. Already a mile of the concrete ribbon has been laid, and with good weather the work will go forward rapidly. It is rumored that an additional four or five miles will be put in, as well as an overhead grade crossing, which will continue the work for a good portion of the summer.

Among those from Greenwood who are working on the present project are Arlo Goings, Rainer Lloyd Mick, Goodhart Vant, G. Stewart and Arthur Weideman.

Many Fear Small Pox
On account of the prevalence of a large number of cases of small pox in the neighborhood of Waverly, there have been a number of people there, and also in this vicinity, who have come to the office of N. D. Talcott to be vaccinated against the dread disease.

Greenwood Woman's Club
The Greenwood Woman's club met last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. N. O. Coleman, where they were entertained by the genial hostess and where they enjoyed a very fine program and as well some excellent eats. Mrs. W. A. Armstrong is president of the club and with all the members working the gatherings are very worth while.

Senior Sneak Day
The Senior class of the Greenwood high school headed for Omaha one day last week, visiting some of the large institutions of that city. Among the many places of interest was the Joslyn Memorial. They were sponsored by Lee Knolle who was able to show them the interesting and worth-while places in the big city. The members of the class who enjoyed the trip and a fine day of sight-seeing were James Armstrong, Beulah and Beuna Leesley, Lucile Natin, Marjorie Newkirk, Irene Martin and Arden Wendt.

New Town Board
The town board which was recently elected, met on last Tuesday evening and organized for the coming year with the election of Henry Wilkins as chairman, thus making him the mayor of the village. Norman Peters was selected as the clerk of the village board. The other members of the board are J. S. Gribble, N. O. Coleman, E. L. McDonald and W. L. Hillis. They concluded to retravel the entire town as to the streets and as well ordered the graveling of the street running from the Sears garage on the pavement to the intersection with Main street at the store house of P. A. Sanborn.

"The Lost Church"
The young people of the Methodist church have presented at the church here their play of the above title, written by Dorothy Clarke, and on which they have been practicing for some time. Their first appearance in the home church was received with much appreciation by the large audience that turned out for the entertainment. They later presented the play at Ashland and after that at Cedar Hill and plan on giving it at a number of other places.

The Baccalaureate Sermon
The place for the holding of the Baccalaureate sermon has been selected by the faculty of the school and the members of the graduating class. It will be given at the Methodist church, with Rev. W. E. Goings of the First Christian church delivering the sermon to the graduates. The date will be Sunday evening, May 12th.

Boy Scouts on a Hike
The members of the Greenwood Boy Scout troop, accompanied by their Scoutmaster, Prof. H. E. Warren and assistant Scoutmaster, Lee Knolle, went on a hike Monday evening, going to the Leo Peters farm. They enjoyed a picnic supper around the huge campfire. Several of the boys passed some of their tests for advancement or merit badge awards, while others spent their time fishing. Members of the troop who attended were Floyd Peters, Raymond Howard, Warren Bucknell, Leo Hillis, Elain Fulmer, Tilford Stradley, Billy Kelly, Robert Stern, Harley and Eddie Kirk. They returned home after a most pleasant evening.

Auxiliary Unit One Year Old
The Greenwood American Legion Auxiliary unit celebrated their first anniversary on Thursday evening, April 25, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Comstock. The husbands of the members were guests. A delicious covered dish luncheon, served cafeteria style, was enjoyed at 7 o'clock, being followed by card playing. There were five tables of pinocle players present. Mrs. Henry Wilkins won the royal prize for the ladies and Earl Stradley the royal prize for the men. All departed at a late hour after having spent a most pleasant evening together.

Entertained the Tiny Stitches
The Misses Vedah and Dorothy Leesley entertained their Tiny Stitches club at their home last Saturday afternoon, April 27. There were thirteen members present, together with their project leader, Miss Elizabeth Laune, who presented the new lesson for their consideration, after which they held the judging of some of the work which they have recently completed. Mrs. Elmer Mathis and Mrs. Gitto Erickson were guests. Delicious refreshments were served late in the afternoon by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. A. E. Leesley.

Every penny spent for advertising will yield a big return.

The Sweetest
Peas are Those Grown at Home

Sow at Ten Day Intervals for Succession Crop—Smooth Type is Good First Crop.

The sweetest peas are those grown in the home garden. Like many another vegetable, peas lose much of their flavor and goodness when left too long out of ground, and are best pickled just before dinner-time.

There are two types of pea—the smooth and the wrinkled. Gardeners might well grow both of them, because the first is the hardiest and may be sown early, while the wrinkled is the sweetest. It should be sown when the ground is warm, and all danger of cold is past. One crop of smooth peas for early use is enough.

The wrinkled pea has been remarkably developed by skilled plant breeders, and there are now three types, all of the giant podded kind and of first quality. Dwarf, medium and tall wrinkled peas may be had, according to your needs and likes, and each year sees some new variety better than before. The severe tests given peas of late has made them sure growers for the home garden.

Quality seeds will not always assure quality crops, however, unless they are planted under proper conditions for growing. A dense planting is too often the cause of failure, and the old-time notion that the thicker the plants the larger the crop is far from correct. You can prove the truth of this very easily by thinning out to give each vine a chance to grow.

A single row with the peas 2 inches apart is an efficient way to grow them, or double rows 6 inches apart with the peas 2 inches apart in the rows. Always avoid crowding the plants.

Peas need a rich soil, and a generous application of complete plant food will pay for its cost many times. Cultivate them well and often during their growing period. They are a one-crop plant and will not cause you undue work if you take care of them only when a harvest is in the offing. After they bear, pull them up, and plant something else in their stead. Plant peas at two-week intervals to provide a continuous crop.

If space is a problem, plant the vine types and train them to a wire fence. Another good way is to plant rows 2 feet apart, and train the vines to grow on strings slanting down from a rail set in between the rows. This rail should be set up on 6-foot poles, and may be easily constructed out of 1-inch by 2-inch lumber, driving the poles into the ground to keep them rigid. The strings coming down to the rows on either side will make the structure wind proof.

FIVE ARE DEAD IN A FIRE

Poughkeepsie, N. Y.—Five persons were burned to death and seven injured or overcome when a sudden fire destroyed three buildings in the main street of Poughkeepsie. Rosemary Seifts, a 3 year old girl, whose mother, father, sister and brother perished, is missing. All of the victims died in a three story combination business and apartment building in which the fire apparently started. The dead:

- G. Edward Seifts, 34.
- Mrs. Mary Seifts, 36.
- Joan Seifts, 1.
- Edward Seifts, Jr., 5.
- Shirley Elmore, 7.

Firemen said they found no trace of Rosemary Seifts. They combed the smoldering ruins and said apparently the five known dead were the only victims. They said the little girl probably had been taken in by neighbors during the fire. A physical culture teacher, Emil Heller, who discovered the fire and who dashed into the building, said he heard their screams, but was driven back by flame and smoke.

Altho a fire station was directly around the corner, the fire burned so furiously other members of the fire families living in the three buildings barely escaped with their lives. Two firemen were overcome.

MISSOURI RESTORES RELIEF

Jefferson City, Mo.—Quick legislative action restored Missouri to the federal relief rolls within 12 hours after being cut off for delay in complying with the federal emergency relief administration's demands that the state carry a "fair share" of the load. Immediately after the general assembly had adopted a resolution appropriating $500,000 for May relief, Wallace Crossley, state relief director, wired all county relief administration to "resume entire relief program on former basis."

MISSING BANKER TRACED

Seattle.—Tracing of Allan P. Hull, missing banker charged with an $8,500 embezzlement, to Pittsburgh, Erie, Pa., and Cleveland, was disclosed here by Prosecutor Magnuson.

The announcement came as Miss Antonette Celi, friend of Hull's, who broadcast an appeal to him to return and "face the music," advised Magnuson she was preparing to go east to find Hull and appeal to him in person to return.

Chief Criminal Deputy Sheriff Bodia said Hull had answered the girl's appeal, sending her two telegrams and a letter, which were intercepted by deputy sheriffs.

Grain Stocks are Low in Western States

Last Summer's Drouth and Crop Reduction Program Combine to Empty Farm Bins.

Kansas City.—Grain stocks held on farms of the agricultural states west of the Mississippi river are alarmingly low, with bumper crops in wheat, corn and oats needed this year to supply national demands and replenish the farm bins, a survey by the United Press reveals.

Last summer's drouth and the crop reduction program of the AAA are held responsible for the low stores, but not of the blame goes to the drouth, for, as A. E. Anderson, state and federal crops statistician of Nebraska, pointed out, crops probably would have been lost year because of the drouth, even if full acreage had been planted.

Figures for Kansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas show the following stock on farms as of April 1:

- Wheat, 30,691,000 bushels.
- Corn, 189,561,000 bushels.
- Oats, 75,012,000 bushels.

In Kansas, greatest winter wheat state in the nation, wheat stock on farms totals 14,346,000 bushels. This is approximately 500,000 bushels more than a year ago, but far below the normal amount on farms at this time of the year. The exceptionally short crop in 1933 caused the shortage a year ago.

Of the six other states canvassed, only Nebraska and Oklahoma have more than five million bushels of wheat.

Of the total bushels of corn still held the great majority—143,613,000 bushels—is on Iowa farms. Nebraska reported 20,028,000 bushels, which leaves but 25,830,000 bushels among the other five states.

Kansas, which almost had a total corn crop failure in 1934, has but 1,625,000 bushels on hand, and about half this is needed for seed. Iowa farmers, according to Leslie M. Carl, federal statistician at Des Moines, held approximately 90 percent of their crop, compared with 71 percent the previous year. Even so, the total held was less by 147,799,000 bushels than the previous year, due to the short 1934 harvest. Some Iowa corn has been moving into Missouri this spring at a dollar a bushel.

The acuteness of the corn shortage is shown clearly by comparing this year's stocks with those of 1934. Kansas has 1,625,000 bushels where it had 23,967,000 in 1934; Missouri, 8,000,000 compared with 48,103,000; 12,952,000 and Arkansas 4,879,000 Nebraska 20,028,000 compared with 9,115,000.

JUDGE DEFERS A SENTENCE

Omaha.—A young wife's tearful pleading for a parole for her husband prompted District Yeager to defer passing sentence on George Bivens, 26, who pleaded guilty to robbing nine filling stations early Friday in which he said he obtained $1.18.

Bivens said he turned to robbery to carry out a deception that he was working. "The horse races took our savings," Mrs. Bivens told the judge. "Then the races got his job. He didn't want me to know he was not working so he hid this."

John E. Chew, attorney, who listened to the young wife's plea, asked to help her. "I know you have no money to employ a lawyer but I want to help you anyway," he said.

WOULDN'T SUPPORT FAMILY

Seward.—Mike Kozidek of Tamora was sentenced by Acting County Judge Charles Barth to serve thirty days in jail, with a bread and water diet each week end, for refusal to support his wife and five minor children. Testimony at the hearing was to the effect that Kozidek had done practically no work for eight months, had refused to cultivate his garden, and had spent but 50 cents for food for his family in that time. Entertaining for the Spring Bride

By JOSEPHINE GIBSON
Director, Home Food Institute

ENGAGEMENTS are rife in the springtime when the world is mellow with sunshine and sentiment. Perhaps it's the soft lush days, or the still moonlit evenings, but whatever the elixir, its effects are usually the same. Almost everyone has some soon-to-be married friend. And what more delightful way to fete the bride than a rose shower in her honor some warm spring afternoon! It would offer a grand opportunity to set this pretty table and entertain with distinction: On a white linen or lace covered table, place a centerpiece of rose blossoms floating in a low silver tray or glass dinner plate filled with water. Around this center dish wrap a fluffy wreath of asparagus fern and place pale pink tapers in low glass or silver candleholders on either side. A quaint little nosegay of old-fashioned flowers before each guest's plate will add another gracious touch. Then serve this decorative menu as a gay finish, and the occasion will be memorable:

- Tomato Juice Cocktail*
- Assorted Canapés
- Shrimp with Mushroom Sauce*
- Lettuce Hearts with Special Salad Dressing*
- Small Buttered Rolls or Biscuits
- Frozen Strawberry Dessert*
- Fruit and Nut Vanilla Wafers*

(* Indicates recipes given below)

Tomato Juice Cocktail—Mix 2 cups Tomato Juice, 2 tablespoons chopped onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1/2 teaspoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon Pepper Sauce and 1/4 teaspoon Worcestershire Sauce. Chill, strain and serve accompanied by canapés.

Shrimp with Mushroom Sauce—Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a saucepan, add 3 tablespoons flour and blend well. Add 1-1 1/2 oz. can Cream of Mushroom Soup and cook, stirring constantly, until the consistency of thick white sauce. Stir in 1 1/2 cups shredded shrimp and continue cooking just until it is heated through. Add salt and pepper to taste. Serve on finger lengths of toast or in patty shells.

Special Salad Dressing—Cook 1 cup sugar, 1 cup water and the juice of 2 lemons or 7 tablespoons Malt Vinegar until it forms a medium thick syrup. Remove from fire, cool slightly, then beat in 1 cup Tomato Ketchup, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire Sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, 1 teaspoon celery salt and 2 tablespoons minced onion. When cool, add 1 1/2 cups Pure Olive Oil slowly, beating vigorously all the time.

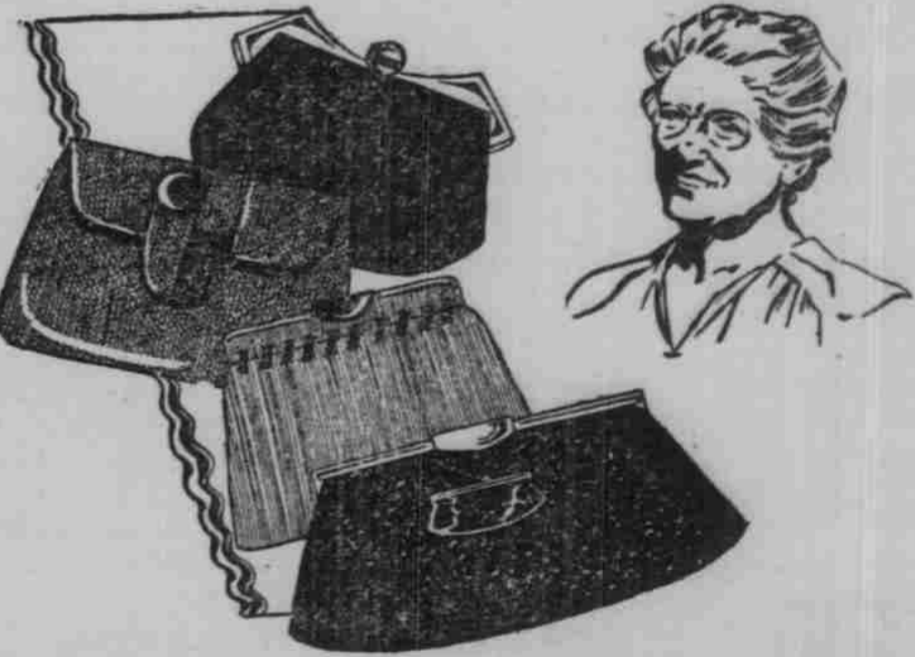

Frozen Strawberry Dessert—Hull and wash 1 qt. strawberries, then rub through fine sieve. Beat 2 egg yolks slightly, add 1 cup milk and cook over slow heat until custard coats a silver spoon. Cool. Mix 1 1/2 cups sugar, 2 teaspoons Pure Cider Vinegar and 1/2 cup water, cover and cook until syrup forms long threads. Pour this syrup over 2 stiffly beaten egg whites and beat until stiff and lukewarm. Combine all ingredients and stir until thoroughly blended. Pour into freezing tray and freeze for 5 to 6 hours. (An inexpensive frozen dessert.)

Fruit and Nut Vanilla Wafers (makes 9 doz. cookies)—Cream 1 cup butter, add 1 1/2 cups sugar gradually and cream together well. Break up Currant or Quince Jelly with a fork, then measure 1/2 cup and beat with fork or egg beater until smooth. Add Jelly and 1 teaspoon vanilla to sugar mixture. Add 3 eggs, one at a time, beating until fluffy after addition of each. Sift 3 cups sifted pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 1/2 teaspoon salt together twice, then add alternately with 1/2 cup milk or water. Add 1 cup chopped nut meats. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a lightly greased cookie sheet about 2 inches apart as dough spreads to form a thin wafer. Bake nearer top of hot oven (450° F.) for 10 to 15 minutes. Remove at once from sheet to cool.

to work for the scrip paid on county relief jobs, he would do odd chores once in a while, his wife said, then buy himself a beefsteak, cook and eat it at his home while the hungry family looked on.
