Mr. McDonald has driven a number of these popular make cars as well as other makes and thinks the present one the best he has ever owned.

Miss Viola Everett, who has been making her home for some time past at North Loup, where she has been assisting with the housework at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gillespie, as well as working at the switchboard of the telephone exchange a portion of the time, returned to Murdock last week and is staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. The new car was purchased through the Lawrence Race agency here.

Visited Old Time Friends

Some fifty years ago, A. J. Tool resided in Ackley, Iowa, coming to Murdock shortly thereafter and has continued to reside here ever since, going back but once in all that time. Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Tool and their son, Douglas, went to Omaha for a visit at the Yates home and to renew acquaintances of nearly a half century ago. Mrs. Fred H. ### "Cyclone Sally" Last Week

Some of you, we know, remember when the rainmakers attempted to make it rain and caused a cyclone in northwestern Kansas and the people ran then out of the country. But this is not that kind of a cyclone, but a real whirlwind of fun, with a good moral lesson to it, and it took like wildfire at the Murdock school both Thursday and Friday nights of last week, when the young thespians were greeted with well filled houses each night.

The play was a good one and the members of the cast, all of whom are to graduate this year, proved themselves very good actors.

Those taking part in the play were Vernon Rikill, as Jack Webster, owner of the Webster estate; Daniel Ruge, as Reggie Manners, a young Englishman; Wayne Bornemeier, as Jim Jerkins, with a long record of courtship and not yet discouraged; Harold Tool, Jr., as Willie Clump, Sue Bascom's beau; Lucille Backemeyer in the title role of "Cyclone Sally"; Ruth Bornemeier as Jenny Thatcher, forty and the object of Jim's persistence; Ruth Neitzel as Ruth Thatcher, a peach Reggie would like to pick; Ruth Schlaphof as Effie Varden, a cute little neighbor, and Martha Schweppe as Vivian Vernon, the belle of Cedar Point.

It has been a long time since a more pleasing play has been presented in Murdock than this one.

ROBBERS POSE AS POLICE

Chicago.—Bonafide detectives took the trail of a pseudo police squad and the $3,800 they carried away in a bogus police squad car after a robbery unsurpassed in recent Chicago annals for guile. The five bandits—three of them clad in police uniforms—drove up to an appliance manufacturing plant in an automobile similar to the department machines. Painted on the sides was this insignia: "Police No. 14."

They ran into the building. The bandit leader asked two company guards: "Where's the holdup?" "Why," one of the guards stammered, "it must be upstairs."

Outlaws and guards raced to the office. Two more guards joined the strange company. They found Mary Monahan, a clerk, with the payroll in her hands. The gang chief inquired: "What have you there?" "The cash box," the girl replied. "I'll take it," the gunman said. He did. His henchmen disarmed the guards. The "police squad" sped away.

Police recalled another case—the St. Valentine's day massacre of 1929, when several men in police attire slaw seven men.

BALKAN STATES ALLIANCES

Among the day's arrivals was Turkish Foreign Minister Tewfik Aras. Premier Bogoljub Yevitch of Yugoslavia, who is his own foreign minister, and Foreign Minister Demetrios Maximos of Greece will wait completion of preliminary conversations before coming to Bucharest.

Here is to you, "boys," may you both live to enjoy many more such happy occasions.

F. D. R. Urges Extend NRA for 2 More Years

Reiterates Stand as Senate Democrats Talk 10 Months—Reserves Comment.

Speaking almost directly into the face of a decision by senate democrats to lengthen the blue eagle's lease of life by 10 months, President Roosevelt at Washington Friday reiterated his preference for a two-year extension of NRA.

Reserving full comment until the senate has acted, the chief executive nevertheless let it be known at his press conference that in his opinion the shorter extension would not permit a revision of NRA needed to clarify several uncertain points.

The decision of the senate democrats was reached at a party conference. Leaders of the meeting said this course was intended to avoid the possibility of an extended fight that might prevent legislation being enacted before June 16, when the present law expires. They contended, too, that the move would hasten adjournment.

Thinks Counts on House.
The net result of the president's remarks was an impression that he was counting on the house to approve and insist upon a two-year extension. Senators who took the same view, however, were quickly warned that such a plan would arouse opposition and possibly extensive delay.

House democrats have already decided to seek a two-year extension of the recovery law, but Chairman Harrison of the senate finance committee expressed the hope the senate proposal would go through without change. He was fearful of the delay in the senate if the house attempted to liberalize the plan approved by his committee.

Limits Price-Fixing.
The resolution extending NRA, which the democrats agreed to support, would eliminate all price fixing except in mineral resource natural industries which have codes now permitting it, and would place intrastate business outside the code structure.

Robinson said several proposals for liberalizing the resolution were presented to the conference, but turned down because of their necessity for speedy action.

MAY RESTORE USE OF HAND
Falls City, Neb.—Barbara Dee Brannin, 18-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Brannin, may soon have full use of her crippled hand again, after delicate plastic operation at the Falls City hospital.

The child suffered three degree burns on the palm in falling against the hot exhaust pipe of a gas-driven washing machine Nov. 5. She lost all use of the member as the tendons shrank. Two hours were required by Dr. C. L. Husted to cut and stitch the tendons. A skin flap taken from Barbara Dee's right chest and upper abdomen was grafted to the hand.

The physician said it will be known definitely in a week or ten days whether the operation is a success.
